MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
SACRAMENTO, January 3, 1905.

To the Assembly of the State of California:

I have the honor to submit herewith my biennial message for the years 1903 and 1904
Respectfully,

GEO. C. PARDEE,
Governor of the State of California.

FIRST BIENNIAL MESSAGE OF GOVERNOR GEORGE C. PARDEE.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, STATE OF CALIFORNIA,
SACRAMENTO, January 2, 1905.

To the Senate and Assembly:

GENTLEMEN: The Constitution of California commands that the Governor shall communicate by message to the Legislature at every session the condition of the State, and shall recommend the enactment of such legislation as he may deem expedient. Accordingly, I have the honor respectfully to transmit to and to lay before your honorable bodies my Biennial Message for the years 1903 and 1904.

In common with other States of our Union, California has, during the last two years, enjoyed great material prosperity. Our many industries and interests have prospered. Employment has been steady and, in most localities, abundant. Wages have averaged as good as ever before, crop returns have been at least normal, and prices of products have, on the whole, been remunerative.

With especial respect to California, not only has our State been a liberal sharer in the prosperity of the Nation, but it has enjoyed an abundant and independent prosperity. Our cities and towns have increased steadily and even rapidly in population and accumulated wealth; our larger areas of farming lands have, in large measure, been subdivided into holdings of moderate size and sold at prices which have been within the reach of men of moderate means. To a greater extent than ever before, at least in the northern and central portions of the State, new farms have been established and green alfalfa meadows and orchards now greet the eye where a few years ago only grain fields filled the landscape.

Separated as California is from the more thickly populated portions of our common country by hundreds of miles of semi-arid mountain and plain, it is marvelous to see how our State has drawn to itself tens of thousands of enthusiastic home-seekers who have come to cast their lots with us. Although the means of travel have proven somewhat expensive and not a little tedious, even in these days of palace cars and swift-rolling trains, the tide of immigration is still setting our way and will continue so to flow so long as we extend an unflinching hospitality toward it. Our snowless winters, our intensified, diversified and yet highly specialized agricultural pursuits are proving irresistible to thousands who find Eastern summers exhausting, winters trying, and the production of a few staple products, year after year, uninviting. Our State is no longer looked upon as a land of unbelievable legends and unrealizable prophecies. The eyes of the world are turned in our direction as never before since the discovery of gold.

The future is big with promise for California. The splendid exhibit of products made at St. Louis has proven conclusive as to the claims our immigration literature has set forth. California has made good for all that has been claimed, and achievement bids fair to rival the dreams of those who, loving California, have prophesied in verse and oratory of her coming greatness. It only remains for Californians to put aside individual and local jealousies and unite in helping forward everything that is likely to prove good for the commonwealth to make us all sharers in a prosperity hitherto unparalleled. God has been good to us; let us be good to each other, whether of the north or the south, city or country, mountain or valley. Let us be all for one and one for all.

WORK OF THE LEGISLATURE.

In meeting the Legislature for a second time I wish to congratulate the members upon the opportunity which they possess to benefit their constituents by a serious devotion to duty during the next two months. They can benefit them by exercising economy in making necessary appropriations and by vigilance in preventing appropriations which are not necessary. They can further serve their constituents by seeing to it that none but useful laws, and those carefully framed, shall be passed. Loose and careless laws fill the courts with litigation and impose a heavy burden upon all classes of citizens.

Yet to guard against the passage of such laws is no easy task, when during a session of sixty days fifteen or eighteen hundred bills are introduced which must be read, printed, examined in committee, reported, and voted on. So many of these bills as are unwise, or are unnecessary, are stumbling-blocks in the way of the passage of measures which are needed. It would be no small legislative reform if some means could be found to impose a check upon the introduction of a multitude of bills which will never accomplish any other purpose than to waste the State's money when they are printed, or to cumber the files when they are reported.

That the work of the Legislature is so well done, when the disadvantages under which it is conducted are considered, is remarkable, and shows how much earnest, intelligent effort is expended at each session. The biennial statute-book, which embodies in four or five hundred pages, the net results of the session, may contain much that is unimportant, and that which is important may be marked by imperfections; but it enables the public business to be carried on, and there is a large balance of good over bad. The numberless interests affected, and the rapid changes in conditions under which business is done, render unavoidable many alterations in the statutes. And yet it is very true that every needless law enacted is a detriment, and the making of many minor changes at frequent intervals is to be deprecated. A more thorough revision at greater intervals would be much better.

Laws of Last Session.—I am happy to state that the legislation of the last session appears to have been, in the main, sound in purpose and reasonably correct. With one or two exceptions, no acts have been declared by the courts to be unconstitutional, and, on the other hand, many acknowledged evils were corrected. This was done, for example, in the amendment of the ballot law, which previously had been so framed that many citizens had, through ignorance or carelessness, lost their votes. Under the Act authorizing the use of ballot machines, several counties introduced the machines, and their operation appears to have been successful.

The law in relation to insanity and the hospitals for the insane, which theretofore had been very defective, was revised, and in its new form has obviated most of the former difficulties. I think I may also enumerate among the clearly beneficial acts of the late session the one altering the law of divorce, requiring the entering of an interlocutory decree and postponing for a year the time when a divorced person may remarry.

At the same session several Acts were passed in the interest of labor, including one which regulated employment agencies. The probation and juvenile court laws enacted were intended to save from the prisons and from lives of crime many young men and boys who, although they have taken first steps in vice, are not irreclaimable. The Act providing a way to improve the common school text-books, by buying the right to use copyrighted texts, promises to be productive of much good.

I especially advise the utmost care in the framing of statutes to avoid technical defects, which will defeat their purpose. Two years ago I felt obliged to refuse to sign a number of bills, otherwise meritorious, which were so faultily framed that it would not have been safe to let them become laws.

The Codes.—A subject closely connected with the above is the California codes, to which at every session of the Legislature many amendments are proposed. It is now more than thirty years since the codes were adopted, the principal object at the time being to rescue the law from the uncertainty of many conflicting statutes and decisions. It was recognized that there were objections to the code system, and in practical operation it does not realize all that was claimed for it by its advocates; but it has been a great improvement upon what existed before, and no one proposes its abandonment.

But it is well known that the codes have not been improved and perfected to the extent they should be, and at each session many general statutes are passed embodying matter which ought to be incorporated in the codes. The integrity of the codes should be respected, and the system kept as symmetrical as possible.

THE STATE FINANCES.

I desire to call the attention of the Legislature to the improved financial condition of the State Treasury. Two years ago it was clearly foreseen that the General Fund would run short before the next succeeding collection of taxes. In order to prevent this condition becoming chronic, and to make it possible to replenish the treasury, it became necessary for the Legislature to provide for a tax levy in excess of that which would have been required had the one fixed in the year 1902 not been so far below what the actual appropriations called for. This excess for the year 1903-04 amounted to six cents on the $100, and for 1904-05 to nearly as much.

But before the taxes for 1903-04 were collected the expected had happened, for the General Fund ran short, and borrowing from other funds was unavoidable. On June 30, 1903, the balance in the General Fund was only $432,415.74, with five months' expenses to be met before taxes would again flow into the treasury. This small balance was soon exhausted, and it became necessary, on July 31, 1903, to borrow from other funds the sum of $921,000, and again, on November 5th, to borrow the further sum of $447,000. This, as the State Controller points out in his biennial report, was a condition such as had not before arisen for nearly a decade, and it was, as before said, to prevent its recurrence that the Legislature ordered a larger tax levy than the appropriations demanded.

The effect of this levy is shown by the vastly different condition of the General Fund on June 30, 1904, which on that date contained $2,058,610.11, a sum more than sufficient to meet all prospective demands.

The State of California, like other solvent institutions, should maintain a credit balance large enough to guarantee it against having to practice unusual and unsafe methods of financing. More especially is it wise to carry a credit balance if it can be made a means of profit, as, in another part of this message, I suggest can be done by adopting the deposit plan.

Betterments during Two Years.—As an appendix to this message there is printed a table which shows the amount of money appropriated at the last session for build-ings and other improvements in connection with State institutions; also the amounts expended from such appropriations to date, and the amounts expended from contingent funds for the same general purposes. The total of appropriations made two years ago for betterments was $800,800, and by adding to this $76,362.21 of former appropriations unexpended, the State had an aggregate of appropriations for betterments equal to $877,162.21 to use during the biennium. Of this there has been actually expended to date $685,742.61; to which must be added the sum of $108,200.85, which has been drawn from contingent funds and used for betterments. This makes an aggregate of $793,943.46 spent for betterments in the last two calendar years.

As the whole amount of appropriations from all funds made at the last session was $7,733,840.73, the proportion which went for actual improvements was about 10 per cent. The expenditures made have been highly beneficial to many of the institutions of the State. At the San Diego Normal School a west wing has been added to the main building; the Los Angeles, Chico, and San José Normal Schools have also benefited through construction or repairs; the new building of the Southern California State Hospital is well advanced toward completion; the assembly hall of the Mendocino State Hospital is partially finished, and at the Stockton, Agnews, and Napa hospitals more or less extensive improvements have been made; for the Home for Feeble-Minded Children $52,500 was appropriated, and the result is much improved conditions at that institution, which is, however, still so lacking in accommodations that many applications for admission are necessarily denied.

Extensive improvements have been made at the Veterans' Home, the machinery in the State Printing Office has received important additions, and California Hall, at the University, for which $250,000 was appropriated, is nearing completion. A good deal of construction work has been done at the California Polytechnic School in San Luis Obispo.

The needs of the State in the way of new buildings are numerous, but they can be supplied only gradually. A certain amount of new construction can be provided for out of each tax levy, but many meritorious building enterprises must await the time when the funds can be spared.

Bond Purchases for School Fund.—One of the pieces of legislation of the last session which has been followed by good results is the Act authorizing the purchase of municipal and school-district bonds for the permanent school fund, which previous to that time could be invested only in bonds of the United States, the State, and the counties. These classes of securities were difficult to procure except by paying a high price, more particularly since the law, as it then stood, practically rendered it necessary to buy bonds through brokers. The new law, by authorizing the State Board of Examiners to bid direct, without depositing a certified check, has enabled the making of first-hand purchases, while at the same time the field of investment has been enlarged.

The effect is noticeable in a closer investment of school funds and also in a somewhat higher average rate of interest on the bonds purchased. On June 30, 1903, there was $1,262,574.64 in the State School Land Fund awaiting investment, and a year later this had been reduced to $792,128.98. By further purchases this had been cut down to approximately $495,000 on December 1, 1904, and when certain investments now in view are made, practically all available funds will be invested and drawing interest.

On the bonds bought between the years 1899 and 1902 the average rate of interest was 4.45 per cent, but the premiums paid reduced the net income to the State to 3.58. For 1903-04 the average rate of interest on the bonds purchased has been 4.107 per cent, and the net income has been 4.07 per cent, showing how closely the new law enables the State to buy. The income from these bonds is used for the support of the public schools, and the fund now amounts in round numbers to $5,000,000.

An Analysis of State Expenditures.—I am indebted to the State Controller for a valuable statistical compilation which shows at a glance how the disbursements on account of the State government are divided between the main branches of expenditure. Classified under eleven heads, the expenditures are given both by aggregates and by percentages:

Expenditures—Fifty-fourth Fiscal Year.

Per Capita Cost of Inmates of Institutions.—In the following table there is shown the per capita cost of maintenance of inmates of a number of State institutions for last year, as nearly as can be ascertained:

Institution.	Average Number of Inmates.	Average Cost per Capita per Diem, in Cents.
Folsom Prison.....	810.52	44.15
San Quentin Prison.....	1,495.7 $\frac{1}{2}$	31.12

Mendocino State Hospital.....	623	47.36
Southern California State Hospital.....	739	50.24
Home for Feeble-Minded.....	520	49.11

With regard to this table it ought to be said that any inference drawn from a comparison of different classes of institutions with respect to relative cost of maintenance is likely to be erroneous, because the objects aimed at and the conditions under which the institutions are conducted are so different. The only comparisons which properly can be made are between institutions of the same class in this State or between those of this State and those of other States, and even then other factors besides economy of management enter into the result. Usually the per capita rate of expense of maintenance diminishes as the number of inmates increases, because the cost of administration is relatively less in a large hospital or prison.

In general it may be said that our public institutions are as economically conducted as those of other leading States. The per capita cost for the four State prisons of New York is 41.2 cents per day, as compared with an average of 37.6 cents for the two California prisons. The State of New York, which has 25,000 insane persons in its hospitals, maintains these institutions at an average per capita cost of 44.3 cents per day, as compared with an average cost for California hospitals of 42.7. The State Home for Feeble-Minded Children in Syracuse, New York, reports a per capita cost of 49 cents daily, which is almost exactly the same as that of the institution at Eldridge.

The per capita expense of maintenance at Folsom Prison is ordinarily about 35 cents per day; during the earlier part of the fiscal year 1903-04 the number of prisoners had run down to less than 700, which raised the per capita cost above the ordinary; since then there has been a large increase in the prison population. Moreover, some of the extraordinary expenditures caused by the break of July 27, 1903, have been included in figuring out the per capita expense for last year.

CUSTODY OF STATE FUNDS.

The State of California pursues a policy different from that of a majority of the States by keeping public funds in its own vaults, thereby locking up a large amount of money, instead of making deposits in the banks. By following the deposit plan the money is permitted to circulate in the channels of trade until needed to meet claims against the treasury. The drain of money at certain periods of the year, when State, County, and City governments are all collecting taxes, is a heavy one; and it has long been a cause of complaint in California that, at these times, business is embarrassed by the large reduction in the circulating medium.

It was a step in the right direction when the law was passed, some years ago, making State and County taxes payable in two installments instead of one, because this reduced the amount of money locked up at any one time; but it would be an additional benefit to the business community if the greater part of the funds belonging to the State could at all times be kept in the channels of trade. The payment of taxes may be a hardship upon property-owners under the most favorable circumstances, but it becomes a needlessly grievous burden when it is made the means of locking up so much of the money which is the life of trade.

But this is not the only way in which the hoarding of funds is expensive to the State, since the money represents so much earning power lost; it could be, and should be, made to turn into the treasury annually quite a large sum collected as interest. The balance in the State Treasury, in ordinary years, ranges from $2,500,000 to $7,000,000, and for the last five years has averaged $4,000,000. The ordinary interest rate on daily balances paid by the banks is two per cent, and on $4,000,000 this would amount to $80,000 a year—enough to sustain one of the State institutions, or to reduce the annual tax rate nearly two thirds of a cent. If the money can be loaned safely, and this interest earned, it shows poor business judgment to go on sacrificing so large a sum.

As has been said before, California is one of a small number of States which keep their money in their own vaults. Of the forty-eight States and Territories, according to recent statistics, thirty-nine pursue the policy of depositing their funds in bank, with such precautions for safety as they think will insure them against loss. The history of the State deposit system shows that it has always been safe when proper security has been required by law. Banks receiving State funds should be compelled to deposit in the treasury securities—preferably United States, State, County, or Municipal bonds—sufficient in amount to guarantee the State against the possibility of loss.

Opinions of State Treasurers.—Several Treasurers of this State have pointed out the unwisdom of the hoarding policy. Hon. W. S. Greene, in his report for 1898, said: "I feel that I would not be doing my whole duty if I did not call attention to the fact that California is still following the method of collecting money semi-annually from the people and storing it up like old junk, when the object, and only object, of money is circulation. * * * Upon thorough consideration and investigation, I am of the opinion that a system of State and County depositories ought to be established."

Hon. J. R. McDonald, who was Treasurer from 1891 to 1895, said in one of his reports: "I have never been able to see the necessity or propriety of the State having two or three million dollars piled up in her vaults year after year, without any benefit to the State and positive detriment to the people."

The present Treasurer, Hon. Truman Reeves, entertains the same views, and, referring to the deposit plan, he writes: "I am in favor of the idea, provided a law is framed whereby the funds can be safeguarded so as to eliminate the absolute possibility of loss to the State, and, if possible, to keep the office of State Treasurer out of politics."

In view of these opinions, and bearing in mind that such great States as New York, Pennsylvania, and Massachusetts have pursued the deposit plan for many years, receiving large sums for interest, and losing nothing even when banks have failed, it appears that we ought, as soon as it can be done, to substitute for our present practice one more consonant with business thrift and judgment. If this can be done by statute merely, it is a simple matter; if a constitutional amendment shall be held to be necessary, the object to be attained is worth the trouble it will cost.

OUR SYSTEM OF TAXATION.

In my inaugural address, two years ago, I expressed the belief that the time was near at hand when the people of California should consider the question whether they ought not to introduce radical changes in their revenue and taxation laws, especially in relation to the raising of revenue for State purposes. The main reasons for this belief were the escape from taxation of large amounts of personal property and the difficulties which will always exist in securing under the present arrangement a fair assessment and a just equalization between the counties. The further opinion was expressed that the object aimed at ought to be the eventual separation of State and County taxation, giving to each of these political divisions its own subjects of taxation and its own assessment machinery.

During the past two years nothing has occurred to change the belief then expressed; but much has occurred to confirm it. There has been considerable popular discussion of the proposal that a new State revenue system is needed, and the tone of this discussion has been uniformly favorable. At the same time the movement in other States, to which also I referred in my former message, has continued to be away from the employment of the ad valorem, or general property, tax as the basis of all State revenue collections, and toward the development of different systems in different States, according to their several opportunities and needs.

California Tax History.—This revenue question is no new one in California, nor is this the first time that the demand for an improved system has been heard. A short review of the history of State taxation will be interesting, and may help us to a better knowledge of our needs.

In the very earliest days of our State its revenues were derived largely from merchandise and other licenses, but the general property tax was soon put in operation, and for a good many years gave general satisfaction. Personal property, for a time, constituted nearly one half of all the property assessed, and therefore it was not complained that this form of wealth was escaping its due share of taxation. The Legislature assumed the right to exempt from taxation certain kinds of property, such as churches, hospitals, the property of widows and orphans, growing crops, and mining claims; but when danger arose from the extent of the exemptions, the Supreme Court came forward and declared them all to be unconstitutional.

But in time a serious evil arose from the inequalities of taxation as between the various counties, which there was then no means of controlling. In the poorer counties the assessments were kept high, because only so could enough taxes be raised to pay the expenses of county government, and as the same assessments were the basis for State taxation, those counties contributed more than their just share to the State Treasury, while the wealthier counties were able to keep their assessments low and to escape their due proportion of general taxation. It was asserted that in some counties the assessed values were 80 per cent of the true values and in other counties no more than 20 to 30 per cent. As Governor Pacheco told the Legislature, "While the fundamental law demanded a revenue system of rigorous exactitude and uniform justice, there had developed one of false values and gross inequalities."

To remedy this evil the Legislature, by statute, in 1870, created a State Board of Equalization, for the purpose of equalizing assessments as between the counties. But it was not until the Political Code, in 1872, established the State Board on a supposedly firm foundation that it was able to show what it could do, and then the results were almost startling, for in one year the total assessment of property rose from $269,000,000 to $636,000,000, or more than 135 per cent. But the Supreme Court took the view that the Board of Equalization could not constitutionally exercise the powers it claimed, and at once the assessment roll began to fall off.

The Constitutional Convention.—But before this there had begun to issue from the Supreme Court a series of decisions, based upon the uniformity and equality clause of the old Constitution, which held that the taxation of bonds, notes, credits, and other evidences of debt, when the property on which they rested, or by which they were secured, was also taxed, was double taxation; and this created dissatisfaction, because it was claimed the wealthy were escaping taxation. Finally, in 1873, the Court, in a sweeping decision, held the mortgage tax to be unconstitutional.

That decision was, in effect, the cause of the calling of a convention to frame a new constitution; since, although the convention was not held until 1878-79, the dissatisfaction had been growing steadily from the date of the mortgage-tax decision. The advocates of a new plan of taxation were able to point to the fact that, although the State was growing wealthier, the assessment of personal property had ceased to increase and was diminishing, both relatively and absolutely. From $320,000,000 in 1872 it had declined to $118,000,000 in 1878, and from constituting 40 per cent of the total assessment, as it did in 1869, it had, in 1878, become only 20 per cent. This was one of the evidences that a great deal of property was escaping taxation.

As the revenue question was the one which was principally responsible for the calling of the Constitutional Convention, so it was the one which in that body was discussed longest and with greatest energy. The utmost determination was shown to adopt a plan of taxation which should reach all species of property and make every class of people bear its proper share of the burden of taxation. The State Board of Equalization was made constitutional, and the mortgage tax problem was solved by treating the mortgage as an interest in the property and allowing a proportionate deduction from the assessment on the latter.

In the old Constitution the subject of revenue and taxation had been disposed of in one section of five lines; but in the new Constitution a whole article, embracing thirteen sections, was devoted to it.

The Subjects of Taxation.—The gist of the old Constitution with reference to taxation was contained in these two sentences, said to have been taken from the first Constitution of Texas: "Taxation shall be equal and uniform throughout the State. All property in this State shall be taxed in proportion to its value, to be ascertained as directed by law."

Some of the warmest debates of the Convention of 1879 took place over the question whether the "equal and uniform" provision should go into the new Constitution, upon which some of the ablest members insisted. But it was upon that provision that the unpopular decisions of the Supreme Court had rested, and a majority of the delegates voted to exclude the words from the new instrument.

The provision that all property shall be taxed in proportion to its value was retained, but with it was included a definition of "property" which was meant to be so thoroughgoing that nothing should thereafter escape from the tax-gatherer. It was declared that, for purposes of taxation, property should "include moneys, credits, bonds, stocks, dues, franchises, and all other matters and things, real, personal, and mixed, capable of private ownership," the only exceptions being growing crops and public property.

It was further provided that all property should be assessed in the political subdivision where situated, save and except railroads operated in more than one county, which were to be assessed for both State and County purposes by the State Board of Equalization. It had already been recognized by the lawmakers of Illinois and Missouri that a great railroad could not be properly assessed piecemeal, and their plan of assessment of such property by a State board was followed by our Constitution-makers.

Test of the New Law.—It was the expectation of the framers of the new Constitution as we have seen, that a great deal of property would be taxed which theretofore had escaped. One of the leaders remarked: "We have said that all property should be taxed in proportion to its value. In addition to that we say that property which has heretofore been held not to be property shall, for purposes of taxation, be deemed property and subject to taxation. That covers the ground."

This boast was not justified by results, and the effect of the new Constitution in the direction of increasing assessments was, after the first year, very disappointing. In 1879, the last year of the old Constitution, the assessment roll amounted to $549,000,000, and in 1880, the first year of the new, it rose to $666,000,000, and the proportion of personal property increased from 20 per cent of the whole to 26 per cent. But the next two years the aggregate of the roll declined, and the proportion which the personal property—the kind of property which it was the special aim of the makers of the new Constitution to reach—bears to the whole commenced to diminish from that time forth. From 26.18 per cent it went down as low as 13.56 per cent, and is now practically stationary at 15 per cent. So that, despite the Draconian rigor of the definition given to property in the first section of the article on taxation in our present Constitution, the tax-gatherers find not more of personal property than before, but even relatively less, and absolutely less most of the time. For the aggregate of personal property assessed never afterwards went as high as it was in 1874—when it was $210,000,000—until 1903, when it was $269,000,000. In 1904 it was $239,000,000.

In the equalization of assessments as between counties, also, the new Constitution did not prove to be a perfect success. The Supreme Court stripped the Board of Equalization of some of the power which it had been supposed it possessed and which it attempted to exercise. It can raise or lower the county rolls only as a whole and can not distinguish between different classes of property, although one may have been assessed too high and another too low. Yet the total assessed value of property in the State has continued to increase slowly with the growth in population and wealth, but real estate and improvements bear 85 per cent of the burden. The total assessed value of money and solvent credits is only $42,000,000, which represents, of course, but a small portion of the true amount of this kind of property in the State.

Amendments to the Constitution.—Since 1880 the Constitution has been often amended, but most of the amendments of the article upon taxation have been in the direction of exemption. Fruit trees and grapevines of a certain age, household goods of the value of a hundred dollars, church buildings, the property of several educational and scientific institutions, and State and Municipal bonds have been relieved of tax burdens. But while all of these amendments taking property off the assessment roll have been adopted, there have been no amendments to put any on, nor has any change been introduced in the Constitution which would make the system more elastic or give the Legislature greater power over the subject-matter. This is the most serious fault of the Constitution in so far as it relates to taxation; the system was finished when the Constitution was adopted; it has not been capable of growth. In other States the Legislatures improve the plan of taxation from time to time as experience suggests changes; their revenue laws, as they stand, have been a gradual evolution. But in California no changes of importance can be made because of conflict with the constitutional scheme.

In the convention which framed this Constitution there were a minority of men who foresaw that a scheme of taxation so rigid as this would not be permanently satisfactory, and they argued in favor of vesting considerable discretion in the Legislature. One of those who took this view was the eminent lawyer, Samuel M. Wilson, one of the master minds of the convention, although in this instance his counsel was not followed. Mr. Wilson, on one occasion, said:

“Government is a complex piece of machinery, and runs only at great expense. The true question, then, is this: What is the best system of taxation for the support of the government? In every State in the Union, with the exception of the instances mentioned by the gentlemen here, the matter of taxation is left to legislative discretion, with only certain broad principles on the subject laid down in the Constitution. In some few States the Constitution fixes the objects and subjects of taxation, and makes it mandatory upon the Legislature. In most cases it is left to the Legislature to select the objects and subjects on which taxes should be levied consistent with the general principles of equality and uniformity—the tax being upon property and not upon persons. The Legislature should have this discretionary power. My individual opinion is that the Constitution should only prescribe that all real estate and all tangible property shall be taxed, and that such taxation shall be according to value, and that the Legislature should have, beyond that, the power and discretion of imposing any other tax that it might see fit, except a capitation tax. Then the Legislature, in its discretion, could enact a stamp tax, a tax upon incomes, or a tax upon anything else, according to the necessities of the State at the time. That would be justice to all, and would leave it more elastic—in a better condition and more in accordance with the general principles prevailing in all of the States of the Union.”

And Mr. Wilson added another valuable suggestion when he said: “It is not necessary to equal and uniform taxation that it should be universal.”

It is worthy of note that the States in which the revenue laws are to-day in the most satisfactory shape are those in which there have been the fewest constitutional restrictions upon the power of the Legislature, nor does there appear to be any serious complaint that this power has been used to discriminate unfairly against any class of taxpayers. Experience and reason alike justify the belief that legislative control over the method of levying taxes would no more be taken advantage of to oppress or to destroy than are the large powers in other directions which the Legislature possesses. No Legislature could afford, as a matter of mere political expediency, to do injustice to such a large class of persons, or important business interests, as it would do by adopting an unjust tax law. It is a striking fact that it is in the States such as New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and Ohio, in which the business interests are strongest, that the most advanced methods of taxing corporations have been adopted, and after business has had a little time to adjust itself to these new forms of taxation, they excite no great opposition.

Other State Revenue Systems.—The States which have effected a complete, or almost complete, separation of their State and local revenue systems are New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Connecticut, and Delaware. These five States are able to dispense with a general property tax for State purposes because they have obtained in other ways sufficient revenue to meet their needs. This they have not accomplished at a single stroke, but usually by successive additions to their laws. It is about twenty years ago that the first step was taken in New York, although the greater number of the new features have been added recently. Pennsylvania, which has not taxed real estate and improvements for State purposes for many years, has been still longer in developing her plan of taxation. New York's constitution contains nothing requiring that taxation shall be uniform, or equal, or in proportion to the value of the property assessed, while the Pennsylvania constitution contents itself with saying that taxation shall be uniform upon the same classes of subjects and shall be levied by general laws.

These States, however, are only a few of those which have made notable progress in the same direction. Ohio has recently adopted a corporation tax law which has made it possible to reduce the rate of the general property tax one half. Minnesota has reduced the same tax to 10 cents on $100. Wisconsin has come so near to eliminating the ad valorem tax that only a small part of her revenue is raised by it, and the rate is 15 cents on the $100. Massachusetts raises half, or more than half, of her revenue by indirect taxes. Maine is working along similar lines. Maryland raises only a third of her revenue by ad valorem taxes, and West Virginia but one fourth. The old State of Virginia has recently adopted a new revenue law which embodies a number of modern ideas. Tennessee secures from other sources than the general property tax considerably more than half of her revenue, and Missouri has made such progress that her last State tax rate was only 15 cents on $100. Michigan is making progress in the same general direction. One of the latest States to remodel its revenue laws with gratifying results is Colorado.

Amendments to the Constitution.—Since comparatively little can be done under the present Constitution to change the revenue laws, or to provide new sources of revenue, it follows that it is not necessary to decide at this time precisely what laws ought to be enacted. In a few ways—one of which I will mention a little later—some additional revenue may be provided. But any new system must wait upon constitutional changes.

The essential thing, then, will be to propose the necessary constitutional amendments, the object of which shall be to give the Legislature some discretion to deal with the subject of State taxation. It should have authority to continue the general property tax for so long a time as may be needed to work up adequate revenues from other sources, and it should also have authority to discontinue this form of tax for State purposes when it is no longer necessary, and to separate State from local taxation. It should also be in the power of the Legislature to adopt such of the several alternative methods of taxing corporations as may seem most expedient. An essential part of the Legislature's authority should be to exempt from local taxation certain classes of subjects which may be specially relied upon to produce State revenue. But as the power of the Legislature over the whole matter of taxation is absolute, except as limited by constitutional restrictions, all of these objects could be easily accomplished by a few constitutional changes. The first and tenth sections of Article XIII are those which need to be especially considered.

Inheritance Taxes.—One of the forms of taxation, other than the general property tax, of whose legality under the present Constitution no fear need be felt, and with respect to which the present Legislature can legislate, is the inheritance tax, or, as it is sometimes called, the tax on transfers. I recommend to the Legislature that it give careful consideration to the question whether the application of the present law should not be extended, first, by taxing direct as well as collateral inheritances, and secondly, by making the tax progressive, as has been done in Illinois, Ohio, Missouri, Wisconsin, and many other States.

The importance of this particular branch of the subject of taxation is such that it will justify consideration somewhat in detail. Since 1893, the year in which the California law was passed, the system of inheritance taxes has obtained great development in the United States and other countries, and the revenues derived from this source promise to be very important. In Great Britain, where the tax is levied for the benefit of the imperial government, 19 per cent of all the revenues, according to the latest available statistics, are the product of this form of taxation, and in the State of New York the income approaches five millions of dollars per year.

As a leading American writer on economics, Prof. E. R. A. Seligman, of Columbia University, remarks, "The inheritance tax to-day scarcely needs defense; it is found in almost every country, and the more democratic the country, the more developed the tax." Doubtless there are still theorists who regard such tax as an attack upon the established rights of property; but when, in a country where property rights are so firmly established as in England, the government claims the privilege of taking from estates of the largest size so much as 8 per cent; when in the republic of France the tax goes, in some instances, so high as 15 per cent; when in such old commonwealths as Pennsylvania, New York, and Massachusetts the system is in full operation; and when, finally, thirty States in all have adopted this tax, it can no longer be regarded as revolutionary, except in the sense that all progress is revolutionary.

The gradual extension of this tax is an illustration of the principle I have already mentioned, that the best systems of taxation are an evolution. Originally the inheritance tax applied only to collateral inheritances of personal property; then it was extended to real property; later New York enacted a direct inheritance tax law, and eventually the conservative State of Illinois made the tax progressive, i. e., increasing the rate in proportion to the amount of the estate. By the year 1900 ten States had imposed direct as well as collateral inheritance taxes, and during the next three years eleven other States had taken the same action. In each of the two other commonwealths on the Pacific Coast, Oregon and Washington, both direct and progressive taxation of estates has been enacted.

California's present law brings into the treasury a revenue ranging from $250,000 to $300,000 a year, which is doubtless considerably less than it would be if all the taxes due were collected. By the addition of a direct tax, the revenues could be greatly increased, and the collection of the tax made more certain. An excessive rate of tax should not be imposed on either direct inheritances or collateral inheritances, and the rate on the former is usually made less than on the latter. Also, there should be an exemption up to a liberal amount on inheritances going to widows or lineal descendants.

PUBLIC EDUCATION.

I think it is safe to say that there is no State in the Union that offers to its children any better educational advantages than does our State of California. Gauged by the monetary standard, California does much more for education than the average of her sister States. For, while all the States, including ours, pay, on the average, 16 per cent of the cost of their public-school systems, California, to her credit be it said, pays about 45 per cent of the cost of hers.

We had, in this State, in the last school year 407,398 children who ought to have been at school, as provided by law. In the public schools, however, there were but 298,520 enrolled. Of the remainder, it is estimated that 37,226 attended the various private schools, leaving 71,652 California children who, for one reason or another, did not attend school at all. While this number is, by comparison with other States, by no means excessive, it is too large for California. And there ought to be some means devised to reduce it greatly. For it is to the decided interest of the State to see to it that its children shall all receive, so nearly as may be possible, at least a common-school education.

Looking toward this end, California has been very liberal toward education. Last year she spent from the State fund $3,715,706 on the Primary and Grammar Schools. To the High Schools she contributed $232,386. To the five Normal Schools she gave $289,798. The Institution for the Deaf, Dumb, and Blind received $68,528 of State money. And to the University was given $621,363. Even the Farmers' Institutes received $3,000 to educate their members. So that it will be seen that, first and last, the State paid out of its treasury, last year, the very respectable sum of $4,930,781 for education. And when it is remembered that the average yearly income of the State from all sources is about $10,000,000, it will be seen that nearly one half thereof was spent last year for education.

The law provides that there shall be raised by taxation $7 for every child of school age. Last year this required a tax levy of 17.8 cents per $100 of assessed valuation throughout the State. On account of this law, the State tax must be increased by $120,799 this year over what it was last year, because there were 17,257 more children of school age last year than there were the year before. This will compel an increase of about one cent in the tax levy automatically fixed by law, providing the assessed valuation of State property shows no great increase. The University also receives, under the law, 2 cents on every $100 of assessed valuation; and the High Schools receive 1½ cents on the $100; making in all 22.3 cents on the $100 required for education out of a total State tax rate averaging something over 50 cents on the $100.

The Compensation of Teachers.—It requires nearly 8,000 teachers to carry on the Primary and Grammar Schools of this State. And it is only with great difficulty that boards of education and school trustees are able to find enough teachers to supply their wants. There appear to be at least two reasons for this dearth of available teachers. In the first place, we require more preparation from teachers than we did a few years ago. This is a good thing, because, like doctors and lawyers, our school teachers should be well educated in their profession. The other reason for the dearth of teachers is that the pay offered them is not sufficient to induce very many persons to devote their lives to teaching. We can not expect that men and women will spend years of time and large sums of money to prepare themselves for a profession in which it is possible for them to receive only meager salaries, without the possibility of increased pay as experience and devotion, in other walks of life, provide. Therefore, our young men, especially, do not become teachers, and our young women, in too many instances, look upon teaching as an expedient which will enable them to live until something more alluring calls them from the schoolroom.

In line with this there is a widespread discussion among the teachers and those who are non-professionally interested in education looking toward an increase in teachers' salaries. To do this it is proposed, by some, to raise the State school-census per capita from $7 to $9. As there were last year, as before stated, 407,398 census children in the State, this raise of $2 per child would call for an increase in the State taxes of $814,796 per annum for the next two years (involving an increase of about 5 cents in the annual tax levy)—a sum altogether too great to raise by State taxation under present conditions, and the demand for which would not be so pressing if the State School Fund were distributed in such a manner as to do the greatest possible good.

Distribution of State Aid.—This brings me to another matter connected with the salaries of our school teachers to which, during the past year, I have given considerable attention. And that is the manner in which, under our present law, the State money is distributed to the teachers. I find, for instance, that last year the teachers of Alpine County each received $249 of the State's money, and that the teachers of San Francisco each received $783 from the State Treasury; while, between these two limits, the State's money was distributed in varying amounts to the teachers in the various counties—those of no two counties receiving the same amounts. As a result of this, I found also that, in addition to the State School Fund tax, which all counties pay alike, the counties were compelled to tax themselves at rates varying from 6½ cents to 50 cents on the $100 to sustain the county end of the school burden. And it appears, too, that in several instances the poorest counties are compelled to tax themselves the heaviest to raise county school funds. Mono County, for instance, is compelled to put on a county school tax of 50 cents per $100, the limit allowed by law, to raise, in addition to what the State gives her, enough money to carry on her public schools. San Francisco, however, on the other hand, had to impose only a 6½-cent county tax rate to add to the money she received from the State.

So we have these rather anomalous conditions: (1st) the poorer and more sparsely settled counties of the State, as a rule, get less of the State's money per teacher than do the rich and thickly settled counties, the amount varying between $249 in Alpine County and $783 in San Francisco; (2d) we find that the poor and sparsely settled counties have to pay, in common with all the other counties, a fixed tax into the State Treasury—last year this tax was 17½ cents per $100 assessed valuation. In addition to that, the poor counties have to raise, relatively, very large county funds to eke out the school money they receive from the State. Mono County, for instance, paid 67½ cents last year to support the schools; while San Francisco paid but 24½ cents; and the school expenses of the different counties varied between these two extremes.

There are many other and equally curious inequalities in the manner in which, under our present law, the State money is distributed to the counties. But the preceding are fair samples of the others, and I will not give any more of them.

These inequalities are the result of the manner in which the law provides the State money shall be distributed to the counties. Therefore, I think the law ought to be changed so that the State's money shall be distributed more equitably. It does not appear to me to be exactly fair that Alameda County, for instance, should receive $579 per teacher of the State's money, while Alpine should receive from the same source but $249 per teacher; El Dorado, $268; Inyo, $275, Lake, $311; Lassen, $299; San Diego, $293; Plumas, $288, and Mariposa, $310.

It seems to me, therefore, and I so recommend to the Legislature, that there ought to be a complete revision of the method whereby State's school money is distributed to the counties, to the end that a more equitable division thereof may be made.

Normal Schools.—In spite of the fact (more probably by reason of it) that the requirements for admission to and graduation from the Normal Schools have been raised during the past two years, the number of graduates therefrom has not decreased. On the other hand, however, the teachers graduated from the Normal Schools have improved in efficiency and capability—both of which qualities are greatly to be desired. And it is to be hoped that, before many years, the Normal Schools will be, like the various schools of medicine, law, and theology, strictly professional schools, in which only the theory and practice, and subjects closely allied thereto, of the profession of teaching shall be taught, leaving matters of general culture to the Public Schools, the High Schools, and the Universities.

The University.—In free higher, or University, education, California is not second to any State in the Union. With 2,400 undergraduates at Berkeley, and with schools of medicine, art, law, dentistry, veterinary medicine, the great Lick Observatory and the Wilmerding School of Mechanical Arts, so closely affiliated with it as to be practically, if not quite, parts of it, our State University takes rank among the greatest universities of the United States.

Leland Stanford Junior University is, next to our State University, also the object of our State educational pride. And, taken together, these two great institutions of learning place California in the front rank of States which foster the higher education.

The University of California gives to every aspiring, ambitious, determined young man or young woman, rich and poor alike, the opportunity to acquire an education which will benefit not only him or her, but also the State. And I think it may be safely stated that the State derives its greatest benefit and return from the money it invests in the University from those students whose pecuniary means would not allow them to graduate from it were it not a free institution. In fact, I have in mind a classmate of mine, who worked his way through the University, and, by means of the free education he there received, was enabled to perfect certain mining processes which, in themselves, have saved to the State of California many times the whole cost of the University.

It is to be hoped that the people of the State will continue to have that love for the University of which they are now possessed. And it is also to be hoped that the University will, in its turn, not forget that it owes everything to the State, and that it will continue to earn and deserve the good will of the people who so cheerfully support it.

WATER AND FOREST INVESTIGATIONS.

Public sentiment in California favors a broad policy in the development of the resources of our great State. We should not be afraid to make investments on which the returns may be delayed beyond the immediate present. It is our duty to be State builders, not only that we may enjoy the benefits of a wise foresight, but that our children's children may be sharers in such rewards.

California is full of undeveloped resources and our continued prosperity is dependent upon their continued development. Unfortunately, there are certain of our resources which are menaced with waste if not with destruction, and an intelligent self-interest demands that we pursue such a course of action as will conserve them.

The Federal Government has entered upon a liberal policy in regard to the development of the West by the reclamation of arid lands, and California can well afford to meet these advances half way by cooperating with the National Government in measures designed for the benefit of our people.

In this belief, the last Legislature passed an Act appropriating $60,000, to be expended in conjunction with, at least, an equal sum appropriated by Congress for the purpose of making investigations into our water and forest resources. We were offered the services of the experts employed by the United States Geological Survey and Department of Agriculture in making these inquiries, with a prospect that the data secured might ultimately result in the expenditure in California of some of the millions which the enactment of the Arid Land Law made available for reclamation work. After less than two years of preliminary and collaborative work, it already appears that this expectation is to be abundantly fulfilled.

The Topographic branch of the United States Geological Survey has been engaged in mapping the Sacramento Valley and other important areas. This is considered to be the first prerequisite to a solution of irrigation and flood reclamation problems.

The Hydrographic branch of the Geological Survey has been conducting two especial lines of related work: Explorations and surveys of reservoir-sites and the gauging of the flow of streams. The first is a prerequisite for the conservation of waters, the second for determining the quantity of water to be conserved.

The United States Bureau of Forestry has carried on investigations covering twenty-one million acres of forest lands in California. The data obtained will be used in preparing forest maps, in determining what areas should be reserved by the National Government as a protection to the flow of streams, and in framing such a report as may form the basis for a State forest policy.

The fourth line of investigation carried on in collaboration with the United States Government is that of water distribution for agricultural purposes, and it is being conducted by the Department of Agriculture.

A Policy in Respect to Irrigation.—California has suffered much for want of a well-ordered and definitely settled policy for the use of water for irrigation. At the last session of the Legislature, efforts were made to secure an improved code of irrigation laws, but the draft of such a code submitted proved unsatisfactory to the Legislature, and one of the reasons why it was opposed was that the data on which it was based were inadequate. When the Department of Agriculture shall have completed the investigations in hand it can not be doubted that some Legislature in the near future will be in possession of the knowledge necessary for formulating a wise, beneficent, and just code of irrigation laws. Pending the completion of this investigation, it may be well for the Legislature to refrain from attempting irrigation legislation of a radical character.

At the recent meeting of the National Irrigation Congress in the city of El Paso there was adopted a resolution favoring cooperation between the Reclamation Service of the Federal Government and State and local authorities in the planning and execution of irrigation works which are undertaken by districts organized under general laws, and the proposal seems a practical one.

Large Enterprises Undertaken.—There is reason to hope that, with the powerful aid of the Federal Government, reservoirs for the impounding of flood and irrigation waters will be constructed on a scale of magnitude that will insure the reclamation of great areas otherwise doomed to partial if not total aridity. "It is believed," declares one of the Government experts employed in this work, "that the Sacramento Valley is one of the greatest, if not the greatest, latent opportunities for irrigation development in arid America."

Much success has attended the effort to find reservoir sites in northern California, and such as have been found on government land have been withdrawn from entry. The greatest of these projects is one to utilize Big Valley on Pit River, which, if dammed to a height of 110 feet, would afford the enormous impounding capacity of 3,200,000 acre-feet, or sufficient to cover that number of acres with water to the depth of one foot. The total aggregate capacity of all the reservoir sites so far surveyed in northern California is 4,800,000 acre-feet.

At the extreme southeastern and extreme northeastern ends of our State two reclamation enterprises of great extent are proposed. One of these is for the irrigation of more than 300,000 acres of land situated near the Colorado River, and for this an allotment of $3,000,000 has been obtained from the National Reclamation fund.

The other undertaking, one to which legislative attention will doubtless be invited, is likely to prove still more remarkable and important. The Klamath basin, situated partly in California and partly in Oregon, contains several lakes and both overflowed and arid districts. A way has been found so to increase the flow of the Klamath River as to drain two important lakes and reclaim to cultivation the greater part of their areas. To do this the consent of both California and Oregon will be needed.

It is proposed that California shall cede to the National Government her interests in the lands which will be laid bare by the lowering of the water in the lakes; but as these lands will be sold only to actual settlers and the proceeds used, together with other funds, to meet the expenses of the undertaking, it would seem that this State can well afford to give its assent if Oregon will do likewise, as it is believed that it will. There are 300,000 acres, two thirds in California and one third in Oregon, which, it is claimed, can thus be reclaimed and irrigated. To accomplish this it will be necessary to draw water from Upper Klamath lakes in Oregon to irrigate lands in California and, likewise, from Clear Lake—a smaller body of water lying to the east of Rhett Lake, in California—to irrigate lands across the line in Oregon. The different levels of the lakes relative to the areas they are expected to irrigate make necessary this reciprocal arrangement, and it can not be doubted that the two commonwealths ought to coöperate heartily in what is likely to prove so great a common advantage.

Forestry Legislation.—It is well known that the cutting of large areas of timber, and the purchase by speculators of still larger areas, with the presumed intent of felling and marketing the lumber product, threaten the premature exhaustion of one of California's most precious resources. In view of these facts, California could have entered upon no wiser course than it did in providing for the serious study of her forest problems.

Our civilization rests upon the right of the individual to have and to hold property, real, personal, and mixed. This right needs to be jealously guarded and yet such rights are not recognized as absolute. Each owner must "so use his own as not to injure another's property." Especially is it true that no individual or generation of individuals can be permitted to destroy an inheritance. Regard must be had for the welfare of generations yet unborn. We, who are here now, will in time pass away, but the commonwealth of California will endure, and it is for an enduring commonwealth, rather than for a present generation, that you gentlemen are called together in order that you may legislate.

There will be laid before you a carefully drawn bill providing for a definite forest policy for California. Without venturing to pass upon its merits in advance of thorough public and legislative discussion, I commend it to your careful consideration. The coöperative forestry work carried on during the last two years by the State in collaboration with the United States Bureau of Forestry has proven highly beneficial in an educational sense, and I respectfully recommend that it be carried on for two years more under the same arrangement.

In fact, I am led to hope that the obtaining of expert knowledge as to how to deal with forestry problems, including the prevention of forest fires and the rehabilitation of deforested areas, and the giving of a wide publicity to that knowledge, may, of itself, go far toward evolving a useful, though voluntary, policy of forest preservation.

In the event that the Legislature is unable to see its way clear to adopt a perfected forest-preservation policy at this time, may it not be wise to attempt at least tentative legislation looking to that end?

THE COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE.

The extension of the work of the College of Agriculture of the University is a subject which will probably engage the attention of this Legislature, as it engaged that of the last. The importance of agricultural education is now recognized everywhere, even in quarters where it would have received little consideration a few years ago; and increased provision for such education is being made in all the great States, the leading industries of some of which have been reorganized and made more profitable than ever through the work of agricultural scientists.

No other State, perhaps, has in this subject so deep an interest as California, whose products, soils, and climates are so varied, and whose special problems are so numerous. The successful employment of irrigation and the growing of the specialized crops, which the local conditions make possible, call for a higher standard of scientific information among tillers of the soil than is requisite for the production of ordinary staples in other sections of our country. While the holding of Farmers' Institutes and the publication of bulletins from the State Agricultural College may considerably inform the adult farming population, there is a growing feeling among thoughtful persons that our educational system should be the means of rearing up a generation of young persons attracted by intelligent interest to agricultural pursuits.

Already the State has profited largely by the investigations and experiments conducted by the College of Agriculture, which has done a great deal of valuable research-work and has educated a number of specialists of high standing. The equipment of the college in buildings and facilities, however, is inadequate to meet the demands laid upon it.

But the enrollment of students in the College of Agriculture falls below the enrollment in other colleges, and this has led to the complaint that, however successful in scientific researches, the institution has not been doing the work it should along the lines of practical instruction. The lack of a farm as an adjunct to the University has been the main reason for whatever failure there may have been in this direction, for farming can only be taught on the farm. Neither is there any opportunity to have a farm in close proximity to the University at Berkeley, and this is a misfortune, since to have the farm at a distance from the University involves an increase of expense and other disadvantages. The time has arrived, however, when a farm should be acquired, and it should be found in a region where the soil and climate are fairly typical of our largest agricultural areas. The locality should be one carefully selected with a view to working out the various problems in agronomy, horticulture, dairying, animal industries, and other branches of farming.

But wherever the farm is located, and whatever the course of instruction established thereon, there should be no separation from University control, the experience of other States showing that the duplication of courses and conflicts of interests where colleges of agriculture and State universities are independent of each other are bound to be injurious to both. Neither are the so-called colleges of agriculture which are conducted apart from universities generally successful in attracting large numbers of students in agriculture, the engineering and other scientific courses usually leading in popularity the purely agricultural courses. Concentration, not dispersion, is the true educational policy, and in no educational field is it more necessary to bear this in mind than in agricultural instruction, which, on account of the equipment required, is confessedly more expensive than almost any other.

In what way the courses of instruction on the farm can best be organized is a question that must be determined when the time comes, but it is likely that they will be largely popular in character. They must be so if they are to draw large numbers of students, for in no agricultural college or department is the number of full four-year course men very large, while the most successful schools of agriculture and the short courses draw many students, and meet the needs of a majority of those who will become actual farmers.

THE HOSPITALS FOR THE INSANE.

The burden of the expense of caring for the insane in the State hospitals, which amounts now to about $900,000 per annum, has been growing year by year, and will, of course, continue to grow with the increase of population; but there is hope that hereafter it will grow at a less rapid rate than formerly. There has been a material falling off in the average annual rate of increase of patients, due not to fewer admissions, but to a larger number of deaths and discharges. The increased number of deaths is explained by the greater average age of the patients, while the more numerous discharges may be explained in part by more successful treatment, resulting in more recoveries, and in part by a change of administrative methods. A factor of considerable importance is the legalization of the parole system under the new law. There are now from two to three hundred patients out on parole all the time, and many of the discharges are made from among those whose fitness to go at large has first been tested in this manner.

The establishment of the Commission in Lunacy, seven years ago, did much to give the State a definite and permanent policy in the conduct of its hospitals. Previous to that time each of the five hospitals was governed entirely by its own board of trustees, and no matter how faithful the members of these boards might be, there could not be the same system in the management of the institutions as if there were supervision by a common authority. This the Commission in Lunacy has established, and the effect of its careful revision of estimates and scrutiny of accounts may be seen in the fact that since it was created there has never been a deficiency in the support fund of any one of the hospitals.

In future, if present policies continue to prevail, there will be an avoidance of both an increase in the number of hospitals and of the erection of very large buildings in addition to the accommodations of existing hospitals. Cottages can be built for the patients at less per capita cost, and this method of housing them is more in accord with the current medical opinion of what is most desirable. A number of cottages have already been constructed by applying to this use the contingent funds of some of the hospitals, and others will be provided for in the same way.

In the direction of specialization in the treatment of the insane, the principal innovations are the proposed hospital for the criminal insane, the erection of which at Folsom, after an appropriation had been made, was necessarily postponed on account of an unfortunate oversight committed in drawing the statute; the establishment of a separate department, in two detached buildings, at Agnews, for the acutely insane, and the adoption of the tent plan at Ukiah for the insane who are afflicted with tuberculosis. In each of these instances, the new departure is in a direction which is sanctioned by the best authority. The acutely insane can be treated with more hope of cure if cared for under the special conditions best adapted to them, and tent accommodations for the tuberculous insane are deemed the most healthful.

The collections on account of pay-patients are more closely made than formerly, through the methods introduced by the Commission in Lunacy. It was also owing to the Secretary of that body that a very serious shortage in the accounts of a former clerk in the Southern California State Hospital was discovered, and since then a checking system has been devised which is expected to remove the opportunities for such frauds.

THE NATIONAL GUARD.

Having been either a member of or greatly interested in the National Guard of California since 1872, a period of over thirty-two years, and having risen in it from the lowest to the highest rank, I think I can reasonably say that I have some knowledge of it.

Upon the proper support of the National Guard of the various States depends, to a very great extent, the safety of this nation, in its relations with foreign powers. For, in the event of a foreign war, it is necessary for the United States to have an army either for foreign service or to repel invasion. If there were no National Guard, it would be necessary for the Government to do either one of two things, viz., to support a large standing army, or to rely upon raising the necessary volunteer armies from a raw, untrained, undrilled, undisciplined people. A large standing army is, for many reasons, undesirable. On the other hand, to rely upon raising, equipping, drilling, and disciplining, out of totally inexperienced volunteers, an army to fight against the trained troops of other nations would be disastrous.

In the late war with Spain it was demonstrated that the National Guard can be depended on to fight our country's battles. The First California (to take an example with which we are all familiar) took the field reasonably well armed, equipped, drilled, disciplined, officered, and rendered service that made us all proud of every man on its roster.

An Army Quickly Recruited.—To have newly recruited this regiment out of totally inexperienced volunteers would have required several weeks. To have officered, armed, equipped, drilled, disciplined it, would have required many more weeks; and, in the meantime, disaster might have resulted to our cause. But with many National Guard regiments, like the First California, from the various States, to draw from, the United States was able quickly to put into the Philippines and Cuba armies which brought the war to a swift decision in our favor, saved many, many lives, which, with a long-drawn struggle would have been sacrificed, to say nothing of the millions of treasure that, otherwise, would have been necessary and the disturbance of business and trade that would have resulted.

Where would we have been in that war, had we not had a navy with Dewey, Schley, and Sampson in command? We could neither have beaten Spain nor invaded Cuba nor the Philippines, even had we the best army in the world. And, without our National Guard, from which quickly to form armies of invasion, Dewey's victory at Manila Bay and Sampson's and Schley's destruction of Cervera's fleet would have netted us only a modicum of what resulted from our swift and sure attacks on sea and land.

Therefore, I am of the opinion that those of our fellow-citizens who deprecate the existence of the National Guard, and would abolish it, have not given the matter sufficient thought.

Our flag, our national honor, our citizens, and our trade and commerce must be protected. To do this requires a navy and either a great standing army (which God forbid!) or a sufficient number of our people trained quickly to form efficient armies. And there is, I think, but one way to do this, and that is by supporting, encouraging, and maintaining State National Guards, in which shall be preliminarily trained in the art of war the youth of the country.

The Value of Discipline.—Not only so, but there is great need that the youth of the country shall be taught discipline and a cheerful obedience to constituted authority. For in our Land of Liberty there is liable to arise in the mind of the individual an idea that he owes nothing to his fellow-citizens, his city, his county, his State, his country, or his flag. No other where than in the National Guard is the individual so well taught to respect the authority of those who, for the moment, may be his superior officers. No other where than in the National Guard does he come into such close contact with the flag of his country, and learn to look upon it as the symbol of his political and personal liberties. No other where does he so well learn that "in union there is strength," that he is one American citizen, whose life, liberty, pursuit of happiness, and property are safest only when those of all his fellow-citizens are also safest. He comes out of the National Guard a better, safer citizen, loving his country better; more jealous of, because he knows them better, his rights and privileges as a citizen of this great nation; more impressed with, because he has learned something of them, his responsibilities toward those who, like him, are also Americans; with greater respect for the law and those empowered to enforce it, and, above all, impressed with the idea that, after all, there is no greater, purer, more patriotic duty than to serve his country in her hour of greatest need.

Therefore, I am of the opinion that it is the duty of every American citizen, who loves the flag and our institutions, to encourage every young man to become a member of the National Guard, and thus somewhat fit himself to defend his flag and his country if the occasion should require. And I have but little sympathy with those who, from shortsightedness, ignorance, or any other cause, desire to see it abolished. And, therefore, I recommend to the Legislature to provide a sufficient sum for the support and maintenance of the National Guard of California, and to render it, already reasonably efficient, still more so.

THE PRISONS AND THEIR NEEDS.

At the last session of the Legislature there were submitted several committee reports upon the condition of the two State prisons, and in one of these, which was made by a select committee of the Assembly, the following language was employed:

"Our two prisons are no credit to the State. California boasts its place in the front rank of States, but her prisons lag a generation behind the better class of Eastern penitentiaries. The two prisons are schools of vice and universities of crime. * * * Boys and young men, guilty of one offense against the laws, but not yet hardened in crime, are sent to these prisons not to be reclaimed, but to be systematically seduced and debased by utterly degraded convicts. Associated for a term of years with men whose villainy is their boast, young men graduate from these institutions fully equipped enemies of society. Thus the State trains its criminals. * * * The responsibility of this great wrong rests primarily not with the Wardens, nor with the Board of Prison Directors, but upon the people of California, who have followed a false idea of economy and, steeped in neglect of public affairs, have failed to find means for the proper conduct of these institutions."

If this language is to be regarded not as rhetorical exaggeration, but as expressing the deliberate judgment of the legislators who framed the official report quoted from, it constitutes a serious arraignment of the prisons in which the State now confines twenty-four hundred convicts. Yet this report does not differ greatly from a number of other reports, which, from time to time, have been presented by Senate and Assembly committees and by investigating commissions. There are no other State institutions which have been so often investigated and for whose betterment so many recommendations have been made, and yet the progress of improvement has been very slow.

The main defects of our prison system—which may be summed up as lack of classification and segregation of the convicts, lack of cell and yard accommodations, and lack of intelligent adaptation of means to ends in reformatory treatment—have been not only recognized but quite well understood for a long time. They were pointed out by a Joint Senate and Assembly Committee in 1872—thirty-three years ago—as clearly as by the committee of 1903 whose report I have already quoted, and the most important recommendation recently made by the State Board of Charities—which was that one of the prisons be converted into a reformatory—was anticipated as long ago as 1876, when a legislative committee reported sententiously: "Establish a reformatory in connection with the State prison at as early a day as possible."

Indeed, it seems to have been one of the original ideas with which Folsom Prison was established that either it or San Quentin would be made a prison for first offenders and conducted on reformatory lines, while the other would be used for the isolation and punishment of hardened criminals. Yet, disregarding the opportunity, which the existence of two prisons has given for differentiation in their uses, we have gone on for thirty years committing young and old, confirmed recidivists and first offenders, indiscriminately to both prisons, thereby helping to make both "schools of vice and universities of crime." This long persistence in a radical error, when it could have been avoided by a simple change in the law, appears, like some other things in the history of our dealings with penal problems, not to reflect credit upon our intelligence. In the past there has been a vast amount of talk about the defects of our prison system, and, as I have already shown, there has been no real difference of opinion in regard to the things to be done; it has only been when it came to the essential matter of doing them that a paralysis has fallen upon us. But has not the time at last arrived when there should be action, and not much else? It would seem so when we contemplate the fact that the two prisons have, combined, but 878 cells and rooms for nearly 2,400 prisoners, and that at San Quentin the herding in the restricted yard is almost as bad as the overcrowding in the sleeping quarters.

Appropriations for Prison Buildings.—The main reason for delay in improving the condition of the prisons has been, as the Assembly committee reported two years ago, that of expense. Money in liberal sums has been appropriated for support, and occasionally, when forced so to do by the absolute necessity of the situation, the Legislature has provided means to expand prison accommodations; but appropriations of the latter class have always been so long delayed that when finally furnished they have not made the facilities equal to the demands upon them. If the grossest forms of vice run riot in the prisons, it is because the deficient cell accommodations render herding necessary, and the obvious remedy is to give each prisoner his separate cell. If no educational work worthy of the name is done in either prison, it is because the lack of facilities puts it out of the question.

The most memorable event of the past two years was the outbreak of July 27, 1903, at Folsom, when the Warden and other officers were overpowered, one officer was killed and thirteen prisoners escaped, they afterwards killing two members of a military company who were trying to effect their capture. This deplorable affair, which cost the State dear in money and dearer in the lives of citizens, may also be attributed to lack of a properly executed building plan, since such an emeute would have small chance for success in a well-walled and well-arranged prison.

With regard to the futile attempt to escape which was made a few days since by a number of desperate convicts, who paid dearly for their temerity, it can only be said that under different circumstances it might never have been made, and that its speedy frustration shows that the discipline and effectiveness of the prison forces have been greatly improved during the last year and a half.

It is not a pleasant duty to recommend the expenditure of large sums of money upon State prisons. It is natural to feel that money will be better spent in supporting schools and colleges, or in building public highways, or in any one of a dozen other ways. Nevertheless, it is a short-sighted policy, because in the long run a very costly one, to support prisons which foster crime rather than abate it, and enlightened statesmanship demands that California shall do what other States have done, and spend money enough upon the prisons to equip them properly. I feel it my duty to say that the present session of the Legislature ought not to close without a substantial beginning having been made in the necessary work of prison reform.

It is the judgment of the Board of State Prison Directors, as expressed to me, that building improvements should be commenced at once at both prisons and continued until the present and immediately prospective prison population has been fully provided for. Folsom Prison should also be supplied with a wall, as contemplated by the original plans. Nearly all the work on buildings and wall can be performed with convict labor, and the cost can be kept down accordingly. At Folsom, where granite is abundant, the new cell-house can be constructed of that material, and the wall also. If the cost of transportation would not be too great, granite could also be quarried there for the new buildings at San Quentin. But there must be a liberal appropriation for the purchase of materials other than stone, and for the incidental expenses of building.

How soon it will be possible to convert one of the two prisons into a reformatory depends largely upon the progress of the necessary reconstruction, which must precede everything else. It would be well, however, for the Legislature to reach a decision as to which of the two prisons shall become the reformatory and which shall remain an ordinary penitentiary, as, until that question is settled, a proper building plan can not be adopted.

The Problem of Prison Industries.—Only second to the reformation problem in our prisons is the industrial one. California has been less fortunate than Missouri, Minnesota, and a number of other States which make their prisons self-supporting, or even operate them at a profit; nor is it to be expected such results can be achieved under the conditions prevailing here. Indeed, it is doubted by many if anywhere the operation of a prison at a profit is consistent with the highest regard for the interests of the prisoners or of the public. But Folsom Prison has no productive industry except the crushing and sale of macadam rock, which has returned a profit of only a few thousand dollars a year, and even this business is now threatened by the exhaustion of the quarry.

The strongest argument for the establishment of a prison at Folsom was the industrial one, since it was anticipated that the granite quarries would be the basis of a remunerative industry. This expectation was never fulfilled, the sales of granite in former years seldom exceeding $10,000 per annum and never going above $21,000. For some years the sale of prison-cut granite has been forbidden by law. If new buildings and a wall are constructed, the employment problem will solve itself for some time to come, but eventually a new industry, or industries, must be found for this prison. At San Quentin the jute mill gives employment to about 800 of the 1,500 prisoners, and runs at a profit, ordinarily, of $40,000 or $50,000 a year.

It costs the State about $250,000 annually to maintain its prisons, and it is desirable that the prison earnings should be as large as they can properly be made, in order that the taxpayers may be spared, but profit does not appear to have been considered desirable when the laws fixing prices of prison products were framed. The selling price of jute bags must be not more than one cent per bag in excess of actual cost, not counting the value of convict labor, and macadam rock is to be sold at not more than ten per cent above the cost of production. The price actually charged is thirty cents per ton. A valid objection to this policy is that it renders it impossible to afford prisoners an opportunity to earn a little money on their own account, which they may save and receive when they are discharged, and thus go out with some experience of the habits of voluntary industry and thrift.

It seems probable that the best solution of the prison labor problem will be found in the New York system of manufacturing necessary articles for State institutions, whereby employment can be diversified, and at the same time direct competition with free labor be avoided.

WHITTIER AND PRESTON SCHOOLS.

These two schools constitute the present reformatory institutions of California, as distinguished from the penal. There is some increase in numbers of the youths committed, but not out of proportion to the numerical increase of the population of the State. Indeed, we may look with hopeful anticipation to a decrease in the number of commitments as our systems of juvenile courts, detention homes, and probation officers become more generally and efficiently organized. The aim of those in authority, and especially of parents, should be to keep children away from such institutions rather than to encourage their commitment. The best place for an erring, if not incorrigible or criminal, lad or lass is in the paternal home, or, lacking this, in the home of some reputable citizen possessed of a rugged will accompanied by reasonable forbearance. There are few higher claims which considerations of humanity impose upon good citizenship than that of redeeming to honorable and fruitful living our wayward youths and children.

If California is to perform this service collectively it must adequately capitalize and equip the institutions established for that purpose. This has not been fully done. The schools at both Ione and Whittier are inadequately supplied with teachers and apparatus, and it is my judgment that both of these schools should be made essentially agricultural in theory and in practice. It would be possible on the school farms as they now exist, with the proper instructors and equipment, to teach the lads committed to them at least the elements of scientific agriculture, including dairying, poultry-raising, fruit-growing, and market-gardening, and to these ends the industrial features should mainly tend. I believe that the most fortunate results would attend such a policy, but some additional means will be required to carry it out.

In relation to the redemption of wayward girls, I can not speak with so much confidence. That problem is essentially different from the reclamation of a wayward boy, and I am not sure that a public institution can bring to bear upon the subject in hand all those personal influences which make for the salvation of those under its charge. It may be that a better way would be to commit such young women to benevolent institutions provided for that purpose, choice to be made in the discretion of the court, the expense to be borne by State and county as now, such institutions to be subjected to State and judicial inspection. The expense to the taxpayers would be one half less per capita than at present, and the results are not unlikely to be more fortunate.

In the event of such a course being found advisable, the buildings now constituting the Girls' School at Whittier could be made available for boys of a certain grade, thereby facilitating a much needed further gradation and distribution of the boys with regard to their ages and degrees of delinquency.

Investigations at Whittier.—In the performance of its duties the State Board of Charities and Corrections recently made some investigations into the management of Whittier State School and reported its conclusions regarding certain charges, which I have since caused to be further investigated. I think that I can safely absolve the management from the implication of deliberate intent to convert public property to private and personal advantage, but a most unfortunate and regrettable laxness of method of doing public business has been made manifest in many ways. A seeming necessity, or even convenience, has prompted the evasion of laws and regulations in order that ends which could not be accomplished directly might be attained by indirection and circumvention. It is not a satisfactory excuse that all of these things were done for the benefit of the school, or of the pupils in the school, or that what was converted to private advantage in one instance was more than made good in another by personal service or personal expenditure. It is essential that the laws be obeyed and that those methods of doing business which time and custom have sanctioned as orderly and wise be followed without deviation.

It is not sufficient that a public official shall attend to public business as he would attend to his own. He must attend to public business as the laws require, and guard its details with a more exemplary circumspection.

PARDONS AND COMMUTATIONS.

Appended to this message will be found the list of pardons, commutations, and reprieves granted from January 7, 1903, to January 1, 1905, which are reported as required by law. As there stated, there have been eight pardons, twenty commutations, and fifteen reprieves. In all, two or three hundred clemency applications have been presented to me. Three of the pardons were granted to persons who had already served their terms of imprisonment and were free men when pardoned, the object being to effect their restoration to citizenship, they having shown themselves worthy of it. In this connection I suggest that Section 1593 of the Penal Code, which authorizes the Governor to grant restoration by a simple executive order to a prisoner who is about to be discharged, be so amended as to authorize restoration in a similar manner to one who after discharge has made a sincere effort to be a good citizen.

While the pardoning power is universally recognized as a necessary one, and has been provided for under all forms of government, the extent and manner of its exercise are matters concerning which much difference of opinion exists. In the view of one class of citizens, who usually have had little personal contact with crime or criminals, almost any interference with the full execution of sentences imposed by the courts is an evidence of weakness on the part of the executive, though it might be added that when persons of this class become interested in the case of a single lawbreaker, they become sympathetic to such a degree that they want him liberated at once, and can not understand why the Governor, who probably has received a hundred applications equally meritorious, should refuse such a request.

Some of the substantial reasons why pardons or commutations should be granted come to be understood by those who are brought into direct contact with the problems of practical penology either as Warden, Prison Director, or Governor. It is the testimony of all prison officials, I believe, that an occasional pardon or commutation, if given to the right person, is one of the most effective stimulants to discipline, because it keeps hope alive in the convict and gives him an incentive to good conduct. The same is true of the credit system, by which all convicts for terms of years can abridge their periods of confinement, and the parole system—two modifications of former laws which are among the most important advances in penology in California, although both Acts were severely criticised when passed.

Another good ground for the occasional extension of executive clemency is found in the number of instances in which judges write to the Governor to tell him they have discovered that they erred in fixing the degree of punishment for a crime. There are other instances of simple blunders such as are bound to occur everywhere in the administration of law. One man whose sentence I commuted had pleaded guilty to a felony, though, as was afterwards found, he could not have been guilty of a greater offense than misdemeanor. Again, several prisoners are now serving life sentences in this State because of an error in a statute which said that a person convicted of robbery who should have been previously convicted of a misdemeanor should be so punished, although the same requirement was not made where the previous conviction had been for felony. This peculiar blunder of the statute was corrected by amendment two years ago.

Yet, a Governor can not use the pardoning power to correct all the injustices of unequal sentences, even when their inequality is gross and palpable, though such inequalities are well understood by convicts and are a cause of much sullen discontent within prison walls. It is impossible that a Governor should undertake to review judicial proceedings and equalize all punishments, and more harm than good would result from the attempt to do it.

I have assumed that a conditional commutation, which will be a restraint upon future conduct, is better than a commutation which is unconditional, and, with this in mind, I have inserted in such documents a provision that if the person be subsequently convicted of felony he must serve out the unexpired portion of his former term of imprisonment, as well as his new one. This makes the commutation, or pardon, in effect, a kind of parole. This condition is one that has seldom, if ever, been attached to pardons or commutations of sentence in this State, but I believe the wisdom of it as a deterrent cannot be questioned. That this policy is not unreasonable, or mere surplusage, is confirmed in the case of William Grider, who received, for services rendered on the occasion of the Folsom break, a conditional commutation of sentence. A few months after his release he was again convicted of a felony and sentenced to a term in San Quentin Prison. The confidence reposed in him was misplaced, and he will be compelled to serve out the remainder of his old sentence as well as the sentence last imposed upon him.

AID TO DEPENDENT CHILDREN.

One of the largest, and at the same time most beneficent, expenditures of our State government is that for the partial support of orphans, half orphans and abandoned children. Wanting official machinery for a thorough State administration of this fund, it has been necessary mainly to depend for its proper distribution upon the good offices of the orphanages and boards of supervisors through whose hands it passes. I have every reason to believe that this trust is almost always conscientiously and efficiently executed; and yet this form of administration does afford some opportunity for persons actuated by the spirit of mendicancy to impose upon the State unnecessary burdens.

In dealing with this class of claims renewed efforts have been made, and are making, to eliminate from the roll all claims which represent an attempt to impose upon the public generosity, and I am glad to be able to say that substantial success is being attained in this direction. For the fifty-fifth fiscal year the expenditures under this head were $38,000 less than for the fifty-fourth. This saving represents the results of the investigations made, and new methods employed, by the late Walter S. Melick, Secretary of the State Board of Examiners, and to him the credit primarily belongs.

I am glad to say that, in most of the orphanages supported in part by this fund, attention is given to the elementary training in useful employments of the children, and I suggest to the Legislature that it might be well to couple with the appropriations a provision requiring all institutions drawing from this fund to give to children of sufficient age to receive it some form of useful industrial or manual training, the standard of instruction to be made satisfactory to the State Board of Examiners.

THE PUBLIC HEALTH.

The report of the State Board of Health shows that the health of the commonwealth has, during the year just closed, if not during the whole of the year preceding, been quite free from injurious distempers and malignant contagion. I take this occasion to call to the minds of legislators the urgent need for affording the State Board such added facilities for work as it may require.

I have also to congratulate the State of California upon the cordial and confidential relations existing between our State and Municipal boards of health and the Public Health and Marine-Hospital Service of the United States and the boards of health of the several States of our Union. There was a time when California stood in imminent peril of being universally quarantined against because of the existence of a few sporadic cases of Asiatic plague. Rigid remedial measures have been instituted, confidence has been reestablished, and the business of the commonwealth has been allowed to proceed unhampered. The health of the people within the State and without was in nowise impaired by reason of an incident which, inasmuch as California ports are dealing constantly, directly and increasingly with Asiatic ports, constituted merely one of the drawbacks inseparable from commercial and maritime pursuits. The best safeguard our people can have against serious consequences resulting therefrom is to maintain a fully equipped system for the preservation of the public health and for the dissemination among our people of reliable and timely information.

PUBLIC POLICY IN RESPECT TO WATER FRONTS.

During the preceding session of the Legislature I felt compelled to veto a series of bills intended to modify the law to give railroads rights of way through overflowed and other public lands of the State. I believed the bills as passed did not sufficiently guard the State's interests, and hence acted as above stated, although at the time it was urged on behalf of the measures that as the law stands there is no way in which a transportation company can acquire the right to occupy overflowed State land within an incorporated city, or within three miles of it, to be used for necessary wharves, piers, and other structures. Some time afterward it was reported that overflowed land belonging to the State of California in Oakland harbor was being filled in and that the title might be claimed by a corporation which was understood to be paying a dredging contractor to deposit the spoil on this land.

I decided to ask the Attorney-General of the State for an opinion, and I requested him to make it broad enough to clear up most of the questions involving the State's rights in and control over water fronts. He was asked to state by what means, if any, a railroad corporation can acquire rights of way over property such as above described; also, if such rights can be acquired, by what tenure the land will be afterwards held, besides other questions. The object of this request for an opinion was to ascertain what the law is, with a view to the correction of defects, or the supplying of omissions, if either exist.

After some delay, due to the large amount of legal work which he is at all times called upon to attend to, the Attorney-General furnished me with an opinion, in which he treated the questions asked as relating particularly to the situation in Oakland harbor.

In answering the question first raised, the Attorney-General, after citing various authorities, said:

"The result of all this seems to be that there is no procedure laid down in the codes of California by which a railroad corporation may acquire a right of way for the location and maintenance of roadbeds, tracks, wharves, piers, slips, or terminal facilities over submerged lands beyond the corporate limits of the city of Oakland, which limits are the ordinary low-tide line, and that the only method left for such a corporation to pursue is to obtain a special grant from the Legislature."

If this state of facts obtains as to Oakland, it must also obtain as to any other city or town which is placed as Oakland is, and the need of a State policy in respect to water fronts appears to be indicated. Such a policy should be carefully considered, in order that laws framed in accordance with it may be liberal enough to encourage enterprise and yet conservative enough to prevent monopolization of valuable privileges and to protect the rights and interests of the State in water-front property. Commercial opportunities are beneficial only as they are utilized, and the building of wharves, piers, and docks promotes the general welfare. There should, therefore, be some well-guarded law under which the right to occupy submerged State land, within or near, incorporated cities, for these purposes may be facilitated and regulated.

As the lands under navigable water are held by the State only in trust, for the promotion of commerce, it can never entirely alienate such lands, and it is a question to be determined by the State government what the tenure of the occupants shall be. Some States, like the State of Washington, on this coast, and the State of Massachusetts, on the Atlantic coast, grant leases for long terms of years, and charge rentals. If legislation should be had on this subject, and it should be determined that the leasehold policy is the most expedient one for California, the rentals should not be fixed so high as to deter enterprise. The primary aim should be to develop commerce; the collection of revenue from this source, while desirable in itself, is secondary.

In referring to the filling in of State land by the deposit of dredgings, the Attorney-General expresses the opinion that lands raised above the water by artificial means are not subject to the principle that controls accretion, and no legal title can be based on such act.

PHARMACY BOARD INVESTIGATION.

Several newspapers having published articles making charges that the examinations of candidates for licenses by the State Board of Pharmacy were not fairly conducted, I decided to order an investigation. For this purpose, Hon. John F. Davis, Code Commissioner, Hon. G. R. Lukens, a member of the Senate, and Dr. F. W. Hatch, General Superintendent of State Hospitals, were appointed a special commission, and instructed to inquire, in a general way, into all transactions of the Board. On August 15, 1904, the commission assembled in San Francisco, and began the investigation, which continued from day to day, until August 23d. The members of the Board of Pharmacy, a number of persons who had been candidates at recent examinations, and others were examined, and the report of the committee, with a transcript of the testimony taken, has recently been put in my hands.

In brief, the conclusions reached by the commission of investigation are that the State Board of Pharmacy has served the purpose of its creation by regulating the practice of the profession; that the charges made in the newspaper articles before referred to had little foundation so far as they alleged intentional unfairness or discrimination between different candidates; that, nevertheless, sufficiently strict regulations to exclude the possibility of improper practices at examinations had not been made and enforced; that it is a mistake to maintain the office of the Board of Pharmacy in the building of one of two rival colleges of pharmacy; that it is unjust, if not illegal, to collect, under the name of arrearages, a charge of $2 a year from former licentiates for all the years they may have been out of practice, or practicing in some other State, before they are allowed to recommence practice here, and, finally, that there are a number of amendments to the law which it would be very desirable to make.

JUDGMENTS AGAINST THE STATE.

In accordance with the law which prescribes that it shall be the duty of the Governor to report to the Legislature at each session, all judgments rendered against the State and not theretofore reported, the following list of judgments is submitted, all of them being "coyote scalp" cases:

From the report of the Attorney-General, I learn that a money judgment was finally obtained against the State in an action entitled Lucy Jane Harvey vs. Board of Trustees of Whittier State School et al., a suit which was instituted many years ago and was decided against the State in the lower court. An appeal was prosecuted, and on March 17, 1904, the Supreme Court affirmed the judgment. The action was one for damages on account of the violation of a lease, and the amount of the judgment is $1,035, with interest and costs. I am informed by the Board of Trustees of the Whittier School that there are no available funds from which this judgment can be paid, and that, in the opinion of said Board, an appropriation by the Legislature will have to be made to meet the same.

The only other actions in which judgments against the State have been affirmed are what are commonly known as the "coyote scalp" cases. The Superior Court for Sacramento County, in the year 1902, gave judgments against the State in some forty-six suits—the aggregate amount of the judgments being $212,720. At its last session the Legislature appropriated the sum of $204,610 to pay these judgments, the appropriations to be available January 1, 1905, provided that, at that time, the judgments should be standing, not reversed or vacated, and that no appeal should be pending.

The acts of appropriation passed by the Legislature in this form appeared to contemplate appeals to the Supreme Court, and I concurred in the opinion that the State should exercise its privilege of appeal, as any private individual would be likely to do. The appeal was taken, and was prosecuted to final judgment, stipulations being entered that the other cases should stand or fall with the appealed case. On September 19, 1904, the Supreme Court affirmed the judgment of the Superior Court in the case of Bickerdike vs. State, and in pursuance of the stipulation judgment in the other cases became final. As the appropriations were unavailable until January 1, 1905, the claimants suffered no delay in payment by reason of the appeals being taken.

The judgments which no appropriations were made to pay were for the following persons and amounts:

Abe Darlington	$165 00
John F. Pryor	3,350 00
C. A. Weaver	815 00
L. C. Waite	410 00
E. Weisbaum	2,085 00
N. Weisbaum	590 00
N. Weisbaum	640 00

EXTRADITION EXPENSES.

For a number of years the expense of arresting criminals without the State and returning them for trial has been increasing, while the appropriations have remained the same, being made at the rate of $2,500 per year. The consequence has been the incurring of deficiencies, which recently have tended to equal or exceed the amount of the appropriations.

I have endeavored to impress upon District Attorneys the advisability of refraining from making applications for extradition, except in cases of serious crimes, and upon sheriffs and police officers, acting as State agents, the necessity for rigid economy in their expense accounts. In cases which appeared unimportant I have refused to issue requisitions, and, in a few instances, I have issued requisitions only upon the condition that the arrest and return of the fugitive should be without expense to the State.

At the same time, it would be an encouragement to crime and to criminals not to send for murderers, forgers, and embezzlers who flee to other States, and the expense of doing this is properly a public one, which individuals or corporations can not be expected to assume. I respectfully recommend that the appropriation made for this purpose be increased to $10,000 for the next two years.

INSURANCE OF STATE PROPERTY.

One of the business practices of the State which is of questionable expediency is the refusal to insure its property (with some exceptions) against loss by fire. Because in former years abuses were discovered in connection with the placing of policies, the Legislature passed an Act prohibiting insurance, and it has remained the law for fourteen years. Moreover, the biennial appropriation bill usually contains a prohibition against the expenditure of any money to buy insurance.

Since the enactment of the law of 1891 the State has been fortunate in escaping any very heavy losses by fire; but buildings have burned, and there have been a number of narrow escapes from the destruction of some of the most expensive structures. During the past year one of the buildings of the Preston School of Industry was burned, causing considerable inconvenience, and if one of the larger and more costly State buildings, say one of the hospitals for the insane, should suddenly be swept away, the lack of insurance would make rebuilding a serious problem.

Whether it be wise to continue the prohibition of insurance is a question the Legislature might profitably consider; but should the prohibition be removed, it would be well to require the assent of the State Board of Examiners to each insurance policy accepted.

It may be that the conditions are such as to justify the State in carrying its own risks; but, at least, there should be some provision made to meet sudden calls for funds to make good losses sustained through fire. To that end, I recommend the establishment of an insurance fund to be made up of a moderate sum set apart from the proceeds of taxation each year. The State Board of Examiners might be authorized to invest this fund in the same class of securities in which the permanent school fund is invested, and also to sell these securities and apply the money to rebuilding when fires occur during a recess of the Legislature.

STATE BOARD OF CHARITIES.

The State Board of Charities and Corrections, which was created by the last Legislature, and given investigative and advisory authority, entered upon the discharge of its duties eighteen months ago. The members accepted the theory, as stated in their report, that their relations toward the various State institutions should be those of assistance and cooperation, rather than of criticism, and such shortcomings as they have discovered they attribute to inadequate facilities or other unpropitious conditions more than to the remissness of boards of directors or officers. A number of important recommendations for the improvement of the prisons and the Whittier and Preston schools have been made and may be found in their biennial report.

All of the county jails have been inspected by members of the board, and the discovery is reported that in many counties the State laws with respect to separate rooms for the confinement of different classes of prisoners, of children and adults, and of men and women, are being violated. On the other hand, the county hospitals, which, also, have been visited, are found to be in better shape and generally serve very well the purpose for which they were created, although these hospitals are not all equally good, and in many there is much room for improvement.

A census of the inmates of jails, hospitals, and infirmaries was made January 1, 1904, and another July 1 of the same year. It was found that at the date first mentioned the jails contained 1,686 persons, while six months later the number had been reduced to 1,256. This marked difference between the winter population of the jails, and that of the summer, emphasizes the conclusion announced by the board that some form of work ought to be found for county jail prisoners.

Of unfortunates condemned by poverty or old age and sickness to be inmates of hospitals and infirmaries, there are no less than 4,042 in the State, and they are divided between custodial and hospital cases in about the proportion of two to one.

THE CAPITOL AND THE ARCHIVES.

In the report of the Secretary of State attention is called to the necessity for making an appropriation which will render it possible to execute some of the needed repairs to the State Capitol. This is a noble building, and a great credit to earlier generations of Californians, but in its plumbing and heating systems it is sadly antiquated, besides being out of repair in a good many ways. The report of the State Board of Health declares the present condition of the building dangerous to the health of its inmates.

I wish also to indorse the suggestion of the Secretary of State that better facilities for the keeping and proper arrangement of the archives are urgently needed.

LABOR AND OTHER STATISTICS.

In the biennial report presented by the Commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics will be found industrial and social data of a good deal of interest. It is shown, on the evidence of the figures of the last census, that the number of the unem-played is smaller in this State than the average in the country at large. In the cities there has been during the past several years a general shortening of the working day for mechanics and several other classes of employes, with an increase in pay. The number of women and children who are breadwinners is increasing in California as well as elsewhere, although the proportion of this class of workers is smaller than in other parts of the country. Labor organizations have increased rapidly during the last two years, and include now more than eight hundred unions, whose membership is estimated to be over 100,000.

A special report on workingmen and university education shows that the number of students in the University of California who are sons or daughters of wage-earners is large and that these students make a fine showing; they comprise 20 per cent of the intrants, 26 per cent of the graduates, and 32 per cent of the honor men.

I recommend that the scope of the statistical work done by this Bureau be enlarged sufficiently to enable it to collect statistics of marriage and divorce and also of crimes, which could be accomplished at small expense, by requiring the coöperation of county and city officers.

HORTICULTURAL INTERESTS.

I am glad to be able to say that the new Horticultural Commission law, which received my approval March 25, 1903, has proven effective for the purposes intended, and, with some possible additions of power and resource, bids fair to continue to meet all reasonable requirements.

Perhaps the most important horticultural fact yet brought to light is that predaceous insects, while in their native habitat and attended by their natural adversaries, are never or seldom so injurious to plant life as to make any form of husbandry unprofitable. It is only when one insect is imported without the company of its natural enemy that the balance of nature is disturbed and injury is inflicted upon agricultural and horticultural production.

To such advantage has this fact been employed in California, and mainly through the assiduous efforts of the State horticultural office, that the once dreaded San José scale is now rendered almost powerless for evil and the various forms of orange scale are fast disappearing from the orchards. It is a reasonable estimate that the Scutellista cyanea, which is cleaning the trees of black scale, has proven itself worth a round million dollars to our commonwealth, and it is hardly too much to say that the Vedalia cardinalis rescued the great citrus fruit industry from imminent danger of destruction through the cottony cushion scale.

Through an arrangement effected by the Horticultural Commissioner with the government of West Australia, Mr. George Compere, the entomologist, was sent, during the past year, upon an extended journey in South America, Europe, and Asia Minor, at the joint expense of these two States. His principal mission, so far as this State is concerned, was to discover a parasite of the codling moth, an insect so destructive that it has been estimated it takes annually forty per cent of the pear and apple crops. Mr. Compere thinks he has found parasites which will destroy the codling moth, and he has sent to Commissioner Ellwood Cooper colonies of these insects, which are now being bred and will be placed in the orchards next season. If the results hoped for are secured, every dollar expended in this enterprise will be returned a thousand-fold.

The citrus industry being now menaced by the threatened introduction of the Morelos orange-maggot, which infests the orange-growing districts of Mexico, the importation of the fruit from that country has been prohibited. But since this does not entirely remove the danger that the pest may be brought in, it is proposed that California shall coöperate with Mexico with a view to discovering some means of combating the insect in the Mexican orchards.

OUR MINING INTERESTS.

An industry that has added to the wealth of the State an aggregate value of $418,851,853 in seventeen years, should not lose its proper place in the consideration of the people of the commonwealth or the Legislature which represents them. California is not only rich in precious metals, but in other mineral products of equal, if not of greater, value, and our State is so rich in all these that the exploitation of them thus far has, with the exception of placer mining, left them comparatively untouched. With the completion of the new mining building at the State University it is to be hoped that more young men of spirit and enterprise will have their attention attracted to mining as a life work and to California as a proper field for the exercise of their powers, however great they may prove to be. There are hard problems still to solve, but it can not be doubted that ways will be found for extracting the precious metals from their hiding places without rendering arable areas, upon which humanity must depend for its food supply until time shall be no more, unfitted for human habitation.

PRINTING STATE REPORTS.

The State Controller has submitted the recommendation that a certain sum shall be appropriated and placed at the disposal of the State Board of Examiners to be expended in printing the reports of boards, commissions, and officers whose publication has not been otherwise provided for. It appears to be necessary either to do this, or to make separate appropriations for general printing and for publication of reports for the boards and officers referred to, since under the existing conditions some of them are unable to have their reports printed in the State Printing Office until deficiency appropriations have been made for them. It would be most unwise, however, to go back to the old practice of making a lump sum appropriation for all State printing, because the present plan of making separate appropriations for each office, as recommended by Governors Budd and Gage, has proved to be much more economical.

RIVER CONTROL AND RECLAMATION.

One of the matters of greatest magnitude which the Legislature will be called upon to consider is that of control of the floods of the Sacramento River and its tributaries and the reclamation of the basin lands. Fully twenty millions of money, public and private, have already been expended to accomplish this object, but the results have been unsatisfactory, and in recent years the opinion has been growing that the solution of the problem could be found only in a comprehensive system of channel development and bank protection, such as is beyond the power of accomplishment by land-owners acting individually or through the local district organizations. The previously gradual development of this sentiment received a great impetus from the disasters of last spring, when river floods occurred which inflicted a damage amounting to several millions of dollars and demonstrated the need of a unified public control of the levee system.

Almost before the full extent of the damage had been ascertained, the owners of river lands, manifesting their usual indomitable spirit, held a convention, formed an association, and enlisted the coöperation of the commercial organizations. Out of this movement there eventually came the employment by the Commissioner of Public Works of three eminent engineers, Messrs. T. G. Dabney of Mississippi, H. B. Richardson of Louisiana, and H. M. Chittenden of the United States Army, who, with Mr. M. A. Nurse, were constituted a board to study the whole problem and report a plan of relief. The report, which has recently been submitted, is an able document, and shows great boldness in its conception of a system of control of the rivers.

In its analysis of the causes of the floods the report demonstrates that the immediate cause, though not the primary one, is the inadequacy of the channel of the middle and lower river to carry off the floods poured in from above and from both sides. The most striking proof offered of this is the fact that at Iron Cañon, near Red Bluff, the channel capacity of the river is equal to 200,000 cubic feet per second, while at Collinsville, near its mouth, the maximum flood flow is but 165,000 cubic feet. The primary cause of the channel conditions before mentioned is, of course, the topography of the valley, which from Stony Creek down to Suisun Bay offers such a very gradual descent that the river, unaided by sufficient levees, does not cut a deep channel, as it does nearer its source. In times of high floods the channel from Stony Creek southward has always been insufficient to carry all of the water, and in recent times there has been a serious channel deterioration from the mouth of Feather River to the bay. At all times the river, in flood periods, has relieved itself of surplus waters by discharging them over the banks, or through sloughs, into the depressed areas, called basins, by which it is bounded on both sides.

The basic principle of the plan of relief suggested is concentration, in order that channel improvement may be secured, and the means by which concentration is to be obtained consist, in large part, of levee construction. Not only is the Sacramento River, throughout its course from Stony Creek to Collinsville, to be leveed, but also the Feather, Yuba, Bear, and American rivers and other tributaries are to be so treated. Even the small creeks are to be lined with levees, and the hill drainage is to be collected and carried off in canals. Through the great basins there are to extend waterways for drainage, and during the period when the channel improvement is being effected, these waterways will operate as by-passes to receive and carry away the spill from the river. An essential feature of the project is cutting off bends and straightening the river between the mouth of the Feather and the city of Colusa, it being proposed to reduce the present length of this part of the stream, which is almost seventy miles, to forty-seven miles. In order to increase the scour of the river in its lower reaches, it is proposed to close the sloughs through which a part of the discharge now enters the San Joaquin. To make this safe, there must first be created below Rio Vista a channel capacity of 250,000 second feet.

Such are the general outlines of the plan of relief now proposed, which in its main features agrees fairly well with the conclusions reached by other commissions and engineers. The members of the present commission testify to the value of the work performed by their predecessors, and admit that without the data previously collected they could not have prepared this report. They add that before the details of the project now submitted can be worked out it will be necessary to make many new surveys and arrive at accurate determinations concerning a number of minor problems.

The estimate of cost, made on a liberal basis, is $23,776,022. While this is a very large amount of money, the advantages to be derived from the successful execution of the enterprise would be so vast that the price to be paid is relatively small. In times of extreme flood 1,700 square miles, or more than 1,000,000 acres, of fertile lands are flooded, and of this area 750,000 acres now have comparatively small values, because they can not be safely cultivated. If absolutely protected from floods this area would be made worth, at a conservative valuation, from $50,000,000 to $75,000,000, and an additional area of 250,000 acres, now protected against ordinary floods, would be largely enhanced in value. Therefore, the permanent reclamation of this vast extent of overflowed lands, assuming it could be accomplished at an expense of $24,000,000, would be the most profitable kind of business undertaking. It would create a great amount of new wealth, add to the productive power of the State, and cause a large increase of population.

To accomplish these grand results seems to require the coöperation of the State and United States governments, combined with a large degree of public spirit and private enterprise on the part of the individuals who will be most directly affected. Such extensive changes in the regimen of the Sacramento River as are proposed may not be made except the assent of the United States Government is first secured, and presumably that will not be given until the whole project has first been reviewed and approved by a board of Federal engineers organized for the purpose. It would, therefore, be well, I think, for the Legislature to take action looking to the appointment, by the proper authority, of such a board, which would naturally be composed of eminent engineers, whose conclusions would constitute a valuable check upon the work of the State's commission. If the theories and estimates of the latter should be sustained and verified, there would be added confidence felt in the practicability of the enterprise on the lines which have been laid down. At the same time, such a Federal commission would lay the foundation on which an appeal could be made to Congress for aid in executing the work.

The benefits which the State will derive from the improvement of the river and the reclamation of 1,700 square miles of fertile land are so great that it will be sound public policy for it to assist in every way in which it can do so. But in what manner it can best act is a question calling for thorough and intelligent consideration before a decision is reached. The loan of the State's credit to assist the work of a great reclamation district, as well as a liberal appropriation of money to aid in the river improvement, has been suggested, but I feel that the subject has not yet been sufficiently discussed to render it possible to make a positive recommendation. But in view of the vast amount of new wealth which will be created, the land itself will naturally be called upon to assume a burden of expense, and, so far as possible, in just proportion to the increment of values.

GEO. C. PARDEE, Governor.

APPENDIX A.

LIST OF PARDONS, COMMUTATIONS, AND REPRIEVES.

During the period between January 7, 1903, and January 1, 1905, I have exercised executive clemency in forty-three cases, of which eight were pardons, twenty commutations of sentence and fifteen reprieves of sentence. Of the eight pardon cases, three were merely executive orders of restoration to citizenship to persons who had served out their full terms in prison some time previous to my action, but who had not obtained an order restoring them to citizenship. In two other cases of pardon the prisoners were clearly not guilty of the crime for which they were imprisoned. Two more were issued for meritorious service at the time of the outbreak of prisoners at Folsom, and one represents a case of insanity where the condition attached was that the prisoner should be removed from the State and remain therefrom.

Of the twenty commutations, six were granted on account of excessive sentences; two were cases of insane Chinese convicts and were granted upon condition that they be deported to China; four were issued for services on the occasion of the Folsom outbreak; two were granted because the prisoners were shown not to be guilty of the crimes for which they were imprisoned. The other cases of commutation stand upon distinct grounds which are set forth in the synopsis below.

Six persons, as I have before stated, were extended executive clemency for services on the occasion of the outbreak of prisoners at Folsom Prison in the month of July, 1903. The facts of each case were carefully investigated by the State Board of Prison Directors, who transmitted their findings to me with the recommendation that the prisoners named therein be released in recognition of, and as a reward for, the valuable aid rendered by them, and for the disciplinary effect of such releases upon the general body of prisoners. Each order of release was granted upon the condition that the same should become void if, after his discharge, the prisoner shall be convicted of any felony, and that in such event he should serve the remainder of his unexpired term in addition to the sentence received upon such subsequent conviction. The prisoners so released upon the recommendation of the Prison Directors are:

1. John Martinez, conditionally pardoned October 16, 1903. He was committed from Los Angeles County in 1895, having been convicted of the crime of rape, and sentenced for a term of twenty years. On the occasion of the outbreak, Martinez went to the assistance of Gatekeeper Chalmers when the latter was assaulted by the escaping convicts, and shut and locked the "outer gate" and put the key in his pocket. He then rang the alarm bell. He also rendered valuable assistance to the wounded prison officials, Guard Cotter and Turnkey Cochrane.

2. Joseph Casey, conditionally pardoned October 16, 1903, was committed from Colusa County in 1890, having been convicted of the crime of murder in the first degree, and sentenced to life imprisonment. It appears from the report of the Prison Directors that for twelve years continuously Casey had been in charge of the "inner gate," and that during this period he had never been absent a day from his post of duty. At the time of the outbreak, Casey, in the face of some five hundred advancing convicts, closed and locked the "inner gate," thus, in the language of the report of the Prison Directors, "preventing what might have been a general prison delivery."

3. Oliver C. Clark, granted a conditional commutation of sentence October 16, 1903. He was committed from San Francisco in 1896, having been convicted of the crime of forgery and sentenced for a term of twenty years. Clark gave a general alarm of the outbreak. He also telephoned immediately to Folsom for extra medical assistance, whereby the life of Turnkey Cochrane was probably saved, and he rendered other valuable services to the wounded prison officials. As required by law in the case of persons more than once convicted of felony, a majority of the Justices of the Supreme Court approved and recommended the release of said Clark.

4. Wm. H. Grider, granted a conditional commutation of sentence October 16, 1903. He was committed from San Joaquin County in May, 1903, having been convicted of burglary in the second degree and sentenced for a term of five years. Just previous to the occurrence of the outbreak of prisoners at the said prison, said Grider endeavored in every way possible to impart to the prison authorities knowledge of the contemplated outbreak, which knowledge had come to him by reason of his being a cell-mate of convict Eldridge, one of the ringleaders in the outbreak. He was prevented by fellow-convicts from so imparting said knowledge in time to prevent the outbreak, but he did impart it to a prison official a few minutes before the actual outbreak. Grider being a second-termer, a majority of the Justices of the Supreme Court approved and recommended his release from prison. As before stated, Grider was convicted of felony soon after his release, thereby violating the condition of his commutation, and he will therefore be compelled to serve the remainder of his unexpired term in addition to the sentence imposed for his last offense.

5. Charles Abbott, granted a conditional commutation of sentence October 16, 1903. He was committed from San Francisco in 1883, having been convicted of the crime of murder in the first degree and given a life sentence. Abbott went to the aid of the prison officials who were attacked and wounded, and by his prompt action helped to save the life of Turnkey Cochrane. It also appeared that Abbott had served twenty years of his sentence, and in the language of the Prison Directors, "He has been a model prisoner, has worked exceedingly hard for the benefit of the State, and has never shirked any work assigned to him during the last ten years."

6. Porfirio Alviso, granted a conditional commutation of sentence December 2, 1904. He was committed from San Luis Obispo County in 1895, having been convicted of robbery and sentenced for a term of fifteen years. Alviso communicated information of the outbreak before the same occurred, but it was delayed in transmission, and was not received by the prison officials until shortly after the break. The Prison Board say: "We feel that under the circumstances Alviso did all in his power to aid the officers, and to prevent the disastrous results that followed, and that he is fully deserving of consideration at your hands." At the time of his release, Alviso had served all but a few months under his sentence of fifteen years.

PARDONS.

In addition to the pardons mentioned above, the following pardons were granted:

John M. Herbert, pardoned July 6, 1903. He was committed from Fresno County in 1884, having been convicted of robbery and sentenced for a term of twenty years. He served out his term, but, upon his discharge, did not obtain a restoration to citizenship. It was to remedy this omission that the pardon was granted, and satisfactory evidence was produced showing that since his release he had been a respectable, law-abiding citizen, and that he had inherited a large estate which he desired to manage without any doubt as to his civil competency so to do.

Bernard McQuaid, pardoned August 25, 1903. He was committed from Yuba County in November, 1900, having been convicted of robbery and sentenced for a term of five years. In April, 1902, McQuaid was adjudged insane and was transferred to the State Hospital at Ukiah. It was certified by Dr. E. W. King, Superintendent at said hospital, that in his opinion McQuaid was then insane and was also irresponsible at the time he committed the offense; and his release was recommended by E. A. Davis and E. P. McDaniel, the Judge and District Attorney respectively, who officiated at the trial. Upon the guarantee of the father of McQuaid that he would take his son back to Minnesota and care for him, a pardon was issued, the condition being that McQuaid should never return to the State.

John English, pardoned December 7, 1903. He was committed from Sacramento County in April, 1903, having been convicted of burglary in the second degree and sentenced for a term of two years. This pardon was granted upon the recommendation of the State Board of Prison Directors and upon the representation of Judge E. C. Hart and District Attorney Seymour that English was not guilty of the crime of which he was convicted. It appears that English was charged with being accessory to the crime of burglary alleged to have been committed by one Burton, as principal, while in truth, as was afterwards ascertained, Burton was not guilty of burglary, but of petit larceny, a misdemeanor. At the time of his pardon English had already served over six months in prison, the maximum imprisonment for a misdemeanor.

J. M. Bridges, pardoned December 15, 1903, to effect a restoration to citizenship. Bridges was committed from Fresno County in July, 1898, having been convicted of receiving stolen property, and sentenced for a term of four years. He was discharged from the prison on July 8, 1901, having earned the full allowance of credits. Upon a showing that his prison record was good and that he had, since his discharge, lived as a respectable, law-abiding citizen, the pardon was granted.

Walter H. Williams, pardoned February 2, 1904. He was convicted in Santa Clara County in September, 1903, of a misdemeanor, viz.: defrauding an innkeeper, and was sentenced to the county jail for a term of six months. Williams was convicted without trial upon a plea of guilty, being without advice of counsel or friends, and being ignorant of his rights. It was represented by S. F. Leib and M. H. Hyland, Judges of the Superior Court, and by James H. Campbell, District Attorney, that under the facts of the case there was clearly no intent to defraud any one, and that Williams was not guilty of the crime charged. These facts were also admitted by Mrs. Josephine Meyer, the prosecuting witness.

Thomas Griffin, pardoned July 27, 1904, by Lieutenant-Governor Anderson, the Acting Governor, in order to effect a restoration to citizenship. He was committed from Contra Costa County in August, 1897, having been convicted of attempt to rape and sentenced for a term of five years. He was discharged on March 21, 1901, having earned the credits allowed by law for good conduct in prison. It was satisfactorily shown that since his discharge Griffin had led an industrious and exemplary life at his home in Contra Costa County.

COMMUTATIONS OF SENTENCE.

In addition to the commutations of sentence mentioned as having been granted for services rendered at the outbreak of prisoners at Folsom, the following were also issued:

Sindia Chipp, an Indian woman, whose term was commuted to cease November 16, 1903. She was committed from Modoc County in June, 1903, having been convicted of grand larceny and sentenced for a term of one year and a day. The commutation was granted upon the certificate of Warden Tompkins that said Sindia Chipp on her receipt at said prison was pregnant, and, according to the testimony of the prison physician, was expected to be delivered before the expiration of her term. It was also represented by the District Attorney of Modoc County that there were extenuating circumstances connected with the crime. She had served over half her sentence at the time of her release.

Pedro Yanes, committed from San Diego County in November, 1888, having been convicted of murder in the second degree and sentenced to life imprisonment. His term was commuted to expire in December, 1906. At the time of the crime Yanes was but a boy of fifteen years. He is now thirty-one years of age. The evidence upon which he was convicted was circumstantial, and it appears that, if guilty, he was prompted to the act by a momentary impulse, without any previous deliberation or malice, and without a full appreciation of the enormity of the offense, which consisted of the shooting of his employer. He comes from a respectable Mexican family and had previous to the crime been a dutiful son and faithful employé and had during his confinement shown no criminal or vicious tendencies, but on the contrary had acquired a character which gives promise that upon his release he will become an industrious and law-abiding citizen. Hon. Edwin Parker, who was judge at the trial, strongly recommended the release of Yanes, saying: "At the time of passing sentence I reminded him (Yanes) of his youth, and the probable long term of life imprisonment of one so young, and held out to him the probability that if he properly conducted himself in prison he might after a while receive a pardon; and it appears to me that if he is ever to be so pardoned, it should be done now while his freedom may be of some benefit to the community and to himself." The release of Yanes was recommended also by Hon. J. L. Copeland, who, as District Attorney, conducted the prosecution of the case.

Foo Yock, committed from San Francisco in 1881 for robbery, and later in 1883, while in San Quentin Prison, convicted of murder and sentenced to life imprisonment. His term was commuted to expire on December 23, 1903, upon the condition that he should within ten days after discharge be removed to China and never return to the State of California. At the time of his release Foo Yock was an inmate of the State Hospital at Stockton, and was incurably and hopelessly insane, according to the certificate of Dr. Asa Clark, Medical Superintendent. Within the ten days stipulated Foo Yock was on his way to China. As required in cases of second-termers, a majority of the Justices of the Supreme Court approved and recommended his release upon commutation.

Emma Wingate, convicted in June, 1904, in Oakland, Alameda County, of vagrancy, and sentenced to a term of thirty days in the county jail. Her release on commutation was recommended by Dr. Charles L. Tisdale, County Physician; Mortimer Smith, the committing Judge, and John N. Bishop, Sheriff, who represented that she was suffering from pulmonary tuberculosis and that the lives of fifteen other female prisoners who were confined in the same room with her were endangered thereby. They urged that her sentence be commuted so that she could be sent to the county infirmary for proper treatment. It appeared that there was no other room in said county jail to which she could be removed and no other county building within the Sheriff's custody in which she could be placed.

Charles Taylor, a negro, committed from Butte County in June, 1886, having been convicted of the crimes of burglary and grand larceny upon a plea of guilty to four several informations. He was sentenced to an aggregate imprisonment of forty-two years. It appears from the statement of Hon. John C. Gray, who, as District Attorney, conducted the prosecution of Taylor, and from statements of other reputable citizens of Butte County, that the crimes were of a petty nature, consisting in stealing hogs and robbing hen-roosts and other outbuildings, and that the punishment imposed was, perhaps, due to an inflamed public mind, growing out of a succession of grave crimes committed in the community. The State Board of Prison Directors, by resolution, recommended the release of Taylor, and they were joined by a majority of the Justices of the Supreme Court. Taylor had served in expiration of his offenses a term equivalent to a sentence of twenty-three years. He was released April 4, 1904.

Lee Chuck, a Chinaman, committed from San Francisco in March, 1890, having been convicted of murder in the second degree and sentenced for a term of fifty years. Thereafter, in 1892, he was adjudged insane and sent to the State Hospital at Agnews. It was certified that he was hopelessly and incurably insane. His sentence was commuted to expire May 30, 1904, upon condition that within twenty days he be deported to China and never return to California. Because of the refusal of the Federal authorities to allow his deportation in the absence of guaranty that he would be allowed to land in China, the above condition was not fulfilled, and the prisoner was remanded to the custody of the Warden of San Quentin Prison, where he is now confined.

James J. Thornton, committed from Solano County in 1891, having been convicted upon an information charging robbery and a prior conviction of burglary, and sentenced to life imprisonment. The commutation of sentence ordered the release of the prisoner on June 27, 1904, and was approved by a majority of the Justices of the Supreme Court and strongly recommended by Hon. A. J. Buckles, the committing Judge, who stated the reasons therefor, as follows: "At that time Section 667 Penal Code was construed by myself, the District Attorney, and counsel for defendant, to mean that where a defendant was convicted of robbery, having suffered conviction for a prior felony, he must be sentenced to life imprisonment. This was probably an error, for reading the first part of said Section 667 it would appear that the Judge passing sentence would be left with no discretion only where the prior conviction was for petit larceny, or for an attempt to commit a felony. However this may be, had I not been under the impression that I must send him up for life, the sentence would not have exceeded imprisonment for a term longer than ten years. This section (667) was repealed by the Legislature of 1903, so that now no person must be sentenced for life simply because he has suffered for a prior conviction. It seems to me this is a very strong case calling for executive clemency." At the time of his release Thornton had served in expiration of his crime a term equivalent to a sentence of twenty-one years.

Douglas Berry, convicted of indecent exposure upon a plea of guilty in the Police Court of Oakland, Alameda County, and sentenced for a term of one hundred days in the county jail. It satisfactorily appeared by the testimony of Dr. A. A. Stafford, Judge Stephen G. Nye, and other reputable citizens that Berry had been a great sufferer from kidney troubles and weakness of the bladder, and that the act charged was committed while under severe physical suffering; that he was an old man, sixty-four years of age, and had never before been charged with any infraction of the law, having always borne an excellent reputation in the community. He had served about a month in jail before his release upon commutation of sentence.

John Bryan, committed from Sonoma County in April, 1896, having been convicted upon two charges of burglary and given two separate sentences of ten years each. His term was commuted to expire July 11, 1904. At the time of his discharge he had served a term equivalent to a sentence of twelve years, which, under the circumstances, was ample punishment for the crime committed. At the date of the crime Bryan was but seventeen years of age. Hon. S. K. Dougherty and Hon. Emmett Seawell, who officiated as Judge and District Attorney respectively at the trial, and other prominent citizens of Sonoma County, strongly argued that executive clemency be extended in this case, representing that a rumor current at the time to the effect that said Bryan was concerned in a still more serious crime which had lately been committed in the community, contributed to the severity of the sentence imposed, which rumor was afterwards found to be without foundation. The State Board of Prison Directors, by resolution, recommended the release of said Bryan, and a majority of the Justices of the Supreme Court also approved and recommended the commutation of his sentence.

Richard Dalton, committed from Fresno county in November, 1901, having been convicted of grand larceny and sentenced for a term of six years. It appears from the representations of George E. Church and O. L. Evarts, who officiated as Judge and District Attorney respectively at the trial, that the crime consisted in the stealing of a bicycle of small value; that Dalton was in an intoxicated condition when the crime occurred; that he did not appropriate the bicycle to his own use, but gave it to a stranger standing near, who later turned it over to an officer; that the severity of the sentence was due to the fact that at the time of the trial Dalton was reported as having been an old offender, while in truth, as was afterwards ascertained, he had never before been convicted of any crime. At the time of his release on commutation Dalton had already served a term equivalent to a sentence of five years, which, under the circumstances, was more than ample punishment for his offense.

Jack Brooks, committed from Fresno County in 1899, having been convicted of murder in the second degree and sentenced to life imprisonment. Brooks's term was commuted to expire in August, 1906, by which time he will have served a term equivalent to a sentence of twelve years. The commutation in this case was granted because it was satisfactorily shown from facts brought to light since the trial and conviction of said Brooks that he was not guilty of the crime charged, although culpable in a lesser degree in his connection with the crime. The crime for which Brooks was imprisoned consisted in the shooting and killing of one Donnelly in the city of Fresno, in a running fight, in which, besides said Brooks, one Rice, a police officer, and one Ardell, also took part, and also fired shots at Donnelly. After the conviction of Brooks, Rice and Ardell were separately tried and were both acquitted, and at said trials new evidence came to light which clearly established the fact that the fatal shot was not fired by Brooks. In fact, the defense of Rice went upon the assumption that he (Rice) fired the shot, but was justified as an arresting officer in so doing. The State Board of Prison Directors presented a review of the facts of this case and says: "The Board, after duly examining the case, is of the opinion that Convict No. 4926, Jack Brooks, is innocent of the crime charged against him. * * * This Board does most respectfully recommend to the Governor of California that he do pardon the said Convict No. 4926, Jack Brooks. These findings and recommendations are approved by the affirmative votes of Directors Devlin, Wilkins, Ray, and Felton." This recommendation was joined in by E. W. Risley, who presided as Judge on the trial of Brooks; H. Z. Austin, who presided as Judge at the trial of Ardell; O. L. Ewatts, the District Attorney, who prosecuted both Brooks and Ardell; J. D. Collins, Sheriff of Fresno County; and by Frank H. Short, who defended Rice.

Turvio Fiorivanti, convicted in April, 1904, in Placer County of assault with a deadly weapon and sentenced to the county jail for eighteen months. The sentence was commuted by Lieutenant and Acting Governor Anderson to expire in July, 1904. This was done upon the recommendation of J. E. Prewett and A. K. Robinson, who officiated as Judge and District Attorney respectively on the trial, who represented that since the trial of said Fiorivanti a condition of facts had been disclosed showing that the assault grew out of a quarrel among Italian laborers at Lincoln, in which many took part and the responsibility for which was not confined to any one person; that Fiorivanti made the assault under fear that his brother's life and that of his own were in danger. It was urged that in any aspect of the case the four months served by the prisoner was more than ample punishment for his connection with the trouble. The recommendation of Judge Prewett and District Attorney Robinson was joined in by F. P. Tuttle, who assisted in the prosecution of Fiorivanti; Charles Keena, Sheriff of Placer County; T. B. Harper, Justice of the Peace, who conducted the preliminary examination, and by A. J. Gladding, of the firm of Gladding & McBean, by whom the prisoner had been employed.

Charles Bird, committed from Los Angeles County in January, 1901, having been convicted of burglary in the first degree and sentenced for a term of five years. Bird had all but served his sentence—the last day of his term being August 14, 1904. He was released by Lieutenant and Acting Governor Anderson upon a commutation of sentence on August 11, 1904, three days before the expiration of his term, upon the representation of Warden Yell that the mother of said Bird, who was residing in another State, was dying and greatly desired the presence of her son.

Natale Rossi, committed from Marin County in July, 1883, having been convicted of murder in the first degree and sentenced for life. On account of extenuating circumstances surrounding the crime and as a reward for his faithful conduct as a prisoner, the State Board of Prison Directors on December 28, 1901, released him upon parole. Since his parole Rossi has been employed by the Novato Land Company in Marin County, and the officers of said company certify that "ever since his release Rossi has led a most exemplary life, has been sober, industrious, honest, peaceable, and law-abiding, and is one of the most reliable and trusted employes of the company. He has sent to Switzerland for his wife, his two sons, and the wife of one of his sons, all of whom are now living happily with him at Novato, California." The State Board of Prison Directors, under date of October 12, 1904, passed the following resolution:

"Resolved, That the Governor be respectfully petitioned to exercise executive clemency and issue a pardon to one Natale Rossi, a prisoner of San Quentin Prison, who has been out on parole for about four years, and whose conduct during this period of time has been such as to merit a pardon."

This recommendation was joined in by Thomas J. Lennon, Judge of the Superior Court; Thomas P. Boyd, District Attorney of Marin County; and George Mason, ex-Sheriff of Marin County. At the time of his release upon parole the said Rossi had served a term equivalent to a sentence of twenty-seven years.

John J. Baker, committed from Sacramento County in February, 1900, having been convicted of robbery and sentenced for a term of thirty-five years. His term was conditionally commuted to expire December 14, 1904, upon the recommendation of Judge E. C. Hart, who presided at the trial of Baker, and of C. W. Baker, who as District Attorney conducted the prosecution. They represent that R. M. Gordon and A. B. Spellman, two hardened criminals, were the leaders in the robbery and that Baker was more a spectator than a participant; that Baker, who was under twenty-one years of age at the time, pleaded guilty to the crime under the name of Spellman to prevent the fact of his disgrace becoming known to his family, and that on this account no effort was made to consider his case separately from the other two. The new light thrown upon the case is indicated by the statement of Judge Hart, which is in part as follows:

"I have since been convinced that this young man bore a very good reputation prior to his arrest upon the occasion referred to. When he pleaded guilty he made no statement with a view of mitigating his punishment, and I assumed, from the fact of his having been found in such bad company, that he was also a man with a bad record, which the officers at that time were unable to learn anything about. For this reason I gave him a heavy sentence. If, after you have investigated the facts, you feel justified in commuting Spellman's (Baker's) sentence, I can assure you that such a course on your part will meet with my unqualified approval. I think that young Spellman's (Baker's) worst crime was in permitting himself to become associated with these men—Gordon and the other Spellman. But I understand that he met them for the first time in Sacramento on the day of the evening upon which the robbery occurred, and it is very likely that he did not know the dangerous character of the men with whom, unfortunately, circumstances brought him into association. Again I say if I had the sentencing of this young man to do over, I would not, in any event, give him over seven years."

The parents of Baker, who are people of respectability and good standing in another State, advanced funds to enable him to return home immediately upon his release, and have given assurance that he will be furnished useful employment, and will never return to this State.

REPRIEVES.

Bert Ross, committed from San Luis Obispo County in November, 1901, having been convicted of murder and sentenced to be hanged on January 10, 1902. Ross appealed to the Supreme Court of the United States; thereby staying the execution. His sentence was reprieved by successive orders of Governor Gage until February 16, 1903, in order to avoid the necessity of having Ross again brought before the Superior Court of San Luis Obispo County for the purpose of resentencing. Because of the prolonged pendency of this appeal I reprieved Ross's sentence four successive times, the date last set for execution being Friday, December 18, 1903. The appeal was decided adversely to Ross, and upon that date he was executed.

Leung Ock, committed from Siskiyou County in October, 1903, having been convicted of murder and sentenced to be hanged on Friday, April 22, 1904. Upon the certificate of Dr. F. W. Hatch, General Superintendent of State Hospitals, and Dr. Asa Clark, Superintendent of the Stockton State Hospital, dated April 19, 1904, that Leung Ock's mental condition was very doubtful, and recommending a reprieve to enable them to make further observation and reach a definite conclusion, I reprieved his sentence to and until January 24, 1904. On June 20, 1904, said medical experts reported to Hon. Alden Anderson, Lieutenant and Acting Governor, that there was evidence to justify further careful and prolonged observation. They recommended that he be reprieved for six months and be transferred to Mendocino State Hospital. His sentence was thereupon reprieved to August 26, 1904, and later, for the same reasons, he was again reprieved to and until February 24, 1905.

Ung Ting Bow, committed from Kings County in April, 1903, having been convicted of murder and sentenced to be hanged on Friday, May 27, 1904. On May 24, 1904, Dr. F. W. Hatch and Dr. J. D. Young, Assistant Physician at Stockton State Hospital, reported that after an examination they believed the prisoner to be insane, and recommended that he be reprieved for a period of six months in order that he might be placed in one of the State Hospitals for treatment and observation. Upon this showing, his sentence was reprieved to and until November 27, 1904. Before the expiration of the last reprieve I recommended to the Warden at San Quentin Prison that the procedure provided for in Sections 1221 to 1225, inclusive, of the Penal Code be employed. These sections provide that if a prisoner under judgment of death is supposed to be insane, the Warden, with the concurrence of the Superior Judge of the county, may summon a jury to try the fact. If it be found that the prisoner is insane, the Warden must suspend the execution and transmit the findings to the Governor, who may, when the prisoner becomes sane, issue a warrant appointing a day for the execution of the judgment. This recommendation on my part was made to obviate the issuance of further reprieves, the experts still being in doubt as to Leung Ock's mental condition. Upon the representation of the Warden that the time was too short to proceed under these sections, the sentence of Ung Ting Bow was again reprieved to and until December 23, 1904. Before that date the inquisition provided by the Code was held, and Ung Ting Bow was found to be insane. The death sentence will be stayed thereby until it be found that he has recovered his sanity.

Francisco Ochoa, committed from Kern County, in September, 1899, having been convicted of murder and sentenced to be hanged on Friday, May 27, 1904. The sentence was reprieved to June 10, 1904, upon representations by the Mexican Consul at San Francisco and by other respectable persons that certain material testimony given at the trial was false, and that the fact that such falsity was discovered so recently as not to afford time to present the proper affidavits and statements to the Governor before the day set for execution. The statements so furnished were not sufficient to establish the contention made, and Ochoa was executed on the day set in said reprieve.

Charles Lawrence, an Indian, committed from Sacramento County in January, 1903, having been convicted of murder and sentenced to be hanged on Friday, August 12, 1904. The sentence was reprieved to October 7, 1904, for the reason that the trial of Charles Padilla, who was charged jointly with Lawrence, was set for September 5, 1904, and it was claimed that new evidence was likely to be produced at such retrial tending to establish the innocence of said Lawrence. The expected new evidence was not produced, and Lawrence was executed on the date set in the reprieve.

William Buckley, committed from San Francisco, having been convicted in April, 1902, of murder and sentenced to be hanged on Friday, October 7, 1904. Buckley's sentence was reprieved four successive times, the day last set for execution being December 16, 1904. The reprieves were granted upon affidavits to the effect that Buckley could be shown conclusively to be innocent of the crime charged, if time were given to prepare and present certain newly discovered material evidence brought to light since his conviction. Each reprieve succeeding the first was granted upon a sworn statement that additional time was required to prepare and present said evidence, although the utmost diligence had been used since the granting of the last reprieve. Before the day last set for the execution, an appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States was perfected, which, during its pendency, will have the effect of staying the execution of the sentence.

Messages from the Governor and from the Senate may be considered at any time by a vote of the House.

5. Petitions to be Presented, with a Brief Statement of Contents.

Petitions, memorials, and other papers addressed to the House, shall be presented by the Speaker, or by a member in his place. A brief statement of the contents thereof shall be made verbally by the introducer. They shall not be debated on the day of their being presented, but shall lie on the table, or be referred, as the House shall determine.

6. Introduction and Reading of Bills.

Any member desiring to introduce a bill shall rise in his place and address the Speaker, and upon being recognized shall present the same. It shall then be numbered and read the first time at the Clerk's desk and referred to a standing committee, and be printed, and a copy placed upon the desk of each member. Every bill shall be read at length on three several days previous to its passage, unless in case of urgency two thirds of the House shall, by vote of ayes and noes, dispense with this provision. The Speaker shall give notice at each reading whether it be the first, second, or third, and no bill shall be read at either reading until the House has so determined by a vote. All bills to appropriate money for contingent purposes shall be presented by the Committee on Ways and Means. The chairman or clerk of each committee of the Assembly shall notify the author of any bill or proceeding pending before such committee of the hour and place of hearing or acting upon such bill or proceeding.

7. Introduction of Bills by Committee.

Any committee may introduce a bill appertaining to any subject coming within its consideration, whereupon it shall be read the first time and placed upon the proper second-reading file. When such a bill is designed to be a substitute for one or more Assembly bills, the bills for which it is such a substitute shall, by a majority vote of the House, be deemed withdrawn, and shall not appear upon the file. Upon the introduction of a bill by a committee, it shall be numbered as a new bill, ordered printed, and placed upon the Assembly file for further action.

8. Disposition of Senate Bills.

When a Senate bill has been received by the House, with a message announcing that the same has passed the Senate, such bill shall be referred to a standing committee; provided, however, that when a Senate bill is received, the provisions of which are identical with those of an Assembly bill which has already been considered and reported by a committee of the House, such Senate bill shall be substituted for the Assembly bill (the latter being considered withdrawn), shall take the same place upon the Assembly file, and be considered as having received the same recommendation of the Assembly committee; provided, that the fact that the bills are identical shall be entered in the Journal.

9. Joint Resolutions and Constitutional Amendments.

Joint resolutions shall be treated the same as bills; provided, that they shall be read but once, and that after they have been reported by a committee; and provided further, that the ayes and noes shall not be called upon their adoption, unless regularly demanded. Proposed amendments to the Constitution shall be treated the same as bills; provided, they shall be read but once, and only after they shall have been reported by a committee.

10. Proceedings Touching Appropriations of Money to be Considered in Committee of the Whole.

All bills making appropriations of money shall be considered in a Committee of the Whole House while on second reading, and no addition to any appropriation shall be made out of Committee of the Whole.

11. Reference of Bills.

No debate shall be allowed on any motion to refer a bill or resolution to a committee. The Speaker shall first indicate to what committee a bill or resolution ought to be referred, and it shall be so referred, unless upon a motion, without debate, the House by a majority vote refer it to some other committee.

12. Referring With Special Instructions.

A bill or resolution may be committed with special instructions at any time after the third reading has been ordered.

13. Order of Making File.

Upon the introduction of bills they shall be read the first time, and referred to committees as provided in Rule 6. When reported back they shall be placed upon the general file, to be kept by the Clerk, as follows: All bills when reported to the House by the committees shall be placed at the foot of the second-reading file, in the order in which the reports are made, and after the second reading they shall be placed at the foot of the third-reading file, in the order of reading; and precedence shall be given in the consideration of bills in the following order: third-reading file and second-reading file, unless otherwise ordered by a two-thirds vote of the House. The Clerk shall post, in a conspicuous place in the chamber, a daily statement of the bills on the general file, setting forth the order in which they were filed, and specifying the alterations arising from the disposal of business each day.

14. Order Making Special File.

The Clerk shall, from time to time, make up a file, to be known as the special file, on which he shall place bills relating to appropriations for the support of the State gov-

If any member, in speaking, or otherwise, transgress the rules of the House, the Speaker shall, or any member may, call to order; in which case the member so called to order shall immediately sit down, unless permitted to explain; and if called to order by a member, such member shall immediately state the point of order. If the point of order be sustained by the Chair, the member shall not be allowed to proceed; but if it be not sustained, then he shall be permitted to go on. Every such decision from the Chair shall be subject to an appeal to the House, but no discussion of a question of order shall be allowed, unless an appeal be taken from the decision of the Chair.

No member shall be allowed to speak more than twenty (20) minutes upon any question, except by leave of the House.

If any member be called to order for offensive words spoken in debate, the person calling him to order shall report the words excepted to, and they shall be taken down in writing at the Clerk's table; and no member shall be held to answer, or be subject to censure of the House, for language used in debate, if any member has spoken or other business has intervened after the words spoken and before exception to them shall have been taken.

When a motion is made and seconded to adjourn, it shall be in order for the Speaker before putting the question, to permit any member to state any fact to the House relating to the condition of the business of the House, which would seem to render it improper to adjourn at that time. Such statement, however, shall not be debatable, and such statement or statements shall not, in any case, occupy more than two minutes.

Concurrent resolutions for adjournment sine die shall in all cases, whether originating in the House or coming from the Senate, be referred to the Committee on Ways and Means. That committee shall report upon any such concurrent resolution not later than the next legislative day, and with regard to the status of the general appropriation bill and the tax levy.

45. Precedence of Motions during Debate.

When a question is under debate, or before the House, no motion shall be received but: To adjourn; to lay on the table; for the previous question; to postpone to a day certain; to commit or amend; to postpone indefinitely; which several motions shall have precedence in the order in which they are named, but the first three shall be decided without debate; and no motion to postpone to a day certain, to commit, or to postpone indefinitely, being decided, shall again be allowed on the same day and at the same stage of the proceedings. A motion to strike out the enacting clause of a bill shall have preference over a motion to amend, and if carried, shall be considered equivalent to its rejection. A dilatory motion shall not be considered intervening business within the meaning of parliamentary usage.

46. Previous Question.

The previous question shall be in this form: "Shall the main question be now put?" And its effect, when sustained by a majority of the members present, shall be to put an end to all debate and bring the House to a vote on the question or questions before it.

47. Questions of Order After Previous Question is Ordered.

All incidental questions of order arising after a motion is made for the previous question, and pending such motion or previous question, shall be decided (whether on appeal or otherwise) without debate; provided, that after the previous question shall have been ordered, ten minutes shall be allowed for explanation of the matters covered by the previous question, of which five minutes shall be given to the member moving the previous question, and five minutes to those opposed thereto.

The previous question shall only be put when demanded by three members.

49. Question Indefinitely Postponed.

When a question is postponed indefinitely, the same shall not again be introduced during the session.

50. Division of Questions.

Any member may call for a division of the question, which shall be divided if it comprehend propositions in substance so distinct that, one being taken away, a substantive proposition shall remain for the decision of the House. A motion to strike out being lost, shall preclude neither a motion to add to nor a motion to strike out and insert.

51. Substitute.

A substitute shall be deemed and held to be an amendment, and be treated in all respects as such.

52. Subjects Different from the One Under Consideration.

No motion or proposition on a subject different from that under consideration shall be admitted as an amendment.

Five hundred copies of all bills shall be printed. The Sergeant-at-Arms shall be required to certify to the reception by the House of all such printed matter, and the quantity thereof.

57. Priority of Business.

All questions relating to the priority of business shall be decided without debate.

58. Reading of Papers.

When the reading of a paper is called for, except petitions, and the same is objected to by a member, it shall be determined by a vote of the House, without debate.

59. Notice of Reconsideration.

On the day succeeding that on which a final vote on any bill or resolution has been taken said vote may be reconsidered on the motion of any member; provided, notice of intention to move such reconsideration shall have been given on the day on which such final vote was taken, by a member voting with the majority; and it shall not be in order for any member to move a reconsideration on the day on which such final vote was taken. Said motion of reconsideration shall have precedence over every other motion, except a motion to adjourn. No notice of reconsideration shall be in order on the day preceding the last day of the session.

No motion to reconsider shall be adopted, except upon a roll call, and it shall require forty-one votes to adopt the motion.

60. Elections by House.

In all cases of election by the House the vote shall be taken viva voce.

61. Calling Ayes and Noes.

The ayes and noes shall be taken on the final passage of all bills, and when called for by three members on other questions, and every member within the bar of the House, when his name is called, shall (unless for special reasons he be excused) declare openly, and without debate, his vote. In taking the ayes and noes, and upon call of the House, the names of the members shall be taken alphabetically, and the Clerk shall enter on the Journal the names of those demanding the ayes and noes.

62. Members at Clerk's Desk.

No member or other person shall remain by the Clerk's table while the ayes and noes are being called or while the votes are being counted.

63. Voting on Question When Interested.

No person shall vote on any question in the result of which he is personally interested or involved.

64. Division and Count of House.

Upon a division and count of the House on any question, no person without the bar shall be counted.

65. Explaining or Changing Vote.

No member shall be allowed to explain his vote or discuss the question while the ayes and noes are being called, and no member shall be allowed to change his vote after the vote is announced from the chair.

66. Call of the House.

Upon a call of the House, the names of the members shall be called over by the Clerk, and the absentees noted, after which the names of the absentees shall again be called over. The door shall then be shut, and those for whom no excuse or insufficient excuses are made, may, by order of those present, be taken into custody, as they appear, or may be sent for and taken into custody by the Sergeant-at-Arms, wherever to be found, or by special messenger, to be appointed for that purpose. In the absence of a quorum, a majority of the members present may order a call of the House, and compel the attendance of absentees in the manner above provided. No recess can be taken during a call of the House.

67. Suspending and Changing Rules.

No standing rule or order of the House shall be rescinded or changed without a vote of two thirds, and one day's notice being given of the motion therefor; provided, that the Committee on Rules and Regulations may at any time, except during a roll call, report a temporary rule providing for the consideration of any bill on the files of the House belonging to either of the following classes:

1. Bills affecting the State government, its revenue, its various departments or commissions, or appropriations therefor.
2. Bills affecting county and township governments, or roads and highways.
3. Bills affecting town, city, city and county governments, or the municipal affairs of the same.
4. Amending election laws.

Such temporary rule shall provide when a bill so selected shall be taken up for consideration, and the time when final vote shall be taken thereon and pending amendments thereto, if there be any.

It shall always be in order to call up for consideration such report. The same shall be subject to amendment by the House.

On the adoption of such temporary rule by the House by a two-thirds vote thereof, if the bill be on third reading, and by a majority vote of the members elected to the House, if otherwise, such bill shall thereupon be made the special order for the time fixed therein.

A rule of order may be suspended temporarily by a vote of two thirds of the members present, except that portion of Rule 6 relating to third reading of bills. A motion or resolution proposing to increase or diminish a standing committee shall not be adopted until the same has been referred to the Committee on Rules and Regulations.

The Committee on Rules and Regulations may also, at any time, report a temporary rule or regulation for the consideration of the business on the file, having regard to the condition of the business of the House. When such temporary rule or regulation shall have been adopted by the House, it shall have the effect, for the time being, of a standing rule, and shall be enforced by the Speaker.

68. Members Absenting Themselves.

No member shall absent himself from the service of the House without the leave of the House, except in case of sickness; and if any member or officer of the House absent himself without leave, his per diem shall not be allowed him; but no member shall obtain leave of absence, or be excused, without a vote of two thirds of the House.

69. Persons Admitted to Floor.

No persons, except Senators, State officers, Governors, and ex-Governors of States, Members of Congress, Judges of the Supreme or Superior Courts, members of the press when accredited by their respective journals, ladies or gentlemen when specially invited by a member of the House, shall be admitted within the Assembly Chamber, except in the galleries, during the session of the House; but a majority may have the floor of the House within the bar cleared of any or all such persons. The Speaker is charged with the enforcing of this rule.

70. Smoking in Hall.

No smoking shall be allowed within the Assembly Chamber during the session of the House.

71. Parliamentary Rules.

The rules of parliamentary practice contained in Roberts' Rules of Order shall govern the House in all cases to which they are applicable, and in which they are not inconsistent with the Standing Rules and Orders of the House and the Joint Rules of the Senate and House of Assembly.

76. Assignment of Attachés.

The Committee on Attachés shall assign the committee clerks and the official stenographers of the House to the various committees; provided, that the Committee on Judiciary and the Committee on Ways and Means shall each be entitled to one clerk and one stenographer, to be selected by the chairman of those committees, respectively.

That committee shall examine bills referred to it with particular reference to the question as to whether there is already any bill in either house of the same character which might be amended to effect the result sought, and generally as to the advisability of introducing the measure.

The committee shall report upon each bill so referred to it on the same legislative day. The report shall be made at the conclusion of the consideration of the Senate Special File.

The committee may, in its discretion, incorporate more than one bill in the resolution to grant leave to introduce, incorporating in the resolution the title of each bill in full, and the roll shall be called upon the adoption of the resolution without debate.

If a division of the question is demanded upon the introduction of any particular bill, the division shall be allowed, and the roll called separately upon the bill.

78. Form for Introduction of Bills.

When a bill is introduced and when printed amending an existing law, the new matter shall be underscored, and portions of the law proposed to be omitted shall be included in brackets; provided, however, that where the subject consists of an entirely new section, the words thereof need not be underscored and that when any bill introduced repeals an existing law in whole, the matter repealed need not be put in the bill.

All bills reported favorably or for consideration, if reported with amendments, shall be immediately reprinted; the new matter underscored and the parts of the law proposed to be omitted included in brackets.

79. Leave of Absence of Committee Visiting Public Institutions.

When leave of absence shall be granted any committee, special or standing, to visit public buildings or institutions, or for any other purpose, such leave shall be granted only by a two-thirds vote taken viva voce, and no expenses or mileage of attachés shall be allowed. No member of the Assembly shall accompany a committee as a substitute for a member thereof who declines to accompany the committee, without permission for such substitution being obtained from the Speaker. Application for a leave of absence for a committee shall be made to the Assembly by the chairman thereof, by resolution, which shall give the name of the institution or institutions to be visited and briefly recite the occasion and necessity for visiting the same, together with the number of committeemen desiring leave. Such resolution shall immediately, and without debate, be referred to the Committee on Rules and Regulations, with instructions to report upon the next legislative day on the same, and whether the leave of absence can be granted without interfering with the business of the Assembly.

Resolution read.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 1.

Relative to levying a tax on grape brandy.

WHEREAS, Commissioner Yerkes, of the Internal Revenue Service of the United States, in his annual report to the Congress of the United States, recommends the levying of a minimum tax upon the grape brandy now used in the fortification of sweet wines manufactured within the United States amounting to twenty-five cents per proof gallon; and

WHEREAS, Undeniable proof has been presented to this body that such tax is exorbitant, unjust, and that in effect it would absolutely destroy that part of the viticultural interests of this State; and

WHEREAS, California is the largest grape-growing State in the Union and the largest producer of sweet wines manufactured within the United States; and

WHEREAS, The viticultural interests, both growers and manufacturers, in all parts of the State have unanimously protested against any measure being enacted into law by the National Congress providing for such tax,

Therefore, be it resolved, That the Senate and the Assembly jointly requests the Senators of the State of California and hereby requests the Representatives of the State of California in the National Congress at Washington, to energetically and unalterably oppose the enactment into law of such an Act, or of any Act having any such tendency.

Be it resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate is hereby directed to telegraph the substance of these resolutions to each Senator and Representative of the State of California in Washington; and

REPORT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE ON STATE PRISON REFORM.

Mr. McKenney, on behalf of the Special Committee on State Prison Reform, submitted the following report:

ASSEMBLY CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, January 13, 1905.

MR. SPEAKER: Your Committee on State Prison Reform, appointed by the Speaker at the close of the last session of the Legislature, in accordance with a resolution passed by the Assembly, organized by the selection of Hon. Frank C. Prescott as chairman and J. F. Carrere as secretary.

The secretary was instructed to gather what information he could about the penal institutions in the other States of the Union and foreign countries, and to examine the data he might collect for any suggestions or information that it might contain that would be of service to the committee in its work. Accordingly he wrote some seven hundred letters and got reports and information about all the penal institutions in every State and Territory in the Union, including Hawaii, except Delaware, the Governor of that commonwealth declining to furnish any information. He also secured reports from Norway, Sweden, Germany, Austria, Hungary, Bohemia, Italy, Greece, France, Great Britain, Ireland, Belgium, Holland, Spain, and Portugal, in Europe, and Japan and all the provinces of India in Asia, Cape Colony in Africa, the several commonwealths of Australia, the Provinces of Canada, Mexico, Brazil, Chile, Argentine Republic, Uruguay, and the reports of a number of international conferences and meetings furnished the committee by the Federal Government through the Secretary of State.

From the American data were compiled a mass of valuable statistics, which are attached hereto, marked Exhibit "A," and made a part hereof.

A careful examination of the reports was made and correspondence was carried on with those institutions that seemed the best managed and conducted, both at home and abroad. The committee also visited the State prisons and carefully studied their needs and requirements. As a result of all this study and investigation, your committee would recommend and report as follows:

"With the exception of some prisons in the South, the prisons and the prison system in California seems to be as defective as any in the country. The accommodation for the prisoners is entirely inadequate and unsuited to the purposes for which it is intended, and, while the officials are apparently doing the best they can with the means at their disposal to manage the prisons as they should be, it is impossible to expect any satisfactory results under existing circumstances.

"In the first place, there is no possibility at either San Quentin or Folsom of giving each prisoner a separate cell. The result is that the young and inexperienced criminals are frequently placed in direct contact with experienced and hardened convicts, with the inevitable result that the novices learn many tricks and details of crime with which they were not before acquainted, learn to look upon vice and crime as excusable, and not disgraceful and to be condemned; and, above all, are in many cases taught the filthiest and most revolting vices, so that they leave the prisons not only unimproved by their incarceration, but many times worse and more hardened and degraded. To prevent vice in prisons is only possible with the greatest care and by keeping the prisoners completely separate, and that is simply impossible in our prisons as they are now built and conducted. No amount of punishment, no amount of vigilance, will overcome vice. The only way to prevent it is to make its commission impossible.

"In the best prisons in the country the prisoners have each a separate cell, and never under any circumstances are young criminals placed with older ones. To give some idea of the difficulties that confront the Wardens in cases of this kind, it may be mentioned that two boys convicted of violation of the Federal statutes were sent to San Quentin and the Warden was forced to keep them in the hospital to save them from the fate that would have befallen them had they been sent to the cells with the other convicts.

"In this connection, we beg to call the attention of the Legislature to the provisions of our State laws, which provide that in the cases of boys or girls sent to the two Reform or State schools, the county from which they are sent shall pay a monthly stipend for their support to the State. The result of this law has been bad in many respects, but in none more conspicuously than in leading judges in many cases to send boys to the State prisons instead of the schools, simply to save the county the cost of paying a few dollars monthly for the support of the young offenders. In that way a blot has been put upon the boy's name for all time to come; he has been confirmed in vice, as we have explained above, and he has very likely—we had almost said unavoidably—been taught the filthiest vices. Aside from the question of morality and decency, such a system as that is to be condemned from economic grounds; for, while the direct expense to the county is saved, the expense that a confirmed and desperate and degraded criminal will cost the community is far in excess of what any county would have to pay for a child in a State school for a few months or years; but, as it seems impossible to hope that humanity and high moral ideas will control when it is a question of saving money, we recommend that the law providing for monthly payments to the State from counties for youthful offenders be abolished, and that the State schools be supported exactly as the State prisons—by the general taxes of the State. So far as the taxpayer is concerned, the result would be the same, and, as far as the reformation of the prisoner is concerned, it would be infinitely better.

"It should never be forgotten that reformation, even more than punishment and confinement, should be the object of our State prisons, and unless that is the first object held continually in view the prisons are failures. Reformation, however, is impossible when the prisoners are not separated and segregated and kept as far as possible in classes by themselves. To send desperadoes and boys to congregate together for years and expect satisfactory results is so absurd that we do not deem it necessary to give the matter any lengthy discussion. We have, however, given the subject careful consideration and we make the following suggestion and recommendations: that the several penal institutions, that is to say, the two State schools and the two State prisons, should be placed in one system and under the direction of one board, with power to change the inmates as necessity arises.

"Under that idea, we would convert the State School at Whittier into a truant school, similar to those in Massachusetts and some other States. To that school would be sent wayward boys or girls, children who ran away from home, who would not go to school, who had committed misdemeanors, whose home life was bad, etc. In fact, the school would be in many respects a State orphan asylum. We think that it would be best to have the institution of this character at Whittier, because the place is very near a large city, is surrounded by a thickly populated neighborhood, and is not suited to a place of confinement for more desperate characters.

"At the Preston School of Industry at Lone we would have an establishment like the Elmira Reformatory in New York State, where first offenders and those who show a tendency to reform can be sent. We have selected the Preston school for that purpose, because it has ample grounds, is far removed from the center of population, and has a good water power that can be utilized in running machinery.

"To San Quentin we would send the criminals who are of a milder type, who are not likely to be desperate, and who can be more easily retrained. We have selected San Quentin for this purpose, because it is near San Francisco and is, therefore, not as isolated and as easy to guard as Folsom.

"At Folsom we would place the desperate characters, those commonly known as 'red shirt men'; the men who are desperate and who require continual watching of the most careful character. No boys would be sent to either Folsom or San Quentin under this plan, but if they had committed serious crimes and had long terms to serve, they would go to Ione.

"With the prisoners segregated as we outline above, and separate cells provided in the prisons and at Ione (dormitories would do for the truant school), the next necessity would be to devise some method of keeping the men all employed, and employed at some profitable labor, all the time during working hours. We noticed that many of the prisoners had nothing to do apparently at both San Quentin and Folsom, and it must be self-evident that such a condition is strongly to be condemned. At Whittier and Ione, too, the industrial departments are ridiculously inadequate for the purposes for which they are intended. There should be facilities at both schools to put every boy and girl at work so that no inmate would ever leave either institution without having acquired the knowledge of a trade which would enable him to make an honest living when he left the place. Ample machinery should be provided and of the most modern character and the teaching should be at once technical and practical.

"In this connection, we would earnestly recommend that the girls' department at Whittier be either abolished, as suggested by His Excellency, the Governor, in his message, and the inmates committed to 'benevolent institutions provided for that purpose, choice to be made in the discretion of the court, the expense to be borne by the State and county as now, such institutions to be subjected to State and judicial inspection'; or, if that is deemed unwise by the Legislature, then that the girls' department be removed to some separate place not in any way connected with the existing schools or penal institutions. The very fact that a boy and a girl have been inmates of Whittier, even though they never saw each other, creates a fraternal feeling between them, and many instances could be mentioned where it has resulted disastrously to both when they have met in the outside world and ascertained the fact that they were both from Whittier.

"The question of employing convicts is a very serious one, as free labor naturally objects to their competition, but, after looking over the plans from different States, we recommend that the Legislature carefully consider and adopt that of New York, where the men are employed in manufacturing supplies for the public institutions of the State, such, for instance, as furniture for public buildings and schools, etc. Of course we do not suggest that the present system of making grain bags or working in the rock piles should be discontinued at San Quentin and Folsom, but those occupations do not give employment to all and it is that all may be employed that we suggest the New York system and its adoption in California.

"In several States there is a system in vogue that seems to have much to commend it, and we call the attention of the members of the Legislature to it; that is, the paying for work that is done by convicts, the money to go to their families if they have any, or to be laid up for them when they leave in other cases. It seems unjust that the innocent should suffer for the guilty and that a man should be able to throw the support of his family on the public by turning thief. In many cases the thief in the State prison is better off, though he is supposed to be punished for his crime, than are his wife and children outside whom he has left behind.

"The improvement that we recommend in the buildings of the State prisons is so radical that before it is commenced a thorough study of systems in other prisons should be made. Looking over the plans given in the reports of the prisons of this country and Europe we notice that, in many of them, the yards for recreation are so arranged that there is no connection between the different classes of prisoners. They live in separate sections of the building, come in and go out by different doors, in some cases eat in different dining-rooms, all connected with one kitchen, and when they go to recreation, they have different yards for that purpose. Such a system as in use now to a large extent in the insane asylums of the State should be adopted in the State prisons. At Whittier and Ione any further additions to the present accommodations should be in the shape of cottages, so that the inmates can be segregated. The cost will not be as great as with large buildings and the results will be most satisfactory.

"If our suggestion for a classification of the prisons is adopted, of course the present system of allowing convicts to say to which of the penitentiaries they would prefer to go will be discontinued, as it should be, but, if things are allowed to go on as they are at present, then some method, if possible, should be devised to do away with this plan, which is a very bad one from many standpoints and which reflects far more credit on the kindheartedness of the judges than on their discretion and good judgment.

"It need hardly be said that, even if the suggestions made in this report so far were all carried out, they would be of but little use unless they are accompanied by a corresponding improvement in the system under which appointments are made to the various positions in the State prisons and reformatories. Politics should be completely eliminated. Criminology and penology are as well-defined sciences as law or medicine, and it requires experience to handle criminals as well as to cure diseases. Appointments should be made only to the lower grades after careful examination of applicants as to their physical and moral characters and their fitness for the places they seek.

Salaries and wages should be on a scale that will permit long and faithful service to be rewarded and promotion for conspicuous bravery to be given. The State should pension at least all of its prison employes injured in the discharge of their duties. It is never a waste of money to encourage bravery, honesty, and attention to duties. Certainly it is not unreasonable to ask that a man wounded and disabled while doing State work should be cared for the rest of his days if the disability is permanent and unfits him for work and making a living for himself and family, and certainly no one would object to caring for those he left behind if he should be killed in the discharge of his duty. That is only common justice.

"In a number of the most progressive States in the Union, this pensioning is a law and works most satisfactorily.

"If the Bertillon system of measuring and identifying criminals was adopted in this State, not only for the State prisons but for the county and municipal jails as well, and the records of all condemned criminals were exchanged between the several jails and the State prisons, it would be of immense benefit in detecting criminals and identifying them. We were informed by the authorities in many States that it was their desire to have the Bertillon system adopted all over the country and Europe and other parts of the world, and the measurements, etc., exchanged so that at least every State prison would eventually have the records of the criminals of the world. If such a policy had been adopted years ago, one correspondent pointed out, many of the criminals whom this country is receiving from abroad would never be allowed to land, and as the statistics which we have collected will show, the percentage of crime in the United States would be very materially decreased. We recommend the enactment of some laws on this subject by the Legislature.

"The question of the punishment of criminals has engaged our very careful consideration and we have examined the system in vogue in other States and countries with much care. We cannot find that the straitjacket as used in this State is employed in many places; on the contrary, solitary confinement, a bread-and-water diet, deprivation of special privileges, and, in England, the treadmill are employed.

"In some of the best prisons the convicts are divided into classes and each class is designated by a certain costume or colored shirt. A man when he enters goes in, say Grade 3; if he behaves, he is advanced to Grade 2, and, if he continues good, to Grade 1. Each grade has more privileges and pleasures connected with it than the lower one.

"If, on the contrary, he misbehaves he is put in Grade 4, or 5, or 6, each being more rigorously watched, each having fewer privileges, poorer food, etc.

"It was our idea that this system would be followed in the grading of the schools and prisons if placed under one system. A boy who was found unfit for the truant school would be sent to Ione and the reformatory there. A boy who misbehaved continually at Ione would go to San Quentin, and an incorrigible at San Quentin would be sent to Folsom. Of course, these changes could be reversed if deemed wise and each institution would have its grades as well.

"In comparing the bills of fare in the California and other institutions we are of the opinion that the State feeds its convicts probably better than any State in the Union, and that means also than any foreign country, for no foreign reports show anything like such pleasant surroundings as our American prisons. To the average foreign prisoner an American penitentiary in any of the Eastern and Central States must seem a palace. While we believe in good wholesome food and plenty of it, prison fare should be of the plainest, and the pleasures of prison life should be reduced to a minimum if there is to be much reformation. The number of persons who go back to prison, even from the meager information contained in the reports, and who go back to the same prisons, show that prison life is not without its attractions to many criminals and that, while they may grumble about the food and comfort offered them while behind the walls, they really do not find them as bad as they pretend.

"The question of indeterminate sentences is also a matter to which we gave our consideration, and we believe that it is a wise provision. Prisoners should not be turned loose on the community when every one knows that they have not reformed and will only return to their evil ways at the first opportunity. On the other hand, when a man has thoroughly reformed, and would become a good citizen if on the outside of the prison, the best interests of the State are served by turning him loose. Of course this can only be determined by those in charge of him and, if men of experience and knowledge in penology are placed in charge of our institutions, the wisest course to be employed in each individual case can be determined. Of course mistakes will be made; they are made to-day in other institutions. People are discharged from hospitals before they should be, patients leave insane asylums and go insane again, and no doubt some criminals would return to their old methods and ways, but that fact should no more be urged against paroles and indeterminate sentences in criminal cases than the mistakes made in the other directions referred to above are urged as reasons for changing the system under which our hospitals are managed. At least every sentence should have a maximum and minimum and should be so arranged that the good prisoner could be rewarded and the bad punished.

"It seems to be the custom in some States not to discharge a prisoner finally until he has gone out and proved himself worthy of a discharge. In other words, he is paroled and must report monthly and is under surveillance for a time. If his record is good at the end of a year he gets his discharge. If his record is poor he must return to prison. The English system of 'ticket of leave' is practically along those lines and works well, it is said, wherever it has been tried. It enables the prisoner to pick up gradually and to know that all the time he is under restraint and must, therefore, be careful of himself and he acquires the habit finally of being respectable.

"The enormous number of young criminals in the United States and in California is so great that the need of reformatory measures is very evident. Undoubtedly they could be reformed in many instances if there was a proper place to reform them, but, if they are too old to go to Ione or Whittier, the penitentiary is their only place and, for most criminals, that means a life of crime for the rest of their days.

"Another matter to which the committee has given special attention is the care of insane criminals. At present those who are mildly insane are kept in the prisons, but, when they become violent, they are sent to one or other of the State hospitals for the insane, causing endless inconvenience and much unnecessary annoyance which could be avoided if there was a place especially prepared for them. Besides, the friends and relatives of the patients in the State hospitals naturally object to having the members of their families associated with desperate and hardened criminals, and naturally the hospitals are not prepared to properly watch and care for that class of patients. In New York there is a special hospital for the criminal insane. We do not think it would be necessary to have a separate institution of that character in California, but we would recommend that an insane ward for criminal patients be erected at one of the State prisons, to occupy a separate building and separated distinctly from the prison proper. The management should be along the lines of the management of the State hospitals, and should be under the direction of the State Lunacy Commission, acting in accord with the State Prison Directors."

Your committee has caused to be prepared bills covering the various points in this report which it will submit to the Legislature for its action.

All of which is respectfully submitted with accompanying documents.

EXHIBIT A.

CRIME AND CRIMINALS IN THE UNITED STATES.

(Part of Report of Committee on State Prison Reform.)

The last session of the California Legislature appointed a committee to study and investigate the prison system of this and foreign countries, with a view of improving the penal methods in this State. As a preliminary to this work the committee has, after much labor, collected reports of nearly all the penitentiaries, reformatories, and similar institutions in the United States, and it is from these reports, numbering some sixty-two pamphlets, that the statistics and data in this article are drawn.

Unfortunately, there is absolutely no uniformity in the methods of compiling the reports, even when they come from different institutions in the same State. Thus, in some States the race of the convicts, whether black or white, is not given; in others, there is no mention of their sex. Ohio makes no mention of their nationality; North Carolina gives no details of their crimes, while in still other States, and indeed I might say in a majority, the statistics are based on one number of prisoners for one class of information, and on another number for another; thus, the age of the prisoners will be given for all those in the prison on a certain date, but the data for nationality or crime are based on the number of inmates received during the previous year or two years. Crimes, too, are classified and divided differently in nearly every State; and the technicalities used are in some cases difficult to understand, even by lawyers, while for laymen they are simply incomprehensible. Thus, we have "assault to murder" and "assault to kill" put down as different crimes in the same report, and in another, "assault to rape" and "assault to ravish" are distinguished from each other. In some States the convicts include prisoners sent up for crimes unknown in other States, as, for instance, "violating the prohibition law" in North Dakota. In those States which have no reform schools, the convicts include children as young as nine years of age, while in others we have reformatories with inmates over sixty. Statistics as to cost of maintenance are of little value, because the systems under which the prisoners are handled differ so widely. In the South the convicts are almost invariably leased out; in some of the Northern States they are paid in part for their labor, while in other sections of the country they are maintained entirely by the State, and get nothing for what labor they perform. Again, in the South it appears to be the system, very largely, to send only the weak and infirm to the State prison, keeping the strong and healthy in the county jails, so as to utilize them on road work. In this connection, the warden of the North Carolina State prison says in his report:

"The population of the prison is gradually diminishing. In 1894, the average number of convicts was 1,234; in 1896, 1,198; in 1898, 1,091; in 1900, 860; during the present year 819. The reason of this is easily understood. Many of the large counties are now engaged in road building, and use their convicts upon this work. Not only is this true, but the strong and robust convicts from neighboring counties, by order of the presiding judge, are usually sent to reinforce these county chain gangs, while the female and the weak, feeble and maimed are sent here to become a burden on the resources of our prison. I am an advocate of good roads and road building, but think this policy is unfair and unjust in the prison management. Every county that wishes to do so, should be permitted to use its own criminals, but it should retain them all, except those who are sentenced for life or for a long term of years. Convicts from those counties that do not maintain a chain gang should be sent to the prison so long as the Constitution requires the prison to be as nearly self-supporting as possible, and the public expects it to be entirely so. I can see no difference in permitting a county to demand and receive the convicts of a neighboring county, and permitting it to demand of the prison, without cause, all the convicts it may need—either the one should be prohibited or the other allowed—and if the latter is permitted the logical and inevitable result will be the maintenance of the prison by State appropriation.

"There is still another injustice in the present plan; the retention of the strong and robust convicts in the counties and the sending of the weak, sick, and enfeebled to the prison necessarily increases the death rate; consequently a comparison of this institution with similar institutions in other States creates a wrong impression and reflects upon the management."

The statistics of temperance and intemperance; the use of tobacco; church membership; the habits of parents, etc., are equally unreliable, unless we are to believe that criminals are largely total abstainers; that church-goers furnish most of the murders and rape in the country; and that thieves, burglars, and highwaymen are largely the children of respectable, law-abiding people. If the convicts' statements of their home surroundings and family associations are correct, there is absolutely nothing in all the theories of heredity and environment, and the best blood under the best circumstances produces the worst result. In the penitentiary at Anamosa, Iowa, for instance, the character of the homes of 387 convicts was "good" in 362 cases, and "poor" in 25. Their fathers were "good" in 368 instances, and their mothers the same in 395 cases. Only 25 had intemperate fathers, and only 8 intemperate mothers; while there were 40 per cent of the convicts who did not use liquor at all. In Kentucky, out of 609 convicts, 397 were temperate, and only 212 intemperate. In Pennsylvania, 36 per cent of the convicts at the Eastern penitentiary are described as "intemperate" and 3 per cent as "occasionally intemperate," while 60 per cent are either total abstainers or moderate drinkers.

The statistics of church membership are equally extraordinary, and apparently very few convicts are not devoted church members, as out of 13,000 prisoners in the various penitentiaries 9,500 claim to belong to some denomination. Probably the figures on the subject are most reliable in the Tennessee report which, out of 1,434 convicts, puts down 1,160 as of "no religion," although three of its convicts are said to be "ministers of the gospel." Its neighbor, Kentucky, reports 312 prisoners who have attended Sunday school and 297 who have not; Missouri has 1,314 church attendants out of 1,674 prisoners. Any one who knows anything of criminals, however, will readily understand that they (not unlike their more honest brethren) endeavor to represent in the most favorable light possible, even if the result is incongruous. At nearly all the penitentiaries there is at least one chaplain, and usually two, a Protestant and Catholic, though the resident chaplain in all cases seems to be Protestant.

In dividing the prisoners by races other peculiarities arise. At Folsom prison, California, we are told in the summary of races that there are 25 "Mongolians," while the detailed list gives 23 Chinamen and 5 Japanese. As the summary names only Caucasians, negroes, and Indians, besides the Mongolians, it is evident that some of the Japanese must be included under those heads. In Texas and Arizona, Mexicans are given as a distinct race, while elsewhere they are included with the Caucasians, although probably by reason of their mixed blood and characteristics it would be more correct to call them Indians, after their mothers, just as the other mixed races, the mulatto, with negro mothers, are denominated negroes in the reports. In New Mexico, Italians are given as a race by themselves.

The data of length of terms for which the commitments were made are of little value, as they vary for the same crime, in different States and depend, besides, largely on the circumstances under which the crime was committed, the penalty prescribed for a given crime by the statutes of the State, and the inclination of the sentencing judge.

It will be seen, therefore, that the greatest care has been necessary to correctly analyze the numerous reports, and compile the statistics they give; and it has only been found possible to arrive at any degree of accuracy by collecting separately each class of information sought, and excluding those convicts from the tables concerning whom the particular information desired was not given. Thus, Ohio is not included in the data given concerning the nationality of convicts; nor North Carolina in the details of crime; because, as I have said above, the Ohio reports lack statistics of nationality, and that of North Carolina those of crime. In all, statistics for 50,790 convicts have been examined; the inmates of reformatories exclusively for juveniles of either sex. Work-houses, and city or county jails are not included in the count; nor reports from the Hawaiian Islands or other island possessions of the United States. Alaska is not included, nor the States of Wyoming and Delaware. Wyoming publishes no report, and Delaware has no State prison, and its officials absolutely refuse to give any information about their penal system; and were the only persons corresponded with either in this country or abroad from whom courteous replies to inquiries were not received. No statistics for Indian Territory can be given, and the data for Oklahoma are included in that of Kansas, prisoners of the latter Territory being cared for in the Lansing, Kansas, penitentiary.

The South has by far the largest number of criminals in proportion to its population, due to its immense number of negro convicts. Texas, for instance, with a population of 3,048,710, has 3,865 convicts, while Ohio, with 4,157,545, has only 1,939, and Pennsylvania, with 6,302,115 population, only 2,369. Georgia has 2,313 convicts; Iowa, with a slightly larger population, only 820. Mississippi and Minnesota 1,035 and 692 respectively; Louisiana has 1,142, Nebraska 286, and so on through the whole list. But of Texas' convicts, 2,192 are negroes; of Georgia's, 2,058; of Mississippi's, 928; and of Louisiana's, 983. Fourteen Southern States, including Missouri and Maryland, have 13,480 colored and 4,704 white convicts, and of those States, Missouri is the only one with more white convicts than black.

In the whole country, out of 40,563 convicts whose color is given, 22,117 were white, 18,050 were black, 119 were Chinese or Japanese, and 270 were Indians, though the latter number would be very largely increased if it were made to include the so-called Mexicans or Indian half-breeds. It may be interesting to add that while the negroes compose only 12.5 per cent of the population of the United States, excluding Alaska and the Islands and States not included in these statistics, they furnish 44.4 per cent of the criminals. The yellow race furnishes 0.1 per cent of the population and 0.3 per cent of the criminals, and the Indians 0.2 per cent of the population and 0.6 per cent of the criminals.

Comparing the number of convicts in the East and the West, the showing is most unfavorable to the Pacific Coast, but the region between the Mississippi and the Rockies has a very small percentage of criminals. California, however, has nearly three times as many convicts as Massachusetts; Oregon has 300 to 187 in Rhode Island, though the population of both States is nearly the same; and if Washington be compared with Maine, the Western State has more than twice as many inmates in its penitentiaries as are reported from the Eastern State, though the latter State has the larger population. Vermont, with twice the population of Idaho, has only 33 more convicts than the Panhandle State, and Arizona has only 25 convicts less than New Hampshire and Vermont combined, while Montana and Connecticut have about the same number. New York of course has the largest criminal population, and Nevada naturally the smallest, although Nebraska has the smallest number of prisoners in proportion to its population, and she is the only State which does not report a single convict received in her State prison for two years for murder.

Out of 39,650 convicts whose nationality is given in the reports, 5,009 were foreign born. Of the 20,731 white convicts whose nationality is given, 4,851 are foreign born, or 23.4 per cent. In the States from which they come they constitute only 11.5 per cent of the population. The principal nationalities were represented among the 5,009 as follows: Austrian Empire, 180; Australia, 37; Canada, 632; China, 104; Denmark, 50; England, 440; France, 74; Germany, 849; Ireland, 613; Italy, 502; Japan, 15; Mexico, 505; Norway, 77; Poland, 88; Portugal, 11; Russia, 253; Scotland, 114; Sweden, 146; Switzerland, 47; Wales, 24.

In the South, as a rule, the number of foreigners is very small; thus, North Carolina reports only 5, Virginia only 1, and Texas only 9; while in New York there are 1,037; in Illinois, 354, and in California, 637. Deducting the negroes, Mongolians, Indians, and foreigners from the criminal population of the States giving statistics for all of those races, you have 15,880 white Americans to 23,247 of the other classes named, or 40 per cent.

In the matter of crime, there were 9,530 convicted of murder or attempt at murder; 3,138 for rape or crimes against decency, and 22,543 for robbery in some form, out of 49,974 convicts, the balance being for various other crimes, such as arson, selling liquor to Indians, etc. Some of the crimes charged are peculiar. Thus, Iowa has a convict charged with "boot-legging," and another charged with being a "safe-keeper." In Kentucky, strange as it may seem, considering her political sympathies, there are 32 convicts guilty of "confederating," and mule stealing is carefully segregated from purloining horses or other live stock. In Louisiana, one convict got in the penitentiary for an offense "not stated," while in Tennessee "Klu-Kluxing" is one of the crimes mentioned, and "white-capping" another, and 108 prisoners were sent up for "violating the revenue law." In Vermont they have very wisely shut up in the penitentiary a man because he was "unsafe to be at large," an idea, however, if it were to become general over the country, would undoubtedly add enormously to our convict population.

In the matter of age, the prisoners range from 9 years of age to over 90. The largest number is between 20 and 30. Out of 39,627 convicts whose ages are given, 6,993 are under 20; 18,805 were between 20 and 30; and 13,241 were between 30 and 60. Only 558 were over the last mentioned age.

In some of the States where there are no reform schools, the youth of some of the convicts is phenomenal; thus, Nevada has an Indian boy nine years of age, and his brother thirteen years of age, sent to the penitentiary for two years for "assault with intent to kill and grand larceny." Arkansas has three convicts under twelve years of age and Florida one of eleven. Georgia has four under twelve and fifteen under fourteen years of age; but Illinois leads the record with thirty-two commitments for life under twenty years of age, two of the youths being only fifteen years old. Illinois includes among her life convicts one seventy-four, and the other seventy-five years of age. Massachusetts has a child under fifteen in the reform school for drunkenness, it may be noted in passing, and Pennsylvania has a boy of fifteen convicted of murder in the second degree. Virginia has two convicts under ten, one eleven, two twelve, and one thirteen years of age. It would seem as though the penitentiary is not the place for children, whatever their crimes, and certainly it is not the place to reform them, and reformation, especially in young convicts, should be more the object of imprisonment even than punishment. Many of the reports call attention to this very matter, and it is a subject that the National Conference of Corrections and Charities should take up and endeavor to remedy. Certainly it is not a condition of affairs creditable to American civilization that children of ten or twelve years of age have to be confined in prisons with adults. The moral results are simply horrible to contemplate; and in one penitentiary the warden wisely kept two young boy convicts in his hospital to save them from the fate that would have been theirs had they been sent where they could associate with the adult prisoners.

Ten thousand three hundred and ninety-five prisoners have been married, and 14,684 were single; while 26,460 had some education, and 10,646 had none.

Forty-two thousand two hundred and ninety-five were males and only 1,569 were females.

In occupation, every profession, trade or calling is represented, from ministers of the gospel to prostitutes, gamblers, and tramps. The vast majority, 6,733, are put down as "laborers." The "honest farmers" number 2,651; the bankers 9; the doctors 21; the lawyers 26; the clergymen 39, of whom Georgia has 16; newspapermen 15, and teachers 33. Cooking seems to be an occupation prolific of crime, for there are 770 cooks in the list, and teamsters also have a large representation, 534; waiters number 466; the printers 98; while there are 348 carpenters and 112 bricklayers.

The reports from nearly every Southern State condemn in the severest terms the system of dealing with the criminal population. Thus, the Alabama report (evidently written by humane men and careful students of penology) has a description of the treatment of county prisoners by President of the Board of Convict Inspectors, J. M. Carmichael, who writes:

"Three fifths, at the least calculation, of county convicts, hired outside of the counties in which they are convicted, are only guilty of misdemeanors, not involving moral turpitude, such as assaults and battery, gaming, violating prohibition laws, carrying concealed weapons, using obscene language and the like. When these people are placed in the mines—white or black—they are worked 'cheek by jowl' with the worst type of thieves, robbers, rapists, and murderers, many of whom would not hesitate if opportunity presented itself, to kill a man for two dollars. This, notwithstanding the law forbids it. Two boys fight together, willingly, in a public place, and thereby become guilty of an affray. They are tried in some inferior court, having jurisdiction, and fined twenty-five dollars, each. One of them is the son of a man of means, and secures the fine and cost, and goes at liberty. The other is the son of a widow woman, and he her only child. She is without means, and he cannot secure the fine and cost, and therefore goes to hard labor for the county in some mining establishment, where, as has already been suggested, he is liable to associate with the worst class of criminals, and possibly loses his life from sickness, accident, or the violence of some desperate outlaw, or becomes a bad criminal."

And the Physician Inspector, Dr. Shirley, says:

"The death rate among convicts must ever remain high, in my opinion, without a radical change in the administration of justice, and the temporary confinement of those awaiting trial in the various jails of the State. The condition of many of the jails in Alabama beggars description; prisoners are herded in them like sheep, with no ventilation, no sanitation, no bathing facilities, and no change of clothing (although they may be confined for months), reeking with filth and covered with vermin; this with food of the roughest and poorest character not only invites but produces disease. This is a mild picture of existing conditions in many of the jails of the State. Those suffering from constitutional and contagious diseases are placed in the same room and cells with the healthy, and I have known strong and able-bodied prisoners placed in jail come out both physical and mental wrecks; in fact, it is no uncommon occurrence to receive a prisoner in the penitentiary who literally brings his death certificate from the jail, and it is further known that prisoners have had executive clemency extended to them because death would have claimed them before they could reach the penitentiary."

The Georgia report discusses at great length and most intelligently the best methods of employing convict labor, especially that employed in chain gangs by private individuals, which the report says is worked "in most cases contrary to the provisions of the law." In Georgia, Louisiana, and Mississippi there has been a great improvement in prison methods lately, and no doubt in a few years the prison systems of the country will be models in that respect both North and South, for, as a rule, bad methods are due to the fact that the public and the authorities have given penal methods no thought or intelligent study, and not to a desire to treat convicts inhumanly or brutally. In many States, prisoners are paroled instead of being pardoned, which seems to be a wise provision, since it continues the restraining influence of the prison on the convict even after he has left its walls.

Another excellent plan seems to be the scheme of paying convicts for what they do in excess of their cost of maintenance, the surplus going to the support of their families, if they have any; if not, it is laid aside until they are released.

The confusion in the character of the reports which makes it impossible to gather full and satisfactory data on almost any desired point, might be avoided if the Federal Census Bureau which has now become a permanent branch of the Government were to prepare forms of reports that could be used by all wardens and other prison officials in making their reports. Penology and criminology are now studies of recognized value and importance, and it should be, and no doubt would be, the pleasure of every one engaged in prison management to furnish all the data possible upon which to base conclusions.

It is very evident in reading the reports that their authors as a rule pay but little attention to what their neighbors are doing in the same line of work. From some of the most progressive States come the poorest reports; from some of the least progressive, the best, though that does not apply to Pennsylvania, which has, not even excepting New York, the best, most thorough and most scientific reports issued by any State. Undoubtedly there is great room for prison improvement, but there is evidently a desire and a determination all over the Union to progress as rapidly as possible. The figures and data given may perhaps point out some of the directions reforms should take, especially the need of stopping, if possible, the alarming prevalence of crime among the young.

To the Speaker and Members of the Assembly :

Your Committee on Rules and Regulations have the honor to report that at a joint session of this committee, and the Senate Committee on Rules and Revision, the following Joint Rules were formulated, and your committee now recommend that they be adopted by the House, and that they shall go into effect when adopted by both Houses:

JOINT RULES.

I—Joint Address to Governor.

When the Senate and Assembly shall judge it proper to make a joint address to the Governor, it shall be presented to him in his audience chamber by the President of the Senate, in the presence of the Speaker of the House, and a select committee of nine (9) members appointed for that purpose from each House.

II—Bill or Resolution in One House, Rejected in the Other, Requires Notice.

When a bill or resolution which shall have passed one House is rejected by the other, notice thereof shall be given immediately to the House in which the same shall have passed.

III—Each House to Transmit Papers.

Each House shall transmit to the other papers on which any bill or resolution shall be founded.

IV—Joint and Concurrent Resolutions.

Joint resolutions are those which relate to matters connected with the Federal Government. All other resolutions relating to matters to be treated by both Houses of the Legislature are concurrent resolutions.

V—Joint Resolutions Treated as Bills.

All joint resolutions shall be treated in all respects as bills, except that all joint resolutions shall be read but one time in each House.

VI—Amendments to Amended Bills Must be Attached.

Whenever a bill or resolution which shall have been passed in one House shall be amended in the other, such amendment or amendments shall be attached to the bill or resolution so amended, and indorsed "Adopted," and such amendment or amendments, if concurred in by the House in which such bill or resolution originated, shall be indorsed "Concurred in," and such indorsement shall be signed by the Secretary or Assistant Secretary of the Senate, or the Clerk or Assistant Clerk of the Assembly, as the case may be.

VII—Bills Read and Referred to Committee.

VIII—Special File.

After the 1st day of February, 1905, the Senate and Assembly shall adopt and provide a special file, upon which shall be placed: In the Senate, only Assembly bills that have passed the Assembly; and in the Assembly, only Senate bills that have passed the Senate. Such Special File shall be taken up at 2 o'clock p.m. of each day, and be considered at least one hour and a half after being so taken up. This rule shall not be suspended in either House, except by a three-fourths vote of such House.

IX—Bills not to be Printed for Engrossment Unless Amended.

Unless bills have been amended they shall not be again printed for engrossment, but the Engrossing Clerk shall use a copy of original printed bill in an engrossed bill cover, and report same back immediately, after comparing same.

X—After a Bill has been Passed by the Senate and Assembly.

When a bill (if it be a Senate bill) has been received from the Senate by the Assembly, after its passage, or (if it be an Assembly bill) has been received from the Assembly by the Senate, after its passage, it shall be taken up by the Senate or Assembly, as the case may be, under the regular order of business ("Senate Messages" or "Assembly Messages"), read the first time, and shall then be assigned to the proper committee, who shall act upon the same as soon as practicable and report the same back to the Senate or Assembly forthwith, and the chairman of each committee is charged with the observance of this rule, provided, that the Senate or Assembly may, at any time, order such bill reported back from any committee by a majority vote.

The Committee on Conference shall report to both the Senate and Assembly.

XIV—Committee on Conference.

In every case of an amendment of a bill agreed to in one House and dissented in the other, if either House shall request a conference and appoint a committee to confer, the other House shall appoint a like committee; and such committee shall meet at a convenient hour, to be agreed upon by the respective committees.

XV—Free Conference Committee.

If the Committee on Conference fail to agree, or either the Senate or Assembly refuse to adopt the report of the committee, it shall then be in order to appoint a Committee on Free Conference.

A Committee on Free Conference shall consist of six members, to be appointed in the same manner as a Committee on Conference.

XVI—When Conference Committee Report is in Order.

The presentation of report of Committee on Conference or Free Conference shall always be in order, except when the Journal is being read or a question of order or a motion to adjourn is pending, or while the Senate or Assembly is dividing, or during roll-call; and when received, the question of proceeding to the consideration of the report, if raised, shall be immediately passed upon, and shall be determined without debate.

XVII—Messages Must be Announced by the Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms.

When a message shall be sent from either House it shall be announced at the door by the Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms, and shall be respectfully communicated to the Chair by the person by whom it may be sent.

XVIII—Secretary, Clerk, etc., to Carry Messages.

After a bill shall have passed both Houses, it shall be duly enrolled and carefully compared by the Enrolling Clerk and Enrolling Committee of the Assembly or of the Senate, as the bill may have originated, and shall first receive the signature of the presiding officer and Clerk or Secretary of the House in which it originated, before it shall be presented to the Governor of the State.

XXI—Enrolling Committee to Compare.

When bills are enrolled they shall be reexamined by the Enrolling Committee of the House in which they originated, who shall compare the enrollment with the engrossed bill as passed in the two Houses, and, correcting any errors that may be discovered in the enrolled bill, make their report forthwith to the House in which the bill originated, stating by whom such bill was examined.

XXII—President and Speaker to Sign Bills.

After examination and report, each bill shall be signed in the respective Houses, first by the Speaker of the Assembly, then by the President of the Senate.

After a bill shall have thus been signed in each House, it shall be presented by the Enrolling Committee of the House in which it originated to the Governor of the State for his approval (it being first indorsed on the back of the bill by the Secretary or Clerk, as the case may be, certifying in which House the bill originated). The said committee shall report the day of presentation to the Governor, which time shall be carefully entered on the Journal of the House in which the bill originated.

XXIV—Daily History of Bills, etc.

There shall be printed daily, by both the Senate and Assembly, a history of all bills, joint and concurrent resolutions, and constitutional amendments, which shall show the action taken by the House up to the day preceding the publication of such history. A regular form shall be prescribed, and no other form shall be used.

XXV—Secretary and Clerk to Keep Register.

The Secretary of the Senate and Clerk of the Assembly shall keep a register, in which shall be recorded every action of the Senate and Assembly on every bill, concurrent or joint resolution, or constitutional amendment.

XXVI—Secretary and Clerk Shall Indorse Bills.

XXVII—Adjournment Sine Die.

An adjournment sine die shall only be made by concurrent resolution.

XXVIII—Dispensing with Joint Rules.

No joint rule shall be dispensed with except by vote of two thirds of each House; and if either House shall violate a joint rule, a question of order may be raised in the other House and decided in the same manner as in the case of the violation of the rules of such House; and if it shall be decided that the Joint Rules have been violated, the bill involving such violation shall be returned to the House in which it originated, without further action. No demand upon the treasury shall be allowed by the Auditor in favor of any officer or other person, or any of his assigns, who is in any manner indebted to the city, without first deducting therefrom the amount of such indebtedness; nor in favor of any officer or other person, or his assigns, having the collection, care, custody or control of public funds, unless the accounts of such officer or other person have been presented, passed, approved, and allowed as is or may be required by law; nor in favor of any officer or other person, or his assigns, who has neglected to make any oath required by law or ordinance, or other regulation of the City Council; nor in favor of any officer, or his assigns, who has failed, to the knowledge of the Auditor, to do any duty imposed upon him by law or ordinance, or other regulation of the City Council. 1. Said notice or advertisement and notice shall invite sealed proposals, to be delivered up to a certain day and hour, at the office of the City Clerk of the City Council, for furnishing the supplies and materials and for work to be done, the materials for the proposed work, or for doing said work, or both, as may be deemed best by the City Council, and shall contain a general description of the work to be done, the materials or supplies to be furnished, the time within which the work is to be commenced and when to be completed, and the amount of bonds to be given for the faithful performance of the contract, and shall refer to plans and specifications on file in the office of the Clerk of the City Council for full detail and description of said work and materials. 2. The City Council shall, in open session, open, examine, and publicly declare all bids, and an abstract of each bid shall be recorded in the minutes of the City Council by the Clerk. The check accompanying the accepted bid shall be held by the Clerk of the City Council until the contract for doing the said work, or furnishing said materials or supplies, as hereinafter provided, has been entered into, whereupon said certified check or coin shall be returned to said bidder. If said bidder fail or refuse for ten days after the award to enter into the contract to do said work or furnish said materials or supplies as herein provided, then the said certified check or coin accompanying his bid and the amount therein mentioned, shall be forfeited to the city and shall be collected and paid into the street contingent fund.

The qualifications of such sureties shall be the same as of sureties upon the official bonds of county officers. The contract shall specify the time within which the work shall be completed, or materials furnished, and when to be completed, or during what time or when the supplies shall be furnished, as specified in the notice inviting proposals therefor. The City Council may extend said time, but in no event for more than ninety days beyond the time originally fixed for its completion, except by consent of seven members of the City Council. In case of failure on the part of the contractor to complete his contract within the time fixed in the contract, or within such extension of said time as is herein provided, his contract shall be void, and the City Council shall not pay or allow to him any compensation for any work done or supplies furnished by him under said contract beyond such sum as, in the judgment of the City Council, the work done or materials furnished are actually worth to the city, less the detriment suffered by the city by such loss of time in the completion of the same. SEC. 36. The Board of Free Library Trustees shall take charge of all property belonging to such library and reading rooms, or that may be acquired by loan, purchase, gift, devise, or otherwise. SEC. 39. The Trustees of such library and reading rooms, on or before the second Tuesday of July in each year, shall make an annual report to the Council, giving the condition of their trust, with full statements of all property and money received, whence derived, how used and expended; the number of books, journals and other publications on hand, the number added by purchase, gift or otherwise, during the year, the number lost or missing, the number and character of those loaned, and such other statistics, information and suggestions as may be of general interest. A financial report showing all receipts and disbursements of money shall also be made by the Secretary of the Board of Library Trustees, duly verified.

REVENUES AND TAXATION.

SEC. 45. All taxes, licenses, fines, penalties, and all moneys received from any source, shall constitute the revenues of the city, and shall be collected and paid into the City Treasury. Taxes shall be due and payable the first Monday in October.

SEC. 46. A general tax shall be levied on all of the property subject to taxation at noon on the first Monday of March of each year. Said general tax for all purposes of municipal government, exclusive of a tax for library purposes, shall not exceed one dollar on each hundred dollars of the assessed valuation of all property subject to taxation. A tax shall be levied on all property assessable for library purposes not to exceed ten cents on each hundred dollars thereof. Also a tax shall be levied sufficient to meet the interest and principal of the bonded indebtedness against the city for the ensuing fiscal year.

SEC. 47. The Tax Collector is hereby authorized and required to collect annually the street tax of two dollars from all male citizens between the ages of twenty-one and sixty years residing within the city, and annually a tax of not less than two dollars from each person keeping or owning a dog within the city, when the same has not been collected by the City Assessor.

SEC. 48. All taxes of every kind shall be a lien upon the real estate of the person liable therefor. Such lien takes effect at noon on the first Monday in March.

THE RATE OF TAXATION.

SEC. 49. On the first Tuesday of August of each year, or as soon thereafter as may be, the Council shall fix the rate of taxes, designating the number of cents on each hundred dollars of the valuation of taxable property within the city. They must fix the rate of tax for general purposes, determining the amount to be apportioned to the street, sewer, and water works funds, and to any other fund which they may establish. They shall fix the rate of tax for the Public Library such as will raise in taxes for this purpose the amount specified by the Board of Library Trustees, not exceeding ten cents on each hundred dollars; they shall fix the rate of tax for the payment of interest and principal of all bonded indebtedness to be paid.

SEC. 50. As soon as the Council has fixed the rate of taxes for the fiscal year, the Clerk must complete and enter in a separate column in the assessment book the respective sums to be paid on the property therein enumerated, and foot up the columns, showing the total amount of taxes, and on or before the first Monday in September he must deliver said corrected and completed assessment book to the City Tax Collector, and charge the Collector with the full amount of the taxes levied.

The city shall have all the rights, claims and liens for the amount of such municipal taxes as may now or hereafter be given or exercised by the people of the State of California, for and on account of the assessment of the State and County taxes levied in Sonoma County.

SEC. 51. It shall be the duty of the Assessor while assessing to collect the taxes on all personal property, when the owner of said property is not seized of real estate in said city sufficient to afford ample security for the collection of said taxes. In all such cases he shall be governed in fixing the amount of the tax by the rate of tax levy for the preceding year. Should the Board of Equalization reduce the valuation for the same year of the property so assessed, the sum collected in excess at said reduced valuation must be repaid to the person from whom the collection was made, or to his assigns. And if the valuation of said property should be increased by said Board, then the deficiency must be collected as other taxes on personal property are collected.

DELINQUENT TAXES.

SEC. 52. On the last Monday in November of each year, at five o'clock P. M., all taxes then unpaid shall be and become delinquent, and thereafter the Tax Collector must collect for the use of the city an addition of ten per cent thereon.

SEC. 53. All taxes not paid on or before the last Monday in November shall be delinquent, and there shall be added ten per cent on said delinquent taxes for delinquency. The Chief of Police shall immediately thereafter make out a list of all delinquent taxes, adding the percentage for delinquency thereto, and shall verify the same with his oath, and shall proceed to advertise and sell the property for such delinquent taxes, costs of advertisement and other costs, in the manner as near as may be (except as to the time and place of sales), as is provided by the laws of the State for the sales of property for delinquent State and County taxes by the Tax Collector of the county. If there be no purchaser for any property offered for sale at such sales, such property shall be sold to the city, and the Chief of Police shall make an entry opposite to such property "Sold to the City of Santa Rosa." Any person may be a purchaser at any such tax sales. The manner of proceeding under such sales shall be as near as may be in conformity to the laws of the State governing tax sales. The Chief of Police shall issue and deliver certificates of sale to the purchasers, and if the property shall not be redeemed within the time allowed by law or by any ordinance of the city, he shall execute, acknowledge and deliver a deed to the purchaser or to his assigns with such recitals as may be provided by law for sales for State and County taxes, or by any ordinance of the city. All deeds for land sold for taxes shall have the same force and effect as Sheriff's deeds and shall be received in evidence in all courts, and shall be prima facie evidence that all of the provisions of the charter, laws and ordinances in relation to the assessment and collection of taxes have been fully complied with. The Chief of Police shall have a credit for all taxes not collected by him on such delinquent list, which he could not by the use of diligence collect, or which shall not be realized on the sales. The Council may, by ordinance, provide additional or other legislation for the collection of taxes or sales of property for delinquent taxes, or may provide a different procedure of manner for the collecting of delinquent taxes than is herein provided. The Council may direct the City Attorney to enforce the lien for delinquent taxes by suit in any court having jurisdiction, and have the said property sold in the manner required by law. The assessment list is authority for the Chief of Police to collect all taxes and to seize upon personal property for the collection of street poll tax or personal property tax not collected by the City Assessor, and to levy upon or seize and sell the property for such tax or any taxes unpaid and realize the money due therefor. All taxes, penalties and fines shall be payable in gold coin of the United States.

BOARD OF EQUALIZATION.

SEC. 54. The Council shall meet at their usual place of holding meetings on the second Monday in July of each year, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day, and sit as a Board of Equalization, and shall continue in session from day to day until their labors are completed. They shall have power to hear complaints and to correct, modify or strike out any assessment made by the Assessor, and may, of their own motion, raise any assessment upon notice to the party whose assessment is raised. The corrected list shall be the assessment roll or list for the taxes for said year.

SEC. 55. Authority is hereby conferred upon the Council, in lieu of the provisions of this charter, or any ordinance, to adopt and accept for the assessment and collection of the taxes of the city the general law of the State entitled "An Act to provide for the levy and collection of taxes by and for the use of municipal corporations and cities incorporated under the laws of the State, excepting municipal corporations of the first, second, third, and fourth classes, and cities operating under a charter framed under section eight, article eleven of the Constitution," approved March 2, 1894, and amendments thereto. The Council shall have power by ordinance to adopt, accept or come under the said general law and amendments thereto, or any law or provision which may be passed by the Legislature for the assessment or collection of taxes; and when so adopted, it shall be and become valid and binding as the law for the assessment and collection of taxes of the city, any law or ordinance to the contrary notwithstanding; and the Council shall pass all ordinances to carry out all of the provisions of such laws; and shall by ordinance provide all things requisite in the premises; and may reduce or abolish any salary or compensation for any officer charged with the duties of assessing and collecting taxes under this charter or under the ordinances of the city.

SEC. 56. Whenever the Council shall determine that the public interest requires the construction of any permanent municipal building, work, sewer, water or light system, purchase of property, or improvements of any nature, the cost of which, in addition to other expenditures of the city, will exceed the income and revenue provided for in one year, they may call an election and submit to the electors of the city a proposition to incur a debt for such purpose, and proceed therein as provided in section eighteen of article eleven of the Constitution of this State, and as provided in this charter; provided, that no bond issue therefor shall be disposed of otherwise than sold for cash at not less than par value, and to the highest bidder after advertising for sealed proposals therefor.

SEC. 57. The city shall be limited in the matter of bonded indebtedness to ten per cent of the assessed value of all property within the city limits.

INCURRING BONDED INDEBTEDNESS.

SEC. 61. If at any time the Council shall deem it necessary to incur any indebtedness in excess of the money in the treasury applicable to the purposes for which such indebtedness is to be incurred, they shall give notice of an election at a general or special election, by the qualified electors of the city, to be held to determine whether such indebtedness shall be incurred. Such notice shall specify the amount of the indebtedness proposed to be incurred, the purpose of the same, and the amount of money necessary to be raised annually by taxation for the interest and sinking fund for such purpose, as hereinafter provided. Such notice shall be published for at least two weeks in some newspaper published and circulated in the city. If, upon a canvass of the votes cast at such election, it appears that not less than two thirds of all the qualified electors voting on such proposition at such election shall have voted in favor of incurring such indebtedness, it shall be the duty of the Council to pass an ordinance providing for creating such indebtedness and of paying the same; and in such ordinance provision shall be made for the levy and collection of an annual tax upon all the real and personal property subject to taxation within the city sufficient to pay the interest on such indebtedness as it falls due, and also to constitute a sinking fund for the payment of the principal thereof, within a period of not more than forty years from the time of contracting the same. It shall be the duty of the Council in each year thereafter, at the time at which other taxes are levied, to levy a tax sufficient for such purposes in addition to the taxes by this charter authorized to be levied.

FISCAL YEAR.

SEC. 62. The fiscal year of the city shall commence on the first day of July of each year and shall end on the last day of June of the ensuing year. The fiscal year shall be designated as the year of our Lord of the first half of such fiscal year.

CLAIMS AGAINST THE CITY.

SEC. 63. All bills, claims and demands against the city shall be plainly stated in writing and verified by the oath of the claimant or some person in his behalf. The items of the claim shall be particularly stated therein. The said claim, unless otherwise provided in this charter, shall be filed by the City Clerk, who shall present it to the Council, and they shall allow or reject the same in whole or in part. No bill, claim or demand shall be allowed in whole or in part unless so made out and verified. No action shall be commenced against the city unless the said bill, claim or demand upon which it is founded shall have been first so presented in writing, by filing the same with the City Clerk, nor until three months after such filing; provided, that if the same is rejected in whole or in part suit may be at once commenced thereon, and if the same is not acted on by the Council within three months after the same is filed suit may thereafter be commenced, and if no more is recovered against said city than the amount so allowed, no costs shall be recovered against said city, but said city shall recover costs. If no action shall be commenced within six months after the expiration of said three months, the bill, claim or demand so filed, of whatever nature, shall be forever barred and incapable of ever being revived in any manner whatsoever.

SEC. 64. Warrants on the treasury shall be drawn by the City Clerk for all bills, claims or demands allowed by the Council, which shall be signed by the Mayor and countersigned by the City Clerk, and shall be numbered and paid in the order of their numbers.

EMINENT DOMAIN.

SEC. 66. Whenever a petition praying for the establishing, laying out, extending, widening, altering or opening of any street, lane, road, sidewalk, public square or public park, or for acquiring land therefor, or for acquiring any water system plant, land, water, water rights, rights of way, pipes, conduits and any and all easements, rights, privileges or appurtenances, or for acquiring any electric or gas plants, land, buildings, grounds, poles, pipes, wires, easements, and any and all rights of way, privileges or appurtenances for the supplying or furnishing additional water or water plant, or electric-light plant, or lights either of gas or electricity for said city or the inhabitants thereof, or for putting in, establishing, erecting or carrying on any electric or gas works for the purpose of lighting said city, or furnishing the inhabitants thereof with gas or electricity, or for exercising the right of eminent domain for any other purpose or use, signed by twenty-five or more resident citizens of said city, shall be presented to the Council, it shall be read in Council, and the hearing thereof set for the next regular meeting of the Council, and all owners and claimants of the property affected by the said proceedings shall be given five days' notice of the pendency of such proceeding and of the time and place of the said hearing of the same, and at the time fixed for the hearing of said petition, or to which the hearing thereof may be adjourned, the said petition and any and all protests, if any, shall be read, considered and acted on in open session; and if the Council shall deem the proposed establishing, laying out, extending, widening, altering, or opening of the street, lane, alley, road, sidewalk, public square, or public park, or for acquiring land therefor, or for acquiring any water system, plant, land, water, water right, rights of way, pipes, conduits and any and all easements, rights, privileges, or appurtenances, or for acquiring any electric or gas plants, land, buildings, grounds, poles, pipes, wires, easements, and any and all rights of way, privileges, or appurtenances for the supplying or furnishing additional water, or a water plant or lights, electric-light plant, or lights either of gas or electricity for the city or the inhabitants thereof, or for exercising the right of eminent domain for any other purpose or use, prayed for in the petition, to be a public necessity, they shall so declare by resolution entered upon their minutes, and shall order a survey to be made by a competent person, who shall make a survey and diagram of the same and report it to the Council. The diagram and survey shall show the location and description of the particular rights, privileges or property which it is proposed to acquire for any of the purposes herein stated, and the land or property of each owner affected thereby, and the boundaries of the land and a general description of the property proposed to be taken.

SEC. 67. Upon filing said survey and diagram the City Clerk shall issue a notice directed generally to all persons interested, setting forth that such petition has been filed, and the action of the Council thereon, and that the survey and diagram has been made and filed, and that the same were in his office, open to the inspection of all persons interested and that proceedings would be instituted against non-consenting property owners for the condemnation of the property required for public purposes or public use. Said notices shall be served on the non-consenting property owners and may be served by any competent person above the age of twenty-one years by delivering a copy thereof to the person to be served, or by posting the same in a conspicuous place on the land of such non-consenting property owner, and by publishing the same in a daily newspaper published in the city for five days. If any such owner shall not, within ten days after such service of said notice, either donate, sell or relinquish such land to the city for the purposes proposed, proceedings for condemnation shall be commenced in the name of the city in the court having jurisdiction.

SEC. 68. Any and all occupants and owners, or persons having any interest in the land sought to be condemned, may be joined as parties in the suit; and one action shall be sufficient against all persons owning, claiming or having any interest in the land or property sought to be taken.

SEC. 69. The record of the passage of the resolution of the Council declaring the work a public necessity for public use, or if the land or property sought to be taken is already a public use or quasi public use that the purpose for which it is sought to be taken is of higher and greater public use, and that the taking of the land for the purposes, as herein provided, is a public use and is necessary, or that the taking thereof in such proceeding is of a higher and greater public use than that for which it is being used, shall be conclusive of the fact, and it shall also be conclusive that the petition was in due form and had been signed by the requisite petitioners; and it shall be prima facie evidence that the notices were in due form, and were served in all respects as required by law, and that the acts and things required to be done up to the passing of the resolution or making the order had been done in all respects as required by law. The right and jurisdiction to take and acquire any property rights as herein stated shall extend to and cover any such property rights, whether within or without the corporate limits of the city.

PUBLIC STREETS, COURTS, PARKS, SIDEWALKS.

SEC. 70. All streets, sidewalks, lanes, alleys, places, courts, public squares or public parks now open or dedicated, or which may hereafter be opened or dedicated to public use, and all that have been used by the public for five years without interruption, shall be deemed and held to be open public streets, sidewalks, lanes, alleys, places, courts, public squares and public parks, and the Council is authorized, empowered and has the right and jurisdiction to establish or change the grade of such streets, sidewalks, lanes, alleys, places, courts, public squares and public parks, and to fix the width and boundaries thereof, and to exercise full control over the same.

WORK UPON STREETS, SIDEWALKS AND PUBLIC PLACES.

SEC. 71. Whenever the public interest or convenience shall require, the Council is authorized and has the power and jurisdiction to order the whole or any portion of the streets, sidewalks, lanes, avenues, alleys, courts, public squares, places or public parks to be graded, graveled or regradeled, planked or replanked, paved or repaved, macadamized or remacadamized, piled or repiled, capped or recapped, or otherwise improved; and to order sidewalks made, placed or constructed, manholes, culverts, cesspools, gutters, tunnels, curbing and crosswalks to be laid, repaired, or improved; or to order any other work to be done which shall be necessary to complete the improvement of the whole or any portion of said streets, avenues, sidewalks, lanes, alleys, courts, places, public squares or public parks.

WHEN WORK CAN BE DONE.

SEC. 72. Before ordering any of the work or improvement mentioned in Section 71 of this charter the Council shall pass a resolution of intention so to do, describing the work or improvements to be done, and a copy of said resolution, with the date of its passage, shall be posted in a conspicuous place on or near the front of the building in which the sessions of the Council are held, or published for five days in a daily newspaper published in the city, and notices of a passage of said resolution signed by the Street Commissioner shall be posted conspicuously along the line of said proposed work at not more than one hundred feet in distance apart, and not less than three notices in all. Said notices shall be headed "Notice of Street Work" in letters of not less than one inch in length and in legible characters, stating the fact of the passage of the resolution, date of passage, and briefly the work proposed to be done, and shall refer to the resolution for further particulars. Said notices shall be posted at least ten days. The owners of two thirds of the frontage of the property fronting on said proposed work, when the same is for one block or more, shall have twenty days from the first day of posting of said notice within which to make and file with the City Clerk written objections to the proposed work or improvement. Upon receiving such written objections the City Clerk shall endorse thereon the date of their reception by him, and such objections shall be a bar for six months to any further proceedings in relation to the doing of said work, unless the owners of two thirds or more of the frontage as aforesaid shall meanwhile petition for the same to be done. When not more than two blocks, including street crossings or intersections remain ungraded to the official grade, or otherwise unimproved, in whole or in part, and a block or more on one or both sides upon said street has been so graded or otherwise improved, said Council may order such work or improvement mentioned to be done upon said ungraded or unimproved part of said street notwithstanding such objections, and said work shall not be stayed or prevented by any written objections, unless the Council shall deem the same proper.

At the expiration of the said twenty days, if no written objections by the owners of two thirds of the frontage to the work of improvement in said resolution proposed to be done has been delivered to the City Clerk as aforesaid, or if in any written objections signed or purporting to be signed by the owners of two thirds of the frontage is disallowed by said Council, as not of itself barring said work, the Council shall be deemed to have acquired jurisdiction to order any of the said work to be done, and all persons in interest shall be deemed to have had full notice and full opportunity to be heard, and shall be concluded from further hearing or objections. Before passing any order or resolution for the construction, making or doing of said work, plans and specifications and estimates of the costs and expenses thereof shall be furnished by the City Engineer.

STREET WORK IN CERTAIN CASES.

SEC. 73. If in the opinion of the Council the public necessity requires any of the work mentioned in Section 71 of this charter to be done, and that it is of more than local or ordinary benefit, the Council shall have power and jurisdiction in such case to order such work to be done, and to pay a portion or all of the costs and expenses thereof out of any available funds in the city treasury; but the Council shall have power to apportion the whole of the costs and expenses of such work or improvement against the owners of property fronting on the line of such work or improvement according to the frontage of lots or land owned by each respectively. And if a portion is paid out of the city treasury the remainder of such costs and expenses shall be apportioned to and charged against the owners of property fronting on the line of said work or improvements authorized in this section, according to the frontage of lots or land owned by each respectively. If a portion or all of the costs and expenses of the work is to be apportioned and collected from the owners of the lots or land fronting on such improvement, the Council shall comply with all of the provisions of Section 72 of this charter in relation to the passage of a resolution of intention, posting of notices, filing of written objections, giving notices of hearing, making the order, and the acts and things required in said section to be done shall be done and performed in the same manner as is required when the whole of the costs and expenses of the said work is to be paid by the owners of property fronting on the line of the work.

WHO MAY PETITION.

SEC. 74. The owners of two thirds of the frontage of lots and lands fronting on any street, sidewalk, avenue, lane, alley, place or court, or of lots of land liable to be assessed for the costs and expenses of the work which may be ordered, or their duly authorized agents, may petition the Council to order any of the work mentioned in this charter to be done, and the Council may order the work mentioned in this charter to be done; in which case the Council shall proceed under Section 72 of this charter, and all of the provisions of said Section 72 shall be complied with the same as though no petition for said work had been filed.

HOW COSTS ARE APPORTIONED.

SEC. 75. When all of the costs and expenses, or a portion thereof, for the work in this charter provided is for work done upon any street, lane, alley, or sidewalk, and the same is to be apportioned and charged against the owners of property fronting on such work, such costs and expenses shall be apportioned to, charged against and collected from the owners of the property fronting upon the line of the work ordered to be done, and such owners shall be liable for such costs and expenses for all of the work embraced in the resolution or order, and such costs and expenses shall be apportioned against and collected from the owners of property fronting on the line of said work. In all cases of apportioning the costs and expenses against the owners of property, it shall be according to the number of front feet owned by each respectively. The costs of such work on street crossings or street intersections shall be paid by the city.

SEALED BIDS OR PROPOSALS.

SEC. 76. Before ordering any contract to be let for any work provided for in this charter the Street Commissioner shall cause specifications to be made, one copy to be kept by the City Clerk in his office for the inspection of bidders, and cause a copy and a notice to bidders to be posted conspicuously for five days on or near the front of the building in which the sessions of the Council are held, inviting sealed bids for doing the work, and shall also cause a like notice to be posted up in at least two other public places in said city, and referring to the specifications posted or on file with the City Clerk. All bids offered shall be accompanied by a check, payable to the order of the Mayor, certified by a responsible bank, for an amount which shall not be less than ten per cent of the aggregate of the bid. Said bid shall be delivered to the City Clerk, and the Council shall, in open session, examine and publicly declare the same. The Council may reject any and all bids, and shall have the right to select the lowest responsible bid and to award the contract to the bidder thereof. The checks accompanying all bids not accepted shall be returned to the bidders who gave them; but the checks accompanying the accepted bid shall be held by said Clerk until the contract for doing said work has been duly entered into and the bond required shall be given and accepted by the Mayor, or until the owners of a majority of the frontage on said work shall elect to take the contract at the same bid, which they may do in five days after the bid has been announced; but if the bidder fails, neglects or refuses to enter into contract to perform said work for three days after the expiration of the five days allowed to property owners to take the bid, then the said check accompanying his bid and the amount therein mentioned shall be declared forfeited to and become the property of the city.

The owners of a majority of the frontage of lots and land upon the line of said proposed work may, within five days from the declaring of the bid, elect to take said work and to enter into a written contract to do the whole work at the same bid, but should they fail to enter into a contract within the five days allowed for that purpose, then the successful bidder shall within three days thereafter enter into a contract with the city to do the work, and at the price specified in his bid. But should such successful bidder fail or neglect to enter into such contract in the time limited, the Council shall have the right to declare the bid off, and the certified check and the money thereunder shall be forfeited to and become the property of the city, and shall be paid into the treasury, and the Council shall again give notice for bids for said work as in the first instance, and shall award the contract to the then lowest responsible bidder. At the time of executing any contract for work as herein provided, each contractor shall execute a bond to the satisfaction of the Mayor, with two or more sureties, payable to the city, in such sums as the Council shall deem adequate, conditioned for the faithful performance of the contract. The Mayor is hereby authorized, in his official capacity, to take and receive all written contracts and bonds authorized under this charter and to do and perform any act required in relation thereto.

SEC. 77. In case the Council is not satisfied with any bid or bids that may have been made for the construction and performing of the work it may, in case the owners of the majority of the frontage of lots and land do not elect to take said work and to enter into a written contract to do the whole thereof at a price agreeable to the Council, that then the said Council shall have the right to elect to do the work in the name of and for the city. And if for any reason the Council is of the opinion that better work will be done and better material furnished and that it will be for the best interests of the city to have the work done in the name of and by the city, that when the Council shall have the right, and it shall be its duty to do and perform such work and pay therefor out of the proper funds of the city, and the city shall have a lien upon all property fronting upon said street or streets, sidewalks or alleys where the said work shall be done, and the same shall be apportioned as in Section 75 set forth, and the same shall be collected in such manner as the Council shall direct.

SEC. 78. The Street Commissioner shall superintend any work herein authorized to be done which shall be commenced and prosecuted with diligence until completed, and the Council may, for good cause, extend the time. The work must be done under the direction and to the satisfaction of the Street Commissioner. The materials used and the work done must comply with the specifications and to the satisfaction of the Street Commissioner. Neither the city nor any officer thereof shall be liable for any portion of the costs or expenses of the work, nor for any delinquency of persons or property assessed or liable therefor, except as provided in Sections 73, 75, and 77 of this charter. The Council may by ordinance prescribe the materials to be used and the mode of executing the work under all contracts in relation thereto. The assessment and apportionment of the costs and expenses of all such work shall be made by the Street Commissioner.

SEC. 79. Where the work done is the building, making or laying of sidewalk and curbing thereto on one side only of the street, or is work done on one side of the center line of a street, lane or alley, the lots and land fronting on that side on which the work is done only shall be assessed.

SEC. 80. When the width and grade of any street and sidewalk has been established the owner or owners of property thereon may, by permission of the Council and under the supervision of the Street Commissioner, do the work of grading, graveling, macadamizing, paving or improving such street, and may grade such street to the established grade and gravel, macadamize, pave and put the same in order, and may make, lay and build sidewalks in front of their said property, if done to the satisfaction of the Street Commissioner, and in conformity to existing ordinances, rules and regulations and plans approved by the Council. The expense of such work in this section mentioned shall be borne by such owners of property according to frontage.

ASSESSMENT FOR WORK.

SEC. 81. After the completion of any work done under contract as in this charter provided, and where the owners of property fronting on the line of the work are to pay or be charged with the costs and expenses of the whole or a portion thereof the Street Commissioner shall make an assessment to cover the sum due for the work performed, including incidental and other expenses. Such assessment shall briefly refer to the contract, the work performed thereunder, the rate per front foot, the amount of each assessment and the amount each owner must pay and the name of the owner of each lot, if known; if not known, the word "Unknown" shall be written opposite to the number of the lot and the amount given thereon, the lot or portion of a lot and the front feet of each owner so far as can be ascertained, and the total number of front feet fronting upon the work, and liable for the assessment. The assessment shall have a diagram attached showing the location of the lots, the frontage of each owner, the street, cross streets and the number of feet assessed for said work. The said assessment shall have attached thereto a warrant signed by the Street Commissioner and may be substantially in the following form: "By virtue hereof, I (name), Street Commissioner of the City of Santa Rosa, County of Sonoma, State of California, do authorize and empower (name of contractor), or his assigns, to demand and receive the several assessments upon the assessment roll and diagram hereto attached, and this shall be his (or their) warrant for the same. (Date and signature.)" The assessment diagram and warrant attached shall be recorded in the office of the City Clerk, and shall be a lien upon the lots of land assessed respectively for one year from its date, and from and after the same shall be recorded all persons shall be deemed to have notice of its contents. If payment shall be made after such recording, satisfaction may be entered on the record thereof and the lien discharged. The lien, in any case, shall have no force or validity whatever after the expiration of said one year unless suit to foreclose the same shall have been commenced thereon within that time. At any time after the period of thirty days from the date of the warrant the contractor or his assigns may sue in his own name and foreclose the lien against the owner or persons having any interest in the lots or portion of lots of land assessed, and recover the amount of the assessment remaining unpaid, interest and costs, and also the sum of fifteen dollars as attorney's fees for foreclosing such lien. Such suit may be brought in the Superior Court of the County of Sonoma, State of California, and summons shall issue and be served in the manner required in other cases. Said warrant, assessment and diagram shall be prima facie evidence of the regularity and correctness of the assessment and the correctness of all of the proceedings, and of all of the acts, resolutions and orders of the Council, and like evidence of the right of the plaintiff to recover in the action, and the said court shall have power to adjudge and decree a lien upon the lots of land and premises for the whole amount due from each lot owner, and to order the same to be sold on execution, as in other cases of the sale of real estate by the process of the Court. Such sales shall be conducted in all respects in the same manner, as near as may be, and with like effect, as sales on execution, and the sections of the Code of Civil Procedure of the State of California in relation to sales on execution, certificates of sale, redemptions, deeds, and all other proceedings thereon, are made applicable hereunder. Such premises, if sold, may be redeemed as is provided by law in other cases. The Code of Civil Procedure of California governing appeals to the Supreme Court in civil cases shall apply to such cases. All provisions of this charter regulating street work shall be liberally construed, and all presumptions shall be indulged in favor of upholding the proceedings. If the work has been done substantially as required by the contract, no irregularity, error or mistake in any of the proceedings, or any disregard, violation or failure to comply with any of the requirements of this charter, or of any law or ordinance of the city, shall be a defense to the action to foreclose any lien provided for in this charter, or to any action to recover the amount of the assessment.

SEC. 85. The Council may by ordinance provide any other or different procedure for the collection of the amounts due under the assessment for work done under this charter.

SEC. 86. The Council shall have the power to acquire for the city and the inhabitants thereof by purchase, condemnation or otherwise, telephone lines, systems and appliances, street, rail and other roads, electric-light works, water works, gas works, steam plants or other power plants, or any other public utility and all appliances for operating the same, and to operate and carry on the same, to purchase or construct buildings necessary for the use and operation of the same, and all necessary machinery and appliances for any works belonging to the city, and shall have the power to lay wires, pipes and mains and construct all such appliances as may be needed in operating the same inside and outside of the city, for the city and the inhabitants thereof, and for sale to said inhabitants, and for sale outside the city, and to operate the same and to sell water, sewage, gas, electric light or power, telephone service, or steam power, and the products of any other public utility operated by the city inside or outside the city, but shall not sell or deliver outside the city any such telephone service, water, gas, electric light or electric power, or the product of any other utility operated by the city until the demand for the same by the city and the inhabitants thereof shall have first been supplied.

SEWERS AND DRAINAGE.

SEC. 88. The Council shall have power to prescribe the location, form and materials to be used in the construction, building, making or repairing of all public sewers, manholes, sinks, drainage, cesspools and appurtenances belonging to the drainage system, and of private drains or private sewers, and to determine the place and manner of the connections, and to prescribe the penalties for any violation thereof. The Council shall have power to construct, make, lay and build sewers, manholes, sinks, drainage cesspools and outlets. Contracts for all said work shall be based upon plans and specifications adopted by the Council, and shall be let to the lowest responsible bidder, unless the Council shall elect to do the work in the name of and for the city. The Council shall provide by ordinance for the manner of letting contracts and the doing and completion of work under this section. The work mentioned in this section shall be done under the supervision of the Street Commissioner. The Council shall provide for the payment of the contract price for the work in this section provided for in accordance with the contract and upon approval by the Street Commissioner.

ORDINANCES.

SEC. 89. All ordinances shall be published in some daily newspaper in Santa Rosa at least one time, and shall be in force ten days after such publication, unless the Council shall prescribe a different time in which they shall take effect.

Any officer or employé of the city violating any of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished in the manner prescribed by law, and in addition thereto shall forfeit his office or employment.

Such committee shall keep a record of its proceedings with the names of the witnesses examined, and a substantial statement of the evidence taken. If from the examination made by such committee, it shall appear that a misdemeanor in office, or a defalcation has been committed by any officer, said committee shall immediately report to the Mayor, who, if he approve said report, shall forthwith suspend or remove such officer. Any police officer shall execute the process and orders of said committee.

Section 23. When an officer, board, or department, provided for in this charter, shall require additional deputies, clerks, or employes, application shall be made to the Mayor therefor, and upon such application it shall be the duty of the Mayor to make investigation as to the necessity for such additional assistance, and if he find the same necessary, he may recommend to the Common Council the appointment of such additional assistance; and thereupon the Common Council, by an affirmative vote of two-thirds of all its members, may authorize such appointment, and provide for the compensation of such appointee, subject to the limitations of this charter.

If the property is not redeemed within five years from the date of the sale thereof to the city, the Tax Collector of said city, or his successor in office, must make to the city a deed to the property, reciting in the deed substantially the matters contained in the certificate, and that no person has redeemed the property during the time allowed for its redemption.

That Sections 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, and 27 of Chapter 1 of Article 6 of said charter be and the same are hereby repealed.

That Chapter 1 of Article VI of the charter of the City of San Diego, California, be amended by adding thereto a new section to be numbered Section 32, which shall read as follows:

Section 32. Whenever it shall be provided by an Act of the Legislature of the State of California that any of the duties now performed, or hereafter to be performed by the Assessor of the City of San Diego, may be performed by the Assessor of the County of San Diego, and that the duties now performed, or hereafter to be performed, by the Tax Collector of said city, may be performed by the Tax Collector of said county, or the duties to be performed, or hereafter to be performed, by any other officer of said city, may be performed by any officer of said county, the City of San Diego, through its Common Council, may avail itself of the provisions of said Act by the adoption of an ordinance, ratified by a vote of the qualified electors of said city, as hereinafter provided, and provide that the duties of such officer or officers of said city, or any of such duties as are permitted by such general Act of the Legislature to be performed by such county officer or officers, may be performed by such county officer or officers of the said County of San Diego, at the times and in the manner and to the extent as provided in such General Act of the Legislature.

In case such ordinance shall provide that all the duties of the said Assessor of said city shall be devolved upon the Assessor of the said County of San Diego, or in case such ordinance shall provide that only part of the duties of the said Assessor of said city shall be devolved upon the Assessor of said County of San Diego, and the remaining duties of the said City Assessor shall be performed by such officer of said city as may be designated for that purpose by such ordinance, then upon the taking effect of such ordinance such office of the Assessor of said city shall cease to exist, and is hereby declared to be abolished.

In case such ordinance shall provide that all the duties of the said Tax Collector of said city shall be devolved upon the Tax Collector of the said County of San Diego, or if by such ordinance only part of the duties of the said Tax Collector of said city shall be devolved upon the Tax Collector of said County of San Diego, and the remaining duties of the said Tax Collector of said city shall be performed by such officer of said city as may be designated for that purpose by such ordinance, then upon the taking effect of such ordinance such office of Tax Collector of said city shall cease to exist, and is hereby declared to be abolished.

As to all duties so devolved upon any officer of said county, he shall be ex-officio an officer of the City of San Diego.

The Common Council shall have power to provide, by such ordinance, a system for the assessment, levy, and collection of all taxes of said city, not inconsistent with the provisions of this section, which system shall conform, as nearly as the circumstances of the case may permit, to the provisions of the said General Act of the Legislature and the laws of the State of California in reference to the assessment, levy, and collection of State and County taxes, to the end that the duties of the Assessor of said city may be performed by the Assessor of said county, and the duties of the Tax Collector of said city, as to the taxes thereafter to be collected, may be performed by the Tax Collector of said county. No such ordinance shall take effect until it shall have been submitted for ratification to the electors of said city at a general municipal or special municipal election, and ratified by a majority of all votes cast on the question of such ratification.

In the event that said city shall so elect to avail itself of the provisions of such General Act of the Legislature, the Auditor of said city shall, on or before the first Monday in August in each year, prepare and transmit to the said Common Council, accompanied with the estimates and reports of each department, which he shall require to be delivered to him from the heads of each department on or before the 20th day of July in each year, an estimate of the probable necessities of the city for the current fiscal year, as provided in Section 1, Chapter 1, Article VI, of this charter, and the Common Council shall, on or before the second Monday in September of each year, by ordinance, fix the rate of taxes to be levied and levy the taxes upon all taxable property both real and personal, in the city necessary to raise sufficient revenue to carry on the different departments of the municipal government for the current fiscal year; provided, that the rate of taxes so levied shall not exceed in any year one hundred and ten cents on each one hundred dollars upon the assessment roll, except for the payment of the principal and interest of the bonded debt of the city, and also excepting any special tax voted by the people, the tax for maintenance and improvements of public parks, or for school purposes; and for taxation, assessment, and all other purposes the fiscal year of said city shall begin on the first day of July, and the property subject to taxation as aforesaid shall be assessed at its full cash value, which, in the judgment of the Assessor, it had at twelve o'clock noon on the first Monday of March, and the lien of the annual city tax levy shall attach at that hour.

In the event said Common Council shall so elect to avail itself of the provisions of said General Act of the Legislature, and said fiscal year shall be changed, the said Common Council shall have power to provide by taxation for sufficient revenue to carry on the different departments of the municipal government of said city for the period of time from the end of the fiscal year, as it stood before such change was made, to the beginning of the new fiscal year by including the same in the next annual tax levy.

That Chapter 2 of Article VI of the charter of the City of San Diego, California, be amended by adding thereto a new section to be known as Section 15, which shall read as follows:

Section 15. Whenever it shall be determined by the legislative body of said city that the public interest of said city demands the acquisition, construction, or completion of any municipal improvement, including bridges, water-works, water-rights, sewers, light or power works or plants, buildings for municipal use, fire apparatus, and street work, or other works, property, or structures necessary or convenient to carry out the purposes, objects, and powers of the city, the cost of which will be too great to be paid out of the revenues of the city, to be levied during the fiscal year or years during which said improvement is proposed to be made, a special tax not to exceed the sum of twenty cents on each one hundred dollars may be levied on the property assessed for the purpose of taxation within said city, which said rate of taxation may be in addition to the annual rate of taxation allowed by law to be levied thereon. Before said tax shall be levied by the said legislative body of said city, the question of the levy of such tax shall be submitted to the voters of said city at any general or special municipal election, or at a special election to be held for that purpose, and if two thirds of the votes cast for the proposition of levying such tax shall be in favor of the levy thereof, then the levy shall be made, otherwise the taxes shall not be levied. Upon the ballots used at such election the proposition to be voted shall be stated in appropriate words, and the same arranged so that the voter may indicate his choice upon the proposition. If a special election is held, the same shall be held as are other elections within the city. At least two weeks before such election is held, the said legislative body of said city shall adopt an ordinance calling and providing for the same, wherein it shall be stated:

First—The nature of the proposed improvement for the cost of which the special tax shall be levied.

Second—The total amount of money to be raised for such improvement.

Third—The rate of taxation to be levied.

At the time fixed by law for the levying of taxes within said city, the legislative body thereof shall include the special tax herein provided for, which shall be the rate specified in the ordinance calling said election. Nor shall it be levied for a longer period of years than shall be sufficient to raise the amount of money specified in said ordinance. The proceeds for such special tax shall be set apart in a special fund, and shall only be expended for the purpose of making the improvements stated in said ordinance; provided, any balance left, after such improvement shall have been fully completed and paid for, shall be transferred to the general fund of said city.

That Section 2 of Chapter 2 of Article 6 of the charter of the City of San Diego, California, be amended so as to read as follows:

Section 2. All demands, bills, and claims which may arise against the city, including the payroll of all employees of the city, whether under regular monthly salary or not (except salaries of city officers fixed by this charter), shall be duly verified as hereinafter provided, and be filed with the Secretary of the Auditing Committee, who shall file and number the same in the order of presentation, and refer the same to the Auditing Committee for action, whose duty it shall be to allow or reject the same, in whole or in part, and if allowed, designate the particular fund from which they are to be paid, and endorse upon the back of each bill the date of its allowance or rejection, the amount allowed for, and also the section of the charter, number of ordinance, number of contract, resolution, or order under which the said bill or demand was authorized or contracted for. These endorsements to be verified by the signatures of the Chairman and Secretary of the Committee. No demand upon the treasury shall be allowed by the Auditing Committee in favor of any officer or other person, or any of their assigns, who is in any manner indebted to the city, without first deducting therefrom the amount of such indebtedness, or in favor of any officer or other person, or his assigns, having the collection, care, custody, or control of public funds, unless the accounts of such officer or other person have been passed, approved, and allowed as is or may be required by law; nor in favor of any officer or other person or his assigns who has neglected to make any oath required by law, ordinance, or other regulation of the Common Council; nor in favor of any officer, or his assigns, who has failed, to the knowledge of the Auditing Committee, to do any duty imposed upon him by law, or ordinance, or other regulation of the Common Council.

That Article VII of the charter of the City of San Diego, California, be amended so as to read as follows:

ARTICLE VII.

Section 1. The school system of the City of San Diego shall include primary, grammar, and high schools, and such evening schools, technical schools, and parental schools as now are established, or may hereafter be established by the Board of Education of said city in the San Diego School District under the General School Laws of the State of California. The boundaries of said San Diego School District shall be those now established or that may hereafter be established by and under the General School Laws of the State of California.

Section 2. The government of the San Diego School District shall be vested in a Board of Education, composed of eighteen persons, two of whom shall be elected from each ward, and each of whom shall have been for two years a resident of this city, who shall be styled, Members of the Board of Education. They shall serve without salary. They shall serve four years, or until their successors are elected and qualified. The members of the said Board of Education shall be elected at the same time and in the same manner as the municipal officers of the City of San Diego. Any vacancy in the body shall be filled by the Board from the electors of the ward in which the vacancy has occurred until the next general city election when a member shall be elected to fill the unexpired term.

Section 3. The duties and powers of the Board of Education shall be such as are now, or may hereafter be enjoined and conferred on Boards of Education in City and School Districts by the laws of the State of California.

That Article VIII of the charter of the City of San Diego, California, be amended so as to read as follows:

ARTICLE VIII.

The public library and reading-room shall be governed and controlled by a Board of three Trustees, who shall be appointed by the Mayor from among the qualified electors of said city, subject to the approval of the Board of Delegates, and they shall hold office for four years; provided, that the terms of the Trustees first appointed shall commence on the first Monday in May, 1905.

Immediately upon their appointment they shall elect a President from among their number and so classify themselves that one of their number shall go out of office in two years, one in three years, and one in four years.

The Common Council of said city shall make an annual tax levy sufficient to raise at least six thousand dollars for the purpose of supporting and maintaining said public library.

In all other particulars said library and reading-room shall be governed and controlled by the provisions of the Act of the Legislature of the State of California, entitled "An Act to establish free public libraries and reading-rooms," approved April 28th, 1880; and the powers and duties of said Board of Trustees shall be as in said Act prescribed.

That Section 15 of Chapter 3 of Article 9 of the charter of the City of San Diego, California, be amended so as to read as follows:

Section 15. The Board of Health may locate, establish, and maintain pest houses, and discontinue and remove the same whenever and wherever necessary for the preservation of the public health. Said Board may appoint and remove at pleasure such physicians and nurses (whose compensation shall be fixed by the Common Council by ordinance) for said pest houses as may be necessary to maintain the efficiency of the same; and may cause to be removed thereto and kept therein any person affected with any contagious or infectious disease.

That Section 2 of Article 10 of the charter of the City of San Diego, California, be amended so as to read as follows:

Section 2. Every officer, deputy, and clerk, except where otherwise provided in this charter or by ordinance, must have been, at the time of his election or appointment, both an elector of the city, and an actual resident therein for one year next preceding his election or appointment.

That Article I of the charter of the City of San Diego, California, be amended by adding thereto a new chapter to be known as Chapter IV, which shall read as follows:

CHAPTER IV.

Section 1. The Common Council shall have power to submit to the electors of said city at any election any question required to be so submitted by the constitution, the law, this charter, or by ordinance; provided, that in case such question is required by said constitution, law, charter, or ordinance to be submitted at a special or other particular kind of election, it shall be so submitted, and not otherwise.

Section 2. Any proposed ordinance may be submitted to the Common Council by a petition signed by registered electors of the city equal in number to the percentages hereinafter required. The signatures to the petition need not all be appended to one paper, but each signer shall add to his signature his place of residence, giving his street and number. One of the signers of each such paper shall make oath before an officer competent to administer oaths, that the statements therein made are true, and that each signature to the paper appended is the genuine signature of the person whose name purports to be thereunto subscribed. Within ten days from the date of filing such petition the City Clerk shall examine and from the great register ascertain whether or not said petition is signed by the requisite number of qualified electors, and if necessary the Common Council shall allow him extra help for that purpose, and he shall attach to said petition his certificate showing the result of said examination. If, by the Clerk's certificate, the petition is shown to be insufficient, it may be amended within ten days from the date of said certificate. The Clerk shall, within ten days after such amendment, make like examination of the amended petition, and if his certificate shall show the same to be insufficient, it shall be returned to the person filing the same without prejudice, however, to the filing of a new petition to the same effect. If the petition shall be found to be sufficient, the Clerk shall submit the same to the Common Council without delay.

If the petition accompanying the proposed ordinance be signed by electors equal in number to fifteen per cent of the entire vote cast for all candidates for Mayor at the last preceding general election at which a Mayor was elected, and contains a request that said ordinance be submitted forthwith to a vote of the people at a special election, then the Common Council shall either:

(a) Pass said ordinance without alteration within twenty days after the attachment of the Clerk's certificate of sufficiency to the accompanying petition (subject to a referendary vote under the provisions of Section 2 of this chapter); and if the ordinance shall be passed by the Common Council, but shall be vetoed by the Mayor, and on reconsideration shall fail of passage by the Common Council, then within five days after determination that said ordinance shall have so failed of final adoption, the Common Council shall proceed to call a special election at which said ordinance, without alteration, shall be submitted to a vote of the people; or

(b) Forthwith after the Clerk shall attach to the petition accompanying such ordinance his certificate of sufficiency, the Common Council shall proceed to call a special election at which said ordinance, without alteration, shall be submitted to a vote of the people.

If the petition be signed by electors equal in number to at least five per cent but less than fifteen per cent of the entire vote cast for all candidates for Mayor at the last preceding general election at which a Mayor was elected, then such ordinance, without alteration, shall be submitted by the Common Council to a vote of the people at the next general municipal election that shall occur at any time after thirty days from the date of the Clerk's certificate of sufficiency attached to the petition accompanying such ordinance.

The ballots used when voting upon said proposed ordinance shall contain the words "For the ordinance" (stating the nature of the proposed ordinance) and "Against the ordinance" (stating general nature of the proposed ordinance). If a majority of the qualified electors voting on said proposed ordinance shall vote in favor thereof, such ordinance shall thereupon become a valid and binding ordinance of the city; and any ordinance proposed by petition, or which shall be adopted by a vote of the people cannot be repealed or amended except by a vote of the people.

Any number of proposed ordinances may be voted upon at the same election in accordance with the provisions of this section; provided, that there shall not be held under this section of the charter, more than one special election in any period of six months.

The Common Council may submit a proposition for the repeal of any such ordinance, or for amendments thereto, to be voted upon at any succeeding general city election, and should such proposition, so submitted, receive a majority of the votes cast thereon at such election, such ordinance shall be repealed or amended accordingly. Whenever any ordinance or proposition is required by this charter to be submitted to the voters of the city at any election, the City Clerk shall cause the ordinance or proposition to be printed, and he shall enclose a printed copy thereof in an envelope with a sample ballot, and mail the same to each voter, at least ten days prior to the election, but the Common Council may order such ordinance or proposition to be printed in the official newspaper of the city and published in like manner as ordinances adopted by the Common Council are required to be published, and may order that such publication shall take the place of the printing and mailing of the ordinance or proposition, and of the sample ballot as first above provided.

Section 3. No ordinance passed by the Common Council (except when otherwise required by the general laws of the State, or by the provisions of this charter, respecting street improvements, and except an ordinance for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, or safety, which contains a statement of its urgency, and is passed by a two-thirds vote of the Common Council, but no grant of any franchise shall be construed to be an urgency measure, but all franchises shall be subject to the referendary vote herein provided), shall go into effect before thirty days from the time of its final passage and its approval by the Mayor; and if during said thirty days a petition signed by electors of the city equal in number to at least seven per cent of the entire vote cast for all candidates for Mayor at the last preceding general election at which a Mayor was elected, protesting against the passage of such ordinance, be presented to the Common Council, the same shall thereupon be suspended from going into operation, and it shall be the duty of the Common Council to reconsider such ordinance, and if the same is not entirely repealed, the Common Council shall submit the ordinance as is provided in Section 2 of this Chapter, to the vote of the electors of the city, either at the next general election or at a special municipal election to be called for that purpose, and such ordinance shall not go into effect or become operative unless a majority of the qualified electors voting on the same shall vote in favor thereof. Said petition shall be in all respects in accordance with the provisions of said Section 2, except as to the percentage of signers, and be examined and certified by the Clerk in all respects as is therein provided.

Section 4. The holder of any elective office may be removed at any time by the electors qualified to vote for a successor of such incumbent. The procedure to effect the removal of an incumbent of an elective office shall be as follows: A petition signed by electors entitled to vote for a successor to the incumbent sought to be removed, equal in number to at least twenty-five per centum of the entire vote for all candidates for the office, the incumbent of which is sought to be removed, cast at the last preceding general municipal election, demanding an election of a successor of the person sought to be removed, shall be filed with the City Clerk; provided, that the petition sent to the Common Council shall contain a general statement of the grounds for which the removal is sought. The signatures to the petition need not all be appended to one paper, but each signer shall add to his signature his place of residence, giving the street and number. One of the signers of each such paper shall make oath before an officer competent to administer oaths, that the statements therein made are true, and that each signature to the paper appended is the genuine signature of the person whose name purports to be thereunto subscribed. Within ten days from the date of filing such petition the City Clerk shall examine and from the great register ascertain whether or not said petition is signed by the requisite number of qualified electors, and if necessary, the Common Council shall allow him extra help for that purpose, and he shall attach to said petition his certificate showing the result of said examination. If, by the Clerk's certificate the petition is shown to be insufficient, it may be amended within ten days from the date of said certificate. The Clerk shall within ten days after such amendment, make like examination of the amended petition, and if his certificate shall show the same to be insufficient, it shall be returned to the person filing the same without prejudice, however, to the filing of a new petition to the same effect. If the petition shall be found to be sufficient the Clerk shall submit the same to the Common Council without delay. If the petition shall be found to be sufficient, the Common Council shall order, and fix a date for holding the said election, not less than thirty days nor more than forty days from the date of the Clerk's certificate to the Common Council that a sufficient petition is filed.

The Common Council shall make or cause to be made publication of notice, and all arrangements for holding of such election, and the same shall be conducted, returned, and the result thereof declared in all respects as are other city elections. The successor of any officer so removed shall hold office during the unexpired term of his predecessor. Any person sought to be removed may be a candidate to succeed himself, and, unless he requests otherwise, in writing, the Clerk shall place his name on the official ballot without nomination. In any such removal election, the candidate receiving the highest number of votes shall be declared elected. At such election if some other person than the incumbent receives the highest number of votes, the incumbent shall thereupon be deemed removed from the office upon qualification of his successor. In case the party who receives the highest number of votes should fail to qualify within ten days after receiving notification of election, the office shall be deemed vacant. If the incumbent receives the highest number of votes he shall continue in office.

That all portions of the said charter in conflict with the foregoing provisions be, and the same are hereby, repealed.

That Section 1 of Chapter V of Article III of the charter of the City of San Diego, California, be amended so as to read as follows:

CHAPTER V.

ON COMMERCE AND NAVIGATION.

ASSEMBLY CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, January 26, 1905.

Mr. Speaker and Members of the Assembly of the State of California:

Your Select Committee on Commerce and Navigation respectfully reports as follows: We visited the harbor of San Pedro, inspected the wharfage, breakwater, and both inner and outer harbor. Of these, the breakwater is under Federal control; the west side of the harbor is under the control of the City of San Pedro and the east side under the jurisdiction of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Los Angeles. The work done by the Federal Government is certainly of a very extensive and admirable character, and when fully completed will afford great protection to shipping and commerce.

Your committee met with the Chamber of Commerce of Los Angeles, and, after a lengthy discussion, suggestions were offered that the harbor of San Pedro be governed by a Board of Harbor Commissioners. No definite action, however, was taken thereon by your committee.

The State is to be congratulated on the character of the work done in this harbor, and your committee does not hesitate to express its fullest belief that the work outlined by the Federal authorities cannot fail, if carried out in its essential features, to solve effectively and permanently the difficulties that have heretofore beset shipping in this important port. Commerce there is rapidly increasing, and the Federal Government, while having been quite generous in the past, should be memorialized to continue its good work in the future by deepening the channels of the inner and outer harbor, and that the time be extended further on examining the harbor of San Francisco, as stated in the original resolution, to January 30, 1905.

Respectfully submitted.

SEC. 110. On or before the fourth Monday of April, 1905, the mayor shall appoint, subject to the confirmation of the common council, four members of the board of health, two of whom shall be practicing physicians in good standing of not less than three years' residence in the city prior to their appointment. The fifth member shall be the present marshal of the city during the incumbency of his office, and thereafter the chief of police.

SEC. 111. The board of health shall serve without compensation.

SEC. 112. Regular meetings of the board of health shall be held at least once a month. Special meetings may be held at the call of the mayor, president of the board, or three members thereof. All meetings shall be public. Three members shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business, but a less number may adjourn from time to time.

SEC. 113. The persons appointed members of the board of health shall meet within two weeks after their appointment and elect one of their number president who shall hold office at the will of the board. They shall appoint a competent person to be health officer who shall serve as secretary of the board, and shall have the powers of a police officer in matters pertaining to his office. SEC. 115. It shall be the duty of the mayor and common council to pass such ordinances as may be necessary to enforce the rules and regulations of the board of health.

ARTICLE VII.

The Initiative.

SEC. 120. Any proposed ordinance may be submitted to the common council by a petition signed by qualified and registered electors of the city equal in number to the percentage hereinafter required. The signatures to the petition need not all be appended to one paper, but each signer shall add to his signature his place of residence, giving the street and such other identification as may be required by the registration law. One of the signers of each such papers shall make oath before an officer qualified to administer oaths, that the statements therein made are true, and that each signature to the paper appended is the genuine signature of the person whose name purports to be thereunto subscribed. Within ten days from the date of filing such petition, the city clerk shall examine and from the great register ascertain whether or not said petition is signed by the requisite number of qualified electors, and if necessary, the council shall allow him extra help for that purpose, and he shall attach to said petition his certificate showing the result of said examination. If, by the clerk's certificate, the petition is shown to be insufficient, it may be amended within ten days from the date of said certificate. The clerk shall, within ten days after such amendment, make like examination of the amended petition, and if his certificate shall show the same to be insufficient, it shall be returned to the person filing the same, without prejudice, however, to the filing of a new petition to the same effect. If the petition shall be found to be sufficient the clerk shall submit the same to the council without delay.

If the petition accompanying the proposed ordinance be signed by electors equal in number to thirty per cent of the entire vote cast for all candidates for mayor at the last preceding city election at which a mayor was elected, and contains a request that said ordinance be submitted forthwith to a vote of the people at a special or general municipal election, then the council shall either—

(a) Pass such ordinance without alteration within twenty days after the attachment of the clerk's certificate of sufficiency to the accompanying petition (subject to the referendum vote), and if the ordinance shall be passed by the council, but shall be vetoed by the mayor, and on reconsideration shall fail of passage by the council, then, within five days after determination that said ordinance shall have so failed of final adoption, the council shall proceed to call a special election at which said ordinance, without alteration, shall be submitted to a vote of the people, or,

(b) Forthwith after the clerk shall attach to the petition accompanying such ordinance his certificate of sufficiency, the council shall proceed to call a special election at which said ordinance, without alteration, shall be submitted to a vote of the people.

The ballots used when voting upon said proposed ordinance, shall contain the words "For the Ordinance" (stating the general nature of the proposed ordinance), and "Against the Ordinance," (stating the general nature of the proposed ordinance). If a majority of the qualified electors voting on said proposed ordinance shall vote in favor thereof, such ordinance shall thereupon become a valid and binding ordinance of the city; and any ordinance proposed by petition, or which shall be adopted by a vote of the people, cannot be repealed or amended except by a vote of the people obtained in like manner.

Any number of proposed ordinances may be voted upon at the same election, in accordance with the provisions of this section; provided, that there shall not be held under this section of the charter more than one special election in any period of twelve months.

The Referendum.

SEC. 121. No ordinance passed by the common council (except when otherwise required by the general laws of the State, or by the provisions of this charter, respecting street improvements and except an ordinance for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, or safety, which contains a statement of its urgency, and is passed by a two-thirds vote of the council, but no grant of any franchise shall be construed to be an urgency matter, but all franchises shall be subject to the referendary vote herein provided) shall go into effect before thirty days from the time of its final passage and its approval by the mayor; and if during said thirty days a petition signed by electors of the city equal in number to at least thirty per cent of the entire vote cast for all candidates for mayor at the last preceding city election at which a mayor was elected, protesting against the passage of such ordinance, be presented to the council, the same shall thereupon be suspended from going into operation, and it shall be the duty of the council to reconsider such ordinance, and if the same is not entirely repealed, the council shall submit the ordinance proposed to the vote of the electors of the city either at the next general municipal election or at a special municipal election to be called for that purpose, and such ordinance shall not go into effect or become operative unless a majority of the qualified electors voting on the same shall vote in favor thereof. Said petition shall be in all respects in accordance with the provisions of the first section of this article (The Initiative), and shall be examined and certified by the clerk in all respects as therein provided.

The Recall.

SEC. 122. The holder of any elective office may be removed at any time by the electors qualified to vote for a successor of such incumbent. The procedure to effect the removal of an incumbent of an elective office shall be as follows: A petition signed by qualified electors entitled to vote for a successor to the incumbent sought to be removed, equal in number to at least thirty per centum of the entire vote for all candidates for the office, the incumbent of which is sought to be removed, cast at the last preceding general municipal election, demanding an election of a successor of the person sought to be removed, shall be filed with the city clerk; provided, that the said petition shall contain a general statement of the grounds for which the removal is sought. The signatures to the petition need not all be appended to one paper, but each signer shall add to his signature his place of residence giving the street and such other identification as may be required by the registration law. One of the signers of each such paper shall make oath before an officer qualified to administer oaths, that the statements therein made are true, and that each signature to the paper appended is the genuine signature of the person whose name purports to be thereunto subscribed. Within ten days after the date of filing such petition the city clerk shall examine, and from the great register ascertain whether or not said petition is signed by the requisite number of qualified electors, and, if necessary, the council shall allow him extra help for that purpose, and he shall attach to said petition his certificate showing the result of said examination. If, by the city clerk's certificate the petition is shown to be insufficient, it may be amended within ten days from the date of said certificate. The clerk shall, within ten days after such amendment, make like examination of the amended petition, and, if his certificate shall show the same to be insufficient, it shall be returned to the person filing the same without prejudice, however, to the filing of a new petition to the same effect. If the petition shall be found to be sufficient, the clerk shall submit the same to the council without delay and the council shall thereupon order and fix a date for holding the said election, not less than thirty days, nor more than forty days from the date of the clerk's certificate to the council that a sufficient petition is filed.

The city council shall make, or cause to be made, publication of notice and all arrangements for holding of such election; and the same shall be conducted, returned, and the result thereof declared in all respects as other city elections. The successor of any officer so removed shall hold office during the unexpired term of his predecessor. Any person sought to be removed may be a candidate to succeed himself, and, unless he requests otherwise, in writing, the clerk shall place his name on the official ballot without nomination. In any such removal election, the candidate receiving the highest number of votes shall be declared elected. At such election, if some other person than the incumbent receives the highest number of votes, the incumbent shall thereupon be deemed removed from the office upon qualification of his successor. In case the party who receives the highest number of votes should fail to qualify within ten days after receiving notification of election, the office shall be deemed vacant. If the incumbent receives the highest number of votes he shall continue in office.

If any special election be ordered held and conducted, it shall be ordered, held, and conducted (except as to date thereof) and the result thereof made known and declared, in the same manner as herein provided for other elections.

ARTICLE VIII.

REVENUE AND FINANCE.

SEC. 130. On or before the last Monday in July in each year the city clerk shall transmit to the mayor and common council, accompanied with the estimates and reports of each department, an estimate of the probable financial necessities of the city government for the fiscal year, stating the amount required to meet the interest and principal on all bonded or funded indebtedness of the city, together with the amount needed for the salaries and probable wants of all the departments of the municipal government in detail, showing specifically the necessities of each fund in the treasury. Such estimate shall also show what amount of income and revenue will probably be collected from fines, licenses, and other sources of revenue, exclusive of taxes upon property, and what amount will probably be required to be levied and raised by taxation in order to meet the necessities of each specific fund for such fiscal year.

SEC. 131. The mayor and common council on or before the first Monday of January, 1907, and annually thereafter while any valid law exists for the assessment and collection of city taxes by officers of the County of San Bernardino, shall pass an ordinance electing to avail the City of San Bernardino of the provisions of an Act entitled: "An Act to provide for the levy and collection of taxes by and for the use of municipal corporations and cities incorporated under the laws of the State of California, except municipal corporations of the first class, and to provide for the consolidation and abolition of certain municipal offices, and to provide that their duties may be performed by certain officers of the county, and fixing the compensation to be allowed for such county officers for the services so rendered to such municipal corporation," approved March 27, 1895, and shall cause a certified copy of such ordinance to be filed with the auditor of said County of San Bernardino. If said act shall be amended, or some other law be substituted in its stead providing for the assessment and collection of city taxes by county officers, the mayor and common council shall conform to the provisions of such amended act or such law in order to avail the city of the privilege of having its taxes assessed and collected by such county officers. Such ordinances shall take effect immediately after their passage and shall not be subject to "The Referendum" as herein-before provided.

SEC. 132. After the time of noon on the first Monday of March, 1907, if for any cause there shall not be in force any ordinance availing the city of the privilege of having its taxes assessed and collected by the officers of the county, and during the time that there shall be no such ordinance or provision in force, the city clerk shall be ex officio assessor, and the chief of police shall be ex officio tax collector; they shall perform respectively the duties and have all the powers prescribed by law or ordinance for assessors and tax collectors. While the city avails itself of the privilege of having its taxes assessed and collected by the county officers, the offices of the city assessor and city tax collector shall not exist. The mayor and common council shall have power, by ordinance, to provide for the compensation of the city clerk while acting as ex-officio assessor, and of the chief of police while acting as ex-officio tax collector for such extra services. The taxes so levied and collected shall be apportioned by the treasurer to the several specific funds.

SEC. 133. Whenever the mayor and common council shall by ordinance determine that the public interest or necessity demands the acquisition, construction, or completion of any municipal improvement, the cost of which would be too great to be paid out of the ordinary annual income and revenue of the city, they are hereby given the power and authority to call a special election and submit to the qualified voters of the city the proposition of incurring indebtedness to pay the cost of such improvement set forth in said ordinance. If said proposition be accepted by a two-thirds vote of the qualified electors voting at such election, the mayor and common council may issue bonds of said city in evidence of said indebtedness; provided, that such indebtedness, together with the unpaid and outstanding bonded indebtedness actually existing at the time such proposition is submitted to said voters, shall not exceed three hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

SEC. 134. The mayor and common council shall not create, audit, or allow or permit to accrue any debt or liability in excess of the available money in the treasury that may be legally apportioned and appropriated for such purposes.

SEC. 135. Every claim and demand against the city, except bonds, coupons for interest, claims payable from the school fund, or from funds not controlled by the mayor and common council, shall be verified and filed with the city clerk at least three days before the same shall be allowed or paid, and shall specify in detail the goods or materials furnished, in quantity and quality, the service performed, or other basis of the claim, and by what authority the goods or materials were furnished or the service performed, giving date of the same and the amount of the claim.

SEC. 136. After allowance by the common council, the city clerk shall present such claim or demand to the mayor, who, within five days thereafter, shall endorse thereon, or annex thereto his approval, or disapproval, and return it to the city clerk. The mayor may approve a claim in part, but when a claim is disapproved in whole, or in part, the reasons of the mayor must be given in full. The common council by the affirmative vote of four of its members may allow a claim, or such portion of a claim, as the mayor has disapproved, but not otherwise.

SEC. 137. Upon the allowance of any such claim a warrant shall be drawn on the city treasurer in favor of the person to whom the allowance was made, specifying for what the warrant is drawn, the fund out of which it is to be paid, and that it can be paid only from the money actually collected and in the fund. The warrant shall be signed by the mayor and countersigned by the city clerk.

SEC. 138. Every claim against funds in the city treasury which may have been incurred or authorized by the board of water commissioners, the board of education, or the board of trustees of the public library, shall be verified and presented to the board incurring or authorizing the indebtedness, who shall approve or disapprove the same.

It shall require at least a majority of all the members of any board or commission voting in the affirmative to approve any claim. Each of such claims when so approved shall be paid by a warrant on the city treasury payable out of the proper fund for payment thereof and signed by the president and secretary of the board which shall have approved the same, or in case of the absence of such president, such warrants may be signed by the president pro tempore of the board. The form of the warrant shall be as hereinbefore provided.

SEC. 139. No claim for commodities furnished, or service performed, shall be valid unless prior to furnishing such commodities or the rendition of the service, authority for the same had been given by the common council or some department of the city government having authority so to do. No member of the common council, or member of any department, and no city officer shall have power to create an indebtedness against the city, or to furnish the basis of a claim without said authority.

SEC. 140. No supplies, material, or other item of expenditure, for an amount exceeding $300, except for personal services, shall be ordered, or purchased by the mayor and common council, or any board, or department of the city, authorized to incur any expenditure, except after first advertising for sealed proposals and awarding a contract to the lowest and best bidder. Each proposal must be accompanied by a certified check in an amount not less than ten per cent of the sum bid, which check must be forfeited to the city upon failure of the person, firm, or corporation bidding to enter into the contract awarded. All contracts awarded by the mayor and common council shall be by ordinance, or resolution. A sufficient bond, payable to the city, with two or more sureties, or a surety company bond, shall be required to secure a faithful performance of each contract awarded.

SEC. 141. The revenue paid into the treasury shall be at once apportioned by the treasurer and kept in separate specific funds as hereinafter provided, and it shall not be lawful to transfer money from one fund to another, or to use the same in payment of demands upon another specific fund, except that money may be transferred from the general fund to any specific fund by resolution of a two-thirds vote of the common council, duly approved by the mayor.

SEC. 142. The several interest and sinking funds of the treasury authorized by law at the time this charter takes effect shall continue therein so long as there shall be occasion therefor, and the moneys therein, or which may belong thereto, shall not be used or appropriated for any purpose other than that for which the same were raised.

SEC. 143. There shall be opened by the treasurer the following specific funds, to wit: Hubbard water bond fund, Antil bond fund, old water bond fund, water fund, street fund, library fund, sewer fund, park-improvement fund, school fund, general fund, and such other funds as may be hereafter designated by ordinance or resolution duly passed by the mayor and common council.

SEC. 144. The mayor and common council, at the time of making the annual tax levy, shall levy for each of said specific funds an amount sufficient to meet the necessary expenditures therefrom. Said funds shall consist of moneys so levied and of such other moneys as may be apportioned thereto. All moneys paid or collected for fines, or fees, or licenses, and all moneys not directed to be paid into any other specific fund shall be paid into the treasury to the credit of the general fund.

SEC. 145. Out of the Hubbard water bond fund shall be paid all Hubbard water bonds and interest coupons thereof as they fall due; out of the Antil bond fund shall be paid all Antil bonds and interest coupons thereof as they fall due; out of the old water bond fund shall be paid the bonds and interest coupons thereof as they fall due.

SEC. 146. Out of the water fund shall be paid all warrants drawn thereon duly authorized by the board of water commissioners.

SEC. 147. Out of the street fund shall be paid all sums authorized to be paid for repairing and improving streets which shall have been accepted so as to become a charge upon said city; for cleaning streets, crossings, and sewers; for street sprinkling, or oiling; for all street work in front of, or assessable upon property owned by said city, or any department thereof, or by the government of the United States; for all repairs upon the public streets deemed of urgent necessity, and for all other expenditures on the streets and highways deemed necessary by the mayor and common council and authorized by any provision of this charter.

SEC. 148. Out of the library fund shall be paid all warrants drawn thereon duly authorized by the board of library trustees.

SEC. 149. Out of the sewer fund shall be paid all sums authorized to be paid for construction and repair of such sewers, or systems of drainage, as may be ordered by the mayor and common council, and which is not chargeable on private property.

SEC. 150. Out of the park improvement fund shall be paid all sums authorized to be paid for such materials, supplies, tools, machinery, appliances, labor and service, as well as for seeds, plants, vines, shrubs, trees, animals, and museums which the common council may procure for preserving, improving, and beautifying the public grounds and parks.

SEC. 151. All moneys received for the grammar, or high school, or any other school authorized by law, or school moneys received from any source, shall be paid into the county treasury, and be disbursed under the general school laws of the State.

SEC. 152. Out of the general fund shall be paid all claims not provided to be paid out of any other specific fund.

SEC. 153. Any demand against the treasury or against any fund thereof remaining unpaid at the end of the fiscal year for lack of money in the treasury applicable to its payment may be paid out of any money which may subsequently come into the proper fund from delinquent taxes or other uncollected income or revenue for such year. Such demands shall be paid out of such delinquent revenue, when collected, in the order of their registration.

ARTICLE IX.

SEC. 160. There is hereby created a commission, consisting of three members, to be known as the board of water commissioners, to be appointed by the mayor, subject to the confirmation of the common council, and whose term of office shall be four years; provided, that the term of one of said commissioners first appointed shall expire on the second Monday of May, 1907, and the term of the other two of said commissioners first appointed shall expire on the second Monday of May, 1909. No more than two of the members of said board shall be of the same political party, and no person shall be eligible to appointment as a member of said board unless he shall have been a qualified elector of the city for the period of five years next preceding the date of his appointment.

SEC. 161. Before entering upon the duties of his office, each member of the board of water commissioners shall make and subscribe before some officer authorized by law to certify oaths, the same oath of office required of other city officers.

SEC. 162. The first board of water commissioners appointed hereunder shall, within one week after their confirmation by the common council, and thereafter their successors shall biennially meet and organize by the election of one of their number as president. And said board shall within a reasonable time thereafter, not to exceed thirty days, make an inventory of all the property of the city pertaining to the water department that is on hand and in use, consisting of lands, reservoirs, conduits, rights of way, pipes, pipe lines, hydrants, gates, engines, pumps, tools, wells, and private water service connection, and shall estimate the value of all such property to determine the whole amount the city has invested in its water system; and shall enter said inventory, together with such estimates, in a record book to be kept by said commission, and shall therein keep a record of all property belonging to the water service of the city, afterwards acquired, together with a record and account of the disposition of any property of said department which has been, or may be, sold, lost, destroyed or worn out.

SEC. 163. The board of water commissioners is hereby authorized and empowered as follows:

First—To establish and collect all water rates, collect all rentals from water-bearing lands, and generally regulate, control, manage, renew, repair, and extend the entire water system of the city; provided, however, that no indebtedness shall be incurred by said board unless there shall be sufficient moneys on hand in the water fund of the city at the time the indebtedness is incurred to pay the same.

Second—To employ and discharge at will such help as the necessities of the water service may demand, and fix the compensation of any and all employés in said water service, and said employés to be paid out of the water fund; and said board shall have power to require of any employé in the water department an adequate bond for the faithful performance of his duties.

Third—To make rules and regulations governing the conduct of said board and the members thereof.

SEC. 164. The board shall have power to control and order the expenditure of all money received from sale or use of water, for the defraying of expenses for maintenance and repairs and operation of the water system, and for any expenses or additions to the same; and for supplying the city with water for any and all purposes; provided, that all such money shall be deposited in the treasury of the city to the credit of a fund to be known as the water fund, and shall be kept separate and apart from other moneys of the city, and shall only be drawn from said fund upon demands authenticated by the signatures of the president and secretary of the board, or in the absence of the president, by the signatures of two members and the secretary of the board, except that the common council at the time of fixing the general tax levy, may in its discretion by ordinance or resolution, apportion and set apart out of the moneys then in said water fund in excess of two thousand dollars, an amount sufficient to meet all sums coming due for interest or principal, or for interest and principal, upon any or all outstanding water-works bonds before the time for the next general tax levy; and the city treasurer shall thereupon transfer the moneys so apportioned to the proper bond fund, and shall use the money so apportioned to make the aforesaid payment and for no other purpose; and if there shall be a surplus remaining the same shall forthwith be re-transferred into said water fund.

SEC. 165. Said board shall cause to be kept in proper books provided therefor, a complete and accurate account of all the receipts and disbursements on account of said water system, and the same shall be kept open to the inspection of the public at any and all reasonable hours.

SEC. 166. And from time to time, as the water service of the city increases, said board shall cause to be made additional maps showing in detail the increased water service of the city.

SEC. 167. Not less than thirty days, nor more than forty days, prior to the fixing of the general tax levy by the common council, and at any other time when required by the common council, said board shall make and file with the clerk of said common council, a report, showing a full detailed statement of the financial condition of the water department; together with an estimate of the needs and requirements of said department for the ensuing year and the costs thereof. And whenever required by the common council said board shall make and file with the clerk of said common council, a full and complete detailed statement of all property of whatsoever nature or kind belonging to said water department.

SEC. 168. The city clerk shall be ex-officio secretary of said board, and shall keep a record of the proceedings thereof; and shall, whenever required so to do, certify such proceedings under his hand, the same to be authenticated by seal, if a seal is adopted and provided by said board for that purpose.

First—To fix and prescribe the salaries, qualifications, duties, rank, badges of office and uniforms of the officers, members and employes of said departments; to prescribe rules and regulations for the government and discipline of the same, and to prescribe and enforce penalties for the violation thereof;

Second—To hear and summarily determine all complaints of misconduct, inefficiency, or violation of rules or other charges against any officer, member or employe of said departments, and to take such action thereon as shall be most conducive to the maintenance and discipline and efficiency of such departments. SEC. 199. The city superintendent of schools and each member of the board of education shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations in all matters connected with the department. And the board shall have power to compel the attendance of witnesses in all matters of examination, or investigation before such board. SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 5.

Resolution approving two amendments to the charter of the City of Sacramento, a municipal corporation, voted for and ratified by the qualified electors of said city on the 3d day of November, A. D. 1903.

WHEREAS, The City of Sacramento, in the County of Sacramento, State of California, contains a population of over ten thousand and less than one hundred thousand inhabitants, and has ever since the year 1891, and is now organized and acting under a freeholders' charter adopted under and by virtue of Section 8, of Article XI, of the Constitution of the State of California, which charter was duly ratified by a majority of the qualified electors of said city voting at a special election duly called and held for that purpose on the 17th day of May, 1892, and was duly approved by the Legislature of the State of California on the 7th day of February, 1893 (Statutes of 1893, page 545), which charter has never been amended; and

WHEREAS, Fifteen per cent of the qualified voters of the said City of Sacramento duly petitioned the Board of Trustees of said city to submit two certain proposed amendments to the charter of said city to the qualified voters thereof for approval, pursuant to Section 8, Article XI, of the Constitution of the State of California, and said Board of Trustees of the City of Sacramento, did thereafter, on the 24th day of August, 1903, duly submit the same to the qualified voters of the said City of Sacramento at the general city election to be held on the 3rd day of November, A. D. 1903; which said amendments are hereinafter set forth; and

WHEREAS, Said proposed amendments were, and each of them was published for twenty days in a daily newspaper printed and published in said City of Sacramento, and of general circulation therein, to wit, in the Sacramento Union, said publication ending on the 17th day of September, 1903; and

WHEREAS, A general municipal election was held in said City of Sacramento on the 3d day of November, 1903, (at least forty days after the publication of said proposed amendments for twenty days in said daily newspaper of general circulation in said City of Sacramento, to wit, the Sacramento Union), and said proposed amendments to said charter were duly submitted to the qualified electors of said city for their ratification at said general municipal election; and

WHEREAS, At said general election more than a majority of the qualified electors voting thereon, voted in favor of the ratification of said amendments and did ratify said amendments and each and both of said proposed amendments to said charter; and

WHEREAS, The Board of Trustees of said City of Sacramento at its first regular meeting thereafter, to wit, on the 9th day of November, 1903, duly canvassed the returns of said election and duly found, determined and declared that more than a majority of such qualified electors voting thereon at said election, had voted for and ratified each of said proposed amendments to said charter; which said amendments are in the words and figures following, to wit:

1. That a new section be added to said city charter to be known as section 231, which shall read as follows:

Section 231. The Initiative. Any proposed ordinance may be submitted to the Trustees by a petition signed by registered electors of the city equal in number to the percentage hereinafter required. The signatures to the petition need not all be appended to one paper, but each signer shall add to his signature his place of residence, giving the street and number. One of the signers of each such paper shall make oath before an officer competent to administer oaths, that the statements therein made are true, and that each signature to the paper appended is the genuine signature of the person whose name purports to be thereunto subscribed. Within ten days from date of filing such petition the City Clerk shall examine and from the great register ascertain whether or not said petition is signed by the requisite number of qualified electors, and if necessary the Trustees shall allow him extra help for that purpose, and he shall attach to said petition his certificate showing the result of said examination. If, by the Clerk's certificate, the petition is shown to be insufficient, it may be amended within ten days from the date of said certificate. The Clerk shall, within ten days after such amendment, make like examination of the amended petition, and if his certificate shall show the same to be insufficient, it shall be returned to the person filing the same, without prejudice, however, to the filing of a new petition to the same effect. If the petition shall be found sufficient, the Clerk shall submit the same to the Trustees without delay.

If the petition accompanying the proposed ordinance be signed by the electors equal in number to fifteen per cent of the entire vote cast for all candidates for Mayor at the last preceding general election at which a Mayor was elected, and contains a request that said ordinance be submitted forthwith to a vote of the people at a special election, then the Trustees shall either:

(a) Pass said ordinance without alteration within twenty days after the attachment of the Clerk's certificate of sufficiency to the accompanying petition (subject to a referendary vote under the provisions of Section 232 of this charter) and if the ordinance shall be passed by the Trustees, but shall be vetoed by the Mayor and on reconsideration shall fail of passage by the Trustees then, within five days after determination that said ordinance shall have so failed of final adoption, the Trustees shall proceed to call a special election at which said ordinance, without alteration shall be submitted to a vote of the people; or

(b) Forthwith after the Clerk shall attach to the petition accompanying such ordinance his certificate of sufficiency, the Trustees shall proceed to call a special election at which said ordinance, without alteration shall be submitted to a vote of the people.

If the petition be signed by electors equal in number to at least ten per cent but less than fifteen per cent of the entire vote cast for all candidates for Mayor at the last preceding general election at which a Mayor was elected, then such ordinance without alteration, shall be submitted by the Trustees to a vote of the people at the next general municipal election that shall occur at any time after thirty days from the date of the Clerk's certificate of sufficiency attached to the petition accompanying such ordinance.

The ballots used when voting upon said proposed ordinance shall contain the words "For the Ordinance" (stating the nature of the proposed ordinance) and "Against the Ordinance" (stating general nature of the proposed ordinance). If a majority of the qualified electors voting on said proposed ordinance shall vote in favor thereof, such ordinance shall thereupon become a valid and binding ordinance of the city; and any ordinance proposed by petition and passed by the Trustees as provided in paragraph (a) of this section or which shall be adopted by a vote of the people, cannot be repealed or amended, except by a vote of the people.

Any number of proposed ordinances may be voted upon at the same election, in accordance with the provisions of this section, provided, that there shall not be held under this section of the charter, more than one special election in any period of six months.

The Trustees may submit a proposition for the repeal of any such ordinance, or for amendments thereto, to be voted upon at any succeeding general or special (unless the State law forbids the submission of such proposition at said special election) city election; and should such proposition so submitted, receive a majority of the votes cast thereon at such election, such ordinance shall be repealed or amended accordingly. Whenever any ordinance or proposition is required or authorized by this charter to be submitted to the voters of the city, at any election, the City Clerk shall cause the ordinance or proposition to be printed, and he shall enclose a printed copy thereof in an envelope with a sample ballot, and mail the same to each voter, at least ten days prior to the election, but the City Trustees may order such ordinance or proposition to be printed in the official newspaper of the city and published in a like manner as ordinances adopted by the Trustees are required to be published, and may order that such publication shall take the place of the printing and mailing of the ordinance or proposition and of the sample ballot as first above provided.

2. That a new section be added to said city charter to be known as Section 232, which shall read as follows:

Section 232. The Referendum. No ordinance passed by the City Trustees (except when otherwise required by the general laws of the State or by the provisions of this charter, respecting street improvements and except an ordinance for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health or safety, which contains a statement of its urgency, and is passed by a two-thirds vote of the Trustees, but no grant of any franchise or concession shall be construed to be an urgency measure, but all franchises and concessions shall be subject to the referendary vote herein provided) shall go into effect before thirty days from the time of its final passage and its approval by the Mayor; and if during said thirty days a petition signed by the electors of the city equal in numbers to at least ten per cent of the entire vote cast for all candidates for Mayor at the last preceding general election at which a Mayor was elected, protesting against the passage of such ordinance, be presented to the Trustees, the same shall thereupon be suspended from going into operation, and it shall be the duty of the Trustees to reconsider such ordinance and if the same is not entirely repealed the Trustees shall submit the ordinance as is provided in Section 231 of this charter, to the vote of the electors of the city, either at the next general election or at a special municipal election to be called for that purpose, and such ordinance shall not go into effect or become operative unless a majority of the qualified electors voting on the same shall vote in favor thereof. Said petition shall be in all respects in accordance with the provisions of said Section 231, except as to the percentage of signers, and be examined and certified by the Clerk in all respects as is therein provided.

Any ordinance or measure that the Trustees or the qualified electors of the city shall have authority to enact, the Trustees may of its own motion submit to the electors for adoption or rejection at a regular or special election, in the same manner and with the same force and effect as is provided in this charter for ordinances or measures submitted on petition. At any special election called under the provisions of this charter there shall be no bar to the submission of other questions to a vote of the electors in addition to the ordinances or measures herein provided for, if said other questions are such as may legally be submitted at such an election. If the provisions of two or more measures approved or adopted at the same election, under the provisions of this charter conflict, then the measure receiving the highest affirmative vote shall control.

REPORT OF STANDING COMMITTEE—(OUT OF ORDER).

EXPLAINING CHANGES IN LAWS PROPOSED BY BILLS.

Mr. Drew was granted leave to submit the following report on behalf of the Committee on Revision and Reform of Laws, and the report was ordered printed in the Journal:

ON REVISION AND REFORM OF LAWS.

ASSEMBLY CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, January 31, 1905.

MR. SPEAKER: Your Committee on Revision and Reform of Laws hereby makes a special report with reference to the fourteen Code revision bills, now on the special file of said bills, and ready for third reading.

ASSEMBLY BILL No. 264.

Should be referred to a committee of one to amend by striking out of line 2 of the title the following: "Seventy."

Civil Code—Section 58: The provisions of this section are contained in the present Section 82. The section is therefore unnecessary.

Civil Code—Section 60: The change consists of the insertion of the word "Mongolians" after the word "negroes."

Civil Code—Section 68: The change consists in the substitution of the word "others" for "other" before "than"; the substitution of "a party" for "the parties" after "than"; and the substitution of "it" for "that marriage" after "invalidate." The meaning of the section is unchanged.

Civil Code—Section 79½: The change consists of the omission of the words "procuring a license and" after "to" in line 3, Section 4, page 2, of the printed bill, thus requiring a license in every case, but leaving the mode of celebrating the marriage as at present. The section is renumbered 79a.

Civil Code—Section 84: The design of the amendment is to make the rule declared in this section applicable to all judgments adjudging marriage null, the present section applying only to cases where a marriage is annulled on the ground that a former husband or wife was living.

ASSEMBLY BILL No. 265.

Civil Code—Sections 242, 243, 244, and 245: The provisions of the above sections, relating to guardian and ward, are controlled by Sections 1747, 1758, and 1793 of the Code of Civil Procedure. They are, therefore, unnecessary and misleading.

Civil Code—Section 246: The change consists in the addition of Subdivision 4, which is a codification of the Statute of 1873-4, page 297, relating to the care of orphan and abandoned children. The penal provisions of that Act are, however, omitted, as they do not properly find a place in this Code.

Civil Code—Section 247: The subject-matter of this section is provided for in Section 1753 of the Code of Civil Procedure.

Civil Code—Sections 248 and 249: The provisions of these sections are included in Sections 1753 and 1770 of the Code of Civil Procedure.

Civil Code—Section 258: This section, which prescribed the mode of placing insane persons in the asylum, has been supplanted by later legislation (see Statutes of 1897, page 311, relative to the establishment of a lunacy commission, and Political Code, Sections 2136 to 2199).

ASSEMBLY BILL No. 336.

Civil Code—Sections 403 and 404: The Bill adds a new chapter, entitled "General Provisions Affecting Corporations." Said chapter is made up of the old Section 403, which now stands in a chapter entitled "Extension and Dissolution of Corporations," and of the matter now in Section 384, which now stands in a chapter entitled "Examination of Corporations." The object of the rearrangement is the placing of the sections under a more appropriate chapter heading.

ASSEMBLY BILL No. 335.

Civil Code—Section 399: This section, which purports merely to designate the place in the Code of Civil Procedure, where the dissolution of corporations is provided for, does not state any rule of law and constitutes but an imperfect index to the provisions referred to.

Civil Code—Section 400: The change consists in the substitution of the word "a" for "such" in line 4.

Civil Code—Section 401: The design of the amendment is to require the written assent of stockholders representing two thirds of the capital stock instead of permitting two thirds in number of the stockholders to act by their written consent. The change consists in the substitution of the words "two thirds of the members or of stockholders representing two thirds of the capital stock" in place of "that number of stockholders or members," in lines 11 and 12.

ASSEMBLY BILL No. 333.

Civil Code—Section 322: The change consists of the substitution of the language of the first sentence of Section 3, of Article XII, of the Constitution, in place of the first sentence of the present section. As the section now stands it is believed to be unconstitutional. (See Larabee vs. Baldwin, 35 Cal. 155.) The words "an equal share" are substituted for "his proportion," in line 46.

Civil Code—Section 323: The change consists in the addition of the words "but any certificate issued prior to full payment must show on its face what amount has been paid thereon" (lines 7 to 9), the object being to require a certificate issued prior to full payment to show the amount paid thereon.

Civil Code—Section 325: The amendment is designed to make it clear that shares of stock standing in the name of a married woman are presumed to be her separate property and that they may be dealt with by her as such, in the absence of proof and notice to the contrary.

ASSEMBLY BILL No. 332.

Civil Code—Sections 264 and 276: The bill is a codification of the Statute of 1875-6, page 842, relative to masters and apprentices, as amended in 1880, page 28, the old chapter being repealed and the provisions of the Acts above referred to substituted in place thereof.

In this codification Section 1 of the statute has been made Section 264; Sections 2 and 7, 265; Sections 3, 4, 5, and 12, 266; Section 6, 267; Section 8 and the latter part of Section 9, 268; the first clause of Section 9 and all of Section 10, 269; Section 11, 270; Section 13, 271; Section 14, 272; Section 15, 273; Sections 16 and 17, 274; Section 19, 275; Section 20, 276.

It will be observed that Section 18 of the statute has been omitted. It purports to make the parties to an indenture of apprenticeship liable to the master for any breach thereof.

The theory of the statute is that the contract of apprenticeship is not made by the minor, but by his parent or guardian. If such parent or guardian is made personally liable on the contract, a parent will rarely, and the guardian almost never, enter into it. It seems sufficient that such parent or guardian be made answerable for the cost of the proceeding brought by the master to be released from the indenture, as provided for in Section 274. The master on his part is not absolutely bound, because he may, if he wishes to remove from the State, or to quit his trade or business, apply to be released from his contract, and he may take like action whenever the apprentice is guilty of neglect, refusal to do his duty, or gross misbehavior. These considerations seem to furnish good reason for the omission of the section.

ASSEMBLY BILL No. 331.

Civil Code—Section 299: The change consists in the insertion of the words "other than the county in which its original articles of incorporation are filed" after "state," in line 4, Section 1.

Civil Code—Section 302: The change consists in the omission of the words "and the right to vote determined" after "given" in line 7, Section 2. The right to vote is controlled by Section 307.

Civil Code—Section 304: The provisions of the present section, declaring that no by-law or any amendment thereof shall take effect until copied in the book of by-laws, is amended so as to permit by-laws and amendments thereof, which have been duly passed, to be treated as valid and enforceable against the corporation and persons having notice thereof, regardless of whether or not they have been copied into the proper book. It has often happened that by-laws have been published and generally acted upon by the corporation, and by others, and then their effect has been sought to be avoided on account of the failure of the proper officer to perform his duty of copying them as the code directs. The change consists in the addition of the last sentence (lines 26 to 29).

Civil Code—Section 309: The change consists in the omission of the words "nor must they divide, withdraw or pay to the stockholders, or any of them, any part of the capital stock," where those words first occur, and in the omission of the words "in the event of its dissolution," after "thereof," in line 5.

The reason for the omission of the words first above alluded to is that by some clerical error they occur twice in the section. The words "in the event of its dissolution" are omitted because their presence makes it impossible to enforce the liability against the directors unless the corporation is first dissolved, which could not have been the intention of the Legislature.

Civil Code—Section 310: The amendment, while it authorizes the removal of the whole board of directors by a two-thirds vote of the members or stockholders, denies the power to remove less than the whole number by such vote.

The reason for this is that by the system of cumulative voting sanctioned by Section 307, a minority may obtain representation in the board of directors; if so, a director elected to represent a minority of one third ought not to be removed by the subsequent vote of the other two thirds, and the system of cumulative voting and minority representation thus made ineffective. The first sentence only is changed.

Civil Code—Section 311: By the amendment proposed the holders of a majority of the stock, though their number is less than three, are authorized to apply to the justice to issue a warrant for an election. The change consists in the addition of the last sentence, lines 13 to 15.

Civil Code—Section 312: The change consists in the substitution of the words "Superior Court," in place of "District Court," in line 12, and in the omission of the words "bona fide" before "stockholder" in line 7. For the purposes of election, a person appearing upon the books of the corporation to be a stockholder should be permitted to vote, and election officers should not be vested with authority to deny such a stockholder the right to vote, or to claim that for some reason he is not a bona fide stockholder. (See Smith vs. S. F. & N. P. Ry. Co., 115 Cal. 584.)

Civil Code—Section 314: The design of the amendment is to extend the provisions of the section to all elections howsoever authorized, and for this purpose the words "by law" are inserted after "appointed," "in" is omitted after "appointed" and "or otherwise" are inserted after "by-laws."

Civil Code—Section 315: The change consists in the substitution of the words "Superior Court of the county" for "District Court of the district."

ASSEMBLY BILL No. 266.

Civil Code—Section 226: The first two sentences of this section have been recast with the design of making the proceeding for adoption judicial, thereby supporting it by the same intendment which are indulged in favor of other proceedings conducted in courts of record.

Civil Code—Section 227: The change consists in the substitution of the word "court" for the word "judge" in line 3, and in the addition of the last sentence, lines 8 to 10, said sentence being added for the purpose of making it clear that the papers constituting part of the adoption, or of the proceeding therefor, must be filed and preserved by the clerk.

ASSEMBLY BILL No. 390.

Civil Code—Section 465a: This section is a codification of the Statute of 1893, page 208, relating to the operation of railroads.

Civil Code—Section 468: The amendment consists in codifying and adding to the section the provisions of the Act of 1880, page 43, to compel the operation of railroads, and of the Statute of 1897, page 5, to provide for the management and operation of railroads above certain elevations.

Civil Code—Section 473a: Section 2 of the Statute of 1880, page 21, authorizing railway and other corporations organized under the laws of this State or of any State or Territory of the United States, to do business in this State, on equal terms, is codified in this section.

Civil Code—Section 481: The amendment consists in the substitution of the word "its" for "their" in line 3, and the substitution of "it" for "they" in line 5, thus correcting errors of grammar.

Civil Code—Section 489: Section 11 of the Statute of 1880, page 47, defining the powers of the Board of Railroad Commissioners, is substituted in place of the present Section 489. The section has been inoperative since the adoption of the Constitution of 1879.

ASSEMBLY BILL No. 388.

Civil Code—Sections 453a, 453b, and 453c: The Statute of 1875-6, page 689, concerning the powers of underwriters, as amended by the Statute of 1897, page 223, is codified in the sections above named, a new chapter being added, entitled "Corporations to Discover Fire, and to Save Property and Human Life From Destruction Thereby," to consist of Sections 453a, 453b, and 453c.

ASSEMBLY BILL No. 387.

Civil Code—Sections 452a, and 453: The Statute of 1873-4, page 745, as amended by the Statutes of 1880, page 25, and 1901, page 6, relating to mutual benefit associations, is codified in the above sections and a new chapter entitled "Mutual Benefit and Life Associations" is added, to consist of Sections 452a and 453.

It should be amended by reference to a committee of one, to amend by striking out the word "one" in line 7, page 1, of the printed bill, and inserting in lieu thereof the word "three," to make it conform to the amendment of Statutes of 1901, page 6.

ASSEMBLY BILL No 386.

Civil Code—Sections 431 and 452: Section 431, which deals with the amounts to be received by life insurance companies, now stands in a chapter entitled "Fire, Marine and Title Insurance Corporations." It is transferred to a more appropriate chapter and numbered 452.

Civil Code—Section 448: This section exempts accident insurance companies from stamp duties, but as there are no such duties under the law as it now stands, the section is unnecessary.

This bill should be referred to a special committee of one to amend by striking out of lines 1-3 of the title the following: "Amend sections four hundred and thirty-seven, four hundred and forty-seven, four hundred and forty-nine, and four hundred and fifty," and also by striking out of line 4 of the title the following: "Four hundred and forty-four."

ASSEMBLY BILL No. 385.

Civil Code—Section 428: The change consists of the insertion of the words "at once" before "reinsuring," in line 7.

ASSEMBLY BILL No. 384.

Civil Code—Section 414: The change consists of the insertion of the words "of any insurance company" after "incorporation," in line 4, thus making the section applicable, as was no doubt intended by the Legislature, to insurance corporations only.

Civil Code—Section 415: The change consists in omitting the clause in the last sentence of the section as it now stands, excusing the corporation from disposing of real property if it procures a certificate of an insurance commissioner that it will suffer by such sale, said clause being in conflict with that part of Section 9, of Article XII, of the Constitution which declares that no corporation shall "hold for a longer period than five years any real estate except such as may be necessary for carrying on its business."

Civil Code—Section 417: The change consists in the substitution of the word "its" for "their" before "by-laws," thus correcting an error in grammar.

Civil Code—Section 418: The change consists in the omission of the words "the estates of" before "all" in line 6.

Civil Code—Sections 421 and 427: The new section, 421, consists of the matter now in Section 427, which is a part of the chapter entitled "Fire, Marine, and Title Insurance Corporations." The change of location is intended to make the section clearly applicable to all insurance corporations. Accordingly Section 427 is repealed.

Respectfully submitted.

DREW, Chairman.

COMMITTEE REPORT ON PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS.

The Committee on State Hospitals and Asylums submitted the following report, together with the accompanying resolution, which were read:

ON STATE HOSPITALS AND ASYLUMS.

ASSEMBLY CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, January 27, 1905.

MR. SPEAKER: Your Committee on State Hospitals and Asylums which was heretofore, to wit: on the 18th day of January, 1905, granted leave of absence to visit certain State institutions, beg leave to report that the following members of said committee, to wit: F. A. Cromwell, P. S. King, Fred V. Severance, E. K. Strobbridge, Fayette Mitchellree, W. F. Gates, Fred J. Meincke, Eugene E. Pfaeille, John F. Pryor, and W. D. L. Held, did, after the adjournment of your honorable body on the 20th day of January, 1905, visit the Napa State Hospital, and did there continue their said visit at said institution until the 21st day of January, 1905. That thereafter and on the same day the said members of said committee proceeded to the Veterans' Home of California at Yountville, in said State, and did remain there until the 22d day of January, 1905. That subsequently and on the same day the said members of said committee proceeded to Eldridge, in said State of California, where they visited the California Home for the Care and Training of Feeble-Minded Children. That thereafter and on the same day the said members of said committee did proceed to Talmage, in said State, at which place they visited the Mendocino State Hospital. That thereafter and on the 24th day of January, 1905, the said members of said committee returned to Sacramento.

That your committee made careful examination of all matters coming within their province at the institutions visited by them, as aforesaid, and carefully inquired and examined into the needs of said institutions in order to make proper recommendations upon the bills heretofore referred to this committee.

We found at the Napa State Hospital that the patients in said institution were well and amply cared for; that the accommodations for the patients and officers are sufficient; that all departments of said institution are well conducted. We found that said institution is in receipt of the sum of about $2,000 monthly into its contingent fund, and that the sum is being expended in making various improvements at said institution.

There are at said hospital about ninety cows, and the milk received therefrom is ample for all purposes, including the butter supply of said hospital. There is, however, no creamery at said institution, and consequently, notwithstanding the fact that sufficient milk is produced there, we find that each month said hospital is called upon to purchase 3,600 pounds of butter.

We believe that by the erection of a creamery upon the said premises a great saving could be effected to the State.

We find that in some portions of the building, notably in the tailor shop, the floor is badly worn and in need of repairs. The attention of the Superintendent was directed thereto by us, and we have been advised that the matter will receive prompt attention. Wherever there are wooden stairs in said institution we find that the same are also badly worn, and similar recommendations have been made with relation thereto as were made with reference to the floors.

We examined into the means of escape, in case of fire, from said institution, and find that the hospital is well equipped in that regard.

There has been introduced Assembly Bill No. 550, providing for the purchase of land adjoining the said hospital and the erection thereon of a dam and storage reservoir for the use and benefit of said hospital, and an appropriation of $60,000 for said purposes.

We find that at present the water supply for said institution is secured from wells for domestic purposes and from a chain of lakes for irrigating purposes. The water now used for irrigation cannot be employed for domestic purposes, for the reason that it is stagnant during the summer months, and is contained in lakes which receive their sole supply from the rainfall during the winter and are not replenished from any source whatever until the rainfall of the following year. On the eastern edge of the valley, in which said hospital is situated, there exists a range of mountains in which a stream, known as Kruse Creek, has its source. This stream flows westerly and through the lands of the Napa State Hospital, carrying a large volume of water. The eastern portion of said stream is situated upon lands not belonging to the State, and it is now sought by said Assembly Bill No. 550 to purchase the land extending from the source of said stream to the eastern boundary line of the lands of said hospital, and by the purchase of said lands the State of California would acquire the entire right to the whole of said creek and the lands upon which it is situated, together with a sufficient distance on either side of said creek to insure a sufficient protection for the water flowing therein. The figure placed upon this land, containing 160 acres, is $7,500. We have made inquiry as to the least figure at which said land can be bought, and find that $7,500 is the minimum price therefor. The balance of $52,500 of the appropriation asked for by said bill it is proposed to expend in constructing a dam some three miles east of the said hospital, and the point at which it is sought to use said water. In our opinion the said sum of $52,500 is sufficient to meet the cost of the present needs with reference to said dam. Should the occasion hereafter arise for an additional water supply it could easily be brought about by adding to the height of said dam. We deem the acquisition of said land and construction of said dam to be absolutely necessary to secure an adequate water supply for the said Napa State Hospital.

We made inquiry also into the facts surrounding the death on December 25, 1904, of the patient, Louis. From our examination of the facts we are not prepared to say that the death of said patient was brought about as charged, by violence at the hands of one Reitzman and one Shanahan, attendants at said hospital, nor are we prepared to say that if violence upon the part of said attendants caused his death the injuries inflicted upon said Louis were inflicted with malice aforethought. The said attendants above named were, upon the complaint of the Medical Superintendent of said hospital, arrested on a charge of murder, and after a preliminary examination thereon were committed for trial, without bail, and they are now incarcerated in the county jail at Napa, in said State, awaiting trial in the Superior Court. We are satisfied that the injuries received by said patient, whether caused by said attendants or self-inflicted, could have been avoided had the said attendants not violated one of the rules of said hospital, namely, that rule which prohibits one attendant alone from releasing a patient from restraint. That this rule was violated there is no question, and this fact is conceded even by the persons under arrest. We are convinced, also, that the Medical Superintendent has, for the conduct of said institution, formulated a code of rules which, if complied with, would not permit such an occurrence to happen, and that said superintendent has at all times endeavored, and we believe with great success, in enforcing said rules, and whenever they have been transgressed the guilty parties have been discharged. The discipline at this institution we find to be excellent.

We do not feel that any action by our committee or by your honorable body is necessary in the matter of the death of said Louis, for the reason that everything that could be done in the matter has been done by the authorities of said hospital, and the said authorities are exerting every effort to secure a thorough examination and a decision of said case upon the merits.

VETERANS' HOME OF CALIFORNIA.

We find at this institution that there are over 800 members; that they are well fed and cared for and seem to be contented and satisfied. We find no overcrowding at this place. A new hospital has been erected at the Home, with appropriations heretofore made, and we believe that the sums so spent have been wisely expended.

We find that the Veterans' Home Association did heretofore, by proper conveyance, transfer to the State of California, a certain tract of land in Napa County, known as the Veterans' Home, with the improvements and furnishings thereon, the acceptance of which conveyance was authorized by an Act approved March 11, 1897. We find further that within the confines of the lands so accepted by the State are situated two acres of land owned by the Veterans' Home Association. These parties own also a right of way from said two-acre tract easterly to the county road. On said two-acre tract there is located a spring which furnishes about 20,000 gallons of water per day. The water supply of said institution is furnished by springs situated west of the said institution and we find the same to be inadequate for the purposes of said institution.

In our opinion it is necessary that the said additional water supply that could be gotten from said spring on said two-acre tract is necessary to meet the requirements of said Home. Assembly Bill No. 201 has been introduced providing for the purchase of said land and the payment of $3,000 therefor. Aside from the value of said spring thereon the said land has a value of about $200. Taking all the circumstances into consideration, however, we are of the opinion that if the State can acquire said land for $3,000 it would be advisable to do so.

Assembly Bill No. 413 has been referred to this committee providing for a fixed annual appropriation of $65,000 in the place and stead of $75 per annum for each inmate. The average number of inmates at said home is almost 800, calling for an appropriation of about $55,000 per annum. It is sought by said Assembly Bill No. 413 to increase said appropriation by about $10,000 per annum. We find that the affairs of said institution are economically managed, but that during the last month there has been spent $2,000 in excess of one twelfth of the annual appropriation and that no unusual expenditure has been called for during said time. It is therefore our opinion that $10,000 per annum would be a reasonable increase to allow to said home for the care of the inmates thereof. The Federal Government allows to said institution $100 for each inmate per annum and if the State should allow $65,000 it would amount to about $85 per annum from that source, making a total of $185 for each inmate, which in our opinion is a reasonable sum for said purpose. We find that the sum heretofore appropriated has been sufficient by reason of the fact that there existed up to a short time ago a post canteen at said home, from which considerable profit was derived for the benefit of said home. By Act of Congress the said canteen was abolished and the profits which had theretofore been received therefrom are no longer available for the benefit of said home, and by reason thereof a deficiency will arise in the funds for the maintenance of the said inmates unless an appropriation is made in accordance with the terms of Assembly Bill No. 413.

We recommend that the San Francisco office of the Board of Directors of the Veterans' Home be abolished, by which means a large saving can be effected to the State. We do not believe that the maintaining of an office at San Francisco is of any advantage to the institution, the State or the inmates of the home.

We would also recommend that there be a decrease in the number of directors of the home and to that end we recommend the passage of Assembly Bill No. 325.

CALIFORNIA HOME FOR THE CARE AND TRAINING OF FEEBLE-MINDED CHILDREN.

We found the hospital at Glen Ellen certainly in a deplorable condition, evidence on every hand showing that this institution has been neglected by the State for years past. As an illustration of the crowded condition of this home we noticed one dormitory for the accommodation of girls containing twenty-nine beds was but 17½ feet wide and 58 feet long. In the two school-rooms there are less than forty desks, and there are about one hundred and thirty children to be accommodated with two teachers at $40 a month; and in order that the intention of the law by which this home was established may be complied with in its fullest sense, we heartily recommend that more teachers and more school-room facilities be provided.

We found here the superintendent and attendants kind and more than considerate of the unfortunate wards under their supervision and care. We congratulate the State upon having a board of managers for this institution working in perfect harmony for the welfare of the institution and the interests of the taxpayers.

We found that the butcher shop and kitchen are too small and the ranges or cook stoves are too small. They need more room, more cottages, more attendants, more light and ventilation. The buildings asked for by the bills now before the Assembly are sorely needed in order to accommodate those seeking and entitled to admission, but whose applications must be denied for want of room. Unless relief is granted your committee would most heartily recommend that the name of this institution be changed to read "California Home for Part of the Feeble Minded." There are now on the waiting list seeking admission more than 125 applicants, some of whom have been waiting for several years. Statistics show that there are about 2,000 eligibles in this State, with present accommodations for not to exceed 560, the number of patients therein at this time. It is with great pleasure that your committee reports that the appropriations for internal repairs and the installation of a heating system have been expended judiciously, thereby securing the greatest degree of comfort for the inmates and convenience for the employes and attendants with the amount at their command.

We were informed that the institution has not sufficient sleeping accommodations for its employes, some of whom are compelled to sleep from one half to three quarters of a mile away from the institution in cabins, in tank houses, and in the railroad depots; that the resident physician resides from one half to three quarters of a mile away from the institution in an old building originally built for the accommodation of dairymen before the State secured the land; that there is no telephone communication between his quarters and the institution; that the present water supply is inadequate either for domestic purposes or for protection against fire.

Your committee was pleased to note that the appropriation voted by the last Legislature for the protection and security of the inmates of this institution in case of fire, has been expended in the purchase and erection of three Kirker-Bender fire escapes by means of which the most helpless inmates may be safely removed without needless pain or injury; and we recommend that the same style of fire escapes be attached to all of the State Hospitals not now having the same.

We desire also to call attention to the fact that at said institution the dairy is in a deplorable condition. There are a large number of cows giving a very limited supply of milk, in fact so small a quantity that it is insufficient to meet the needs of the institution. We recommend that the cows now at said dairy be disposed of and that the proceeds be devoted toward the purchase of a smaller number of cows of better quality whereby sufficient milk may be produced at said dairy for the needs of said institution.

In our opinion the appropriation of $20,000 asked for in Assembly Bill No. 306 in behalf of this institution can, without serious results to the institution, be reduced to $6,000, and we so recommend.

We find but one dining-room at this institution for the accommodation of the male and female inmates; that it takes three hours to serve one meal, for the reason that the boys and girls must have their meals separately, the boys eating first; when they have finished the tables must be cleared, dishes washed and the tables re-set before the girls can eat. The bill before the Assembly providing for the completion of the main building contemplates another dining-room, besides relieving the congestion in a number of other departments.

MENDOCINO STATE HOSPITAL.

We visited the Mendocino State Hospital Monday, the 23d day of January, 1905. We found the wards, the kitchen, pantries, dining-room, and everything in good condition. The dormitories were neat and clean and in first-class condition, well lighted and well ventilated. The ward for tuberculous patients is isolated from the main building, and consists of tents with floors in them, and they are well equipped with bedding, and the sanitary condition was all that could be asked for, and the patients in that ward seemed to be improving. We heartily recommend the continuation and adoption of this mode of handling tuberculous patients at the other State hospitals and reformatory institutions as well.

At this institution we find the natural facilities to be unsurpassed. The situation of the hospital is ideal for such an institution and the construction of the buildings is such that the patients may enjoy ample light and sunshine.

The facilities for cooking the food of the patients and officers in this institution are better than any we have examined. The kitchen is supplied with a large, modern steel range and with such other utensils as are necessary. Everything in and about the kitchen, including the refrigerator and butcher shop, is exceptionally well kept and in first-class condition, and we commend the head of that department for the excellent condition thereof.

At this institution we also had the pleasure of witnessing a fire drill. Within fifty seconds after the alarm of fire was sounded two streams of 100 feet of hose each were directed toward the building. This we consider to be a remarkably good showing when it is considered the alarm was given absolutely without notice of any kind to the attendants.

We believe that artesian water can be developed on the premises of this institution, and we are satisfied that the sum asked for by Assembly Bill No. 474 is necessary for that purpose, and that said institution is in need of water for irrigating purposes, which can be had more economically by development of artesian wells than by any other method.

We believe also that the sum of $7,500, asked for by Assembly Bill No. 378, should be appropriated for fencing the present water right of said institution, which consists of a creek flowing from the east through the grounds of the hospital. If left unfenced, stock will pollute the waters of said creek. Such portion of said sum as is not employed in such fencing should be used in improving the grounds of the hospital.

No sum whatever has ever been appropriated for that purpose, and we believe that it is necessary for the proper treatment of the inmates that the grounds and surroundings be made as attractive as possible.

Respectfully submitted.

REPORT AND RESOLUTION BY SPECIAL INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE.

The special committee appointed to investigate charges of misconduct on the part of Hon. E. S. Torrance, Judge of the Superior Court of San Diego County, submitted the following report:

To the Honorable Frank C. Prescott, Speaker of the Assembly of the State of California, Thirty-sixth Session:

We, your special committee, appointed to investigate the charges of misconduct on the part of Judge E. S. Torrance, the Judge of the Superior Court of the County of San Diego, beg leave to report as follows:

We have considered said charges, and we are of the opinion that to fully and fairly investigate said matter and the facts in relation thereto it will be necessary for said committee to go to the cities of San Diego, San Bernardino, Los Angeles, and to other points in the southern part of the State for the purpose of taking testimony in relation to said charges: The adoption of the accompanying resolutions is respectfully suggested.

That it will also be necessary for said committee to have at their disposal a sergeant-at-arms and a shorthand reporter.

That it will be necessary for said committee to have a sum of money at their disposal, with which to pay witnesses, who may demand witness fees, and with which to pay incidental expenses incurred by said committee. Your committee is of the opinion that the sum of $250 should be allowed for said purposes.

Said committee therefore asks for a leave of absence for the purpose herein stated, and that they be granted the sum of $250 with which to pay incidental expenses of said committee.

WEYAND, Chairman.

The petition was ordered placed on file.

Petitions were presented by the Speaker from various parlors of the Native Daughters of the Golden West, requesting appropriations to be made by the State of California for statues to be placed in the National Statuary Hall at Washington, D. C., which were ordered placed on file.

Mr. Cromwell presented the following petition relative to measures pending before the Legislature:

HON. F. A. CROMWELL, Assemblyman Thirteenth District:

We, the merchants of Petaluma, beg leave to call your attention to the following bills and ask your support of the same, as, in our opinion, they will be of benefit to the merchants of this State.

Senate Bill No. 344, introduced by Senator Keane, is in opposition to premium and trading stamp schemes. The profits of the merchants are close, and, if in addition, they are compelled by competition to issue trading-stamps or prizes, either one of two undesirable things will happen—the merchant will fail or the prices of necessities will be raised to the consumer.

Senate Bills Nos. 63, 71, 75, and 78, introduced by Senator Muentner: One of them extends the statute of limitation of account from two to four years—a very desirable extension to the merchant, giving more opportunity to collect old accounts and lessening litigation. We believe that a great many of the Eastern States give from four to six years.

Senate Bill No. 56, introduced by the last-named Senator, makes the separate property of the wife responsible with that of the husband for bills for the necessities of life. In our opinion, this last referred to bill will not affect the honestly disposed, but will protect the merchant against the dishonestly disposed.

We respectfully ask your opposition to Senate Bills Nos. 250 and 276—the first restricting the use of attachments to certain contingencies; the second making attachments possible only in sums of $25 or more. These bills seem to take away from the merchant about his only method of separating the reluctant debtor from his money, and is of no benefit to the honest.

Your assistance, as outlined above, will be greatly appreciated by the undersigned.
